A VAST COUNTRY

Los Angeles district extending a hundred miles north and that or more south and southeast is the great orange and lemon country of California. Here is mild and perpetual summer weather, with a rainfall of ten to fifteen inches annually. All arable lands must be irrigated here. To the southeast in California and east of the mountains in the imperial valley. It is intensely hot during certain parts of the year and the rainfall is but a few inches annually and unless brought in by irrigation will remain a desert.

The higher altitudes have many good ranches and owing to the elevation and means of irrigation, the lands are brought into use for the purpose best adapted for them by nature. Besides from an agricultural point of view there are immense mining industries throughout the state. Also the oil industry is one of great financial value. Reclaiming the desert lands by irrigation in the southwest is an undertaking of much significance to the development of this part of the country.

Respectfully,
J. F. SNOW.

CONVENTION ECHOES

tensity and swelled to violence as one district after another marched into the Kern ranks and united themselves in the forces to support him with unanimous strength at the November election. Barriers collapsed, prejudices evaporated, and with one voice, the great convention, when called on for a unanimous vote, pledged itself for Mr. Kern to the senate and "to fill the Indiana state house from cellar to dome with democrats."

"SOME REMEMBER"

Will be Subject of Rev. I. M. Dawson at the Church of Christ This Evening.

A GOOD SPEAKER

Will Conduct Services at the Christian Church Over Sunday—All Invited.

Rev. J. M. Dawson of Indianapolis spoke at the Christian church in this city last evening. While the audience was somewhat small on this first evening, a larger one will be assured to night, as all who heard him were so pleased and are so enthusiastic over the promise of a still better session this evening, that every effort will be put forth to make tonight's congregation one of the largest in some time. Mr. Dawson is a speaker of much force and power and his sermon for tonight, "Some Remember," promises to be one of unusual merit. Mr. Dawson stated that his sermons for this week would be especially for men, but the women of the city are also cordially invited to attend. He will preach Friday and Saturday evenings and also conduct the regular services Sunday.

Miss Margaret Mills Gives a Class Party—Euterpean's New Officers.

Men are God's trees, and women are God's flowers.—Tennyson's "Becket."

SOCIAL CALENDAR FOR WEEK.

Thursday.
Fortnight—Mrs. Guy Johnson. G. W. C.—Anna Ginley. Euterpean—Mrs. Fred Mills. Evangelical Aid—Parsonage. Friendly Few—Mrs. George Wemhoff.

Saturday.
Shadow Club—Miss Mary Erwin.

One of the jolliest meetings of the season was that of the Fortnight club at the home of Mrs. Guy Johnson yesterday afternoon at her home on West Monroe street, and "pleasure stood on tip-toe" the entire time. Besides needlework, music and a number of contests were in order, among them being the forming of words from the letters in "Fortnight club." Mrs. Fred Blosser formed the greatest number and was given a beautiful plate as a prize. The luncheon served by the hostess was a tempting one. Those present were Mesdames F. M. Addington, Waldo Brushwiler, Fred Blosser, John C. Moran, J. C. Tritch, Dorsey Hoagland, Joe MacFarland and Harve Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gaffer of Ninth street will entertain over Sunday a number of relatives and friends from out of the city, who are coming to witness the communion services at the St. Mary's Catholic church Sunday, in which Miss Frances Gaffer will receive her first communion. Among the guests will be her aunt, Mrs. Duerr of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Byer of Fremont, Neb.; Mrs. Arthur Elliott, of Indianapolis; Mrs. James K. Marks, Letta Wilhelm and Clem Falk, Huntington. A number of friends from this city will also be guests at dinner and supper at the Gaffer home Sunday.

Mrs. George Wemhoff proved herself an ideal hostess yesterday afternoon to the members of the Friendly Few club. The ladies brought their needlework, as usual, and after a session of sewing some played pit and other games, while others played the piano, and a jolly good time reigned. A delicious luncheon was a very acceptable feature of the entertainment. The club will be entertained in two weeks by Mrs. Harvey Teeple.

The surprise planned for Miss Cecil Eady last evening in honor of her sixteenth birthday anniversary was carried out so well that not a hint was given to the young lady until her friends arrived en masse at her home on Tenth street. The anniversary was merrily celebrated and will be remembered with much happiness by that young lady and her friends. Games and music were enjoyed, after which luncheon was served. Miss Cecil was the recipient of many beautiful presents as well as a shower of good wishes.

Besides the study of the poet, William Wordsworth, according to an interesting program arranged by Fanny Hite, the Euterpean club, which met at the home of Mrs. Fred Mills, held its annual election of officers. The following were named: President, Mrs. John W. Tyndall; vice president, Miss Rose Dunathan; secretary and treasurer, Miss Nora Del Smith; corresponding secretary, Miss Marie Patterson. The delegates to the district convention to be held at Winchester next Tuesday are Mrs. John Tyndall and Miss Fanny Hite, while Miss Marie Patterson has been given a place on the program for a vocal solo.

The girls of the Foxy Five club—Leah and Veda Hensley, Vivian Dutcher and Winifred Ellingham—will be entertained this evening by Miss Dorothy Dugan.

Miss Margaret Mills will entertain the sophomores at a class party this evening at her home on Mercer avenue.

Miss Ruth Ernst, who will be a bride of this spring, was given a kitchen shower by the girls of the Entre Nous club Thursday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. M. Hower, the shower being arranged as a surprise. The event was chosen for Thursday evening when it was known that her affianced, Mr. Herbera Lachot, would be present, thus including him in the good time. The girls had met in the city early in the evening and packing in a clothes basket their gifts of everything useful for the kitchen of the new home wended their way to the Hower home, where the gifts were presented to the honored one, who was most completely surprised, and a merry time was spent in watching the packages unwrapped and commented upon. The guests took with them their suppers which were spread picnic fashion, the menu including sandwiches, potato salad, pickles, olives, radishes, potato chips, fruit salad, ice cream and cake. The party included Miss Bess Baumgartner of Linn Grove; Ruby Miller, Electa Glancy, Pearl Purdy, Matilda Sellemeyer, Goldie Gay, Lilah Lachot, Ruth Ernst and Herbert Lachot.

About forty couples from this city chartered several hay racks and enjoyed a ride to the Loshe farm east of the city, where a dance was in progress during the evening. A royally good time is reported.
