The Winchester Herald, Rep., has this to say of the insurgent senator who is reported by the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune as appearing upon the floor of the senate with the flowing bowl:

"The item appeared in the New York paper about a month ago and has been widely copied and commented on throughout the United States. The charge made by the Tribune is a serious reflection upon the public conduct of a United States senator and ought not to be passed without investigation—no matter what party or faction the official may be affiliated with. In this day and age the people of the United States have no use for a public official who will so far forget the dignity of his office and the duty he owes his constituents—saying nothing of the personal side—as to exhibit himself in the nation's capitol in a state of intoxication. That the senator poses as a "paragon of virtue," as the Tribune puts it, when he is outside of Washington, does not strengthen his case to any appreciable extent.

"It is to be hoped that the charge of the Washington correspondent is unfounded, but if grounded upon fact he is entitled to no more protection by silence that John Jones gets when he pleads guilty to intoxication before the mayor or the justice of the peace and pays his little dollar and costs. The "insurgent" correspondents at Washington have been very assiduous in attempting to clarify the moral atmosphere in that vicinity. Here is a chance for them to refute an ugly charge that may prove injurious if permitted to go unchallenged."

At a meeting of the democratic state committee it was decided to establish a press bureau, and in a few weeks the political news of the state will be given through this new means of publication. It is hoped that they will be fair and honest in their treatment of the news of the capital and the state.

Now the republican congressional candidates have met Senator Beveridge and made an effort to modify his campaign plans, and cut down to a minimum his state convention program of insurgency, in which he himself admitted that he had "kicked the stomach off the Payne-Aldrich tariff law." It is becoming more and more painfully evident that Senator Beveridge is working both sides of the political game and that he is working it for political purposes.

Even the sweet-tempered and mild-mannered Fort Wayne News draws the line on fleas—but these happen to be democratic fleas. If there is one kind of fleas that are even more intolerant than another, it is the democratic brand, and then to think that this year they are going to be more numerous and vigilant than ever before, means a bad summer for the News. Cheer up. Taggart, the dog. Not on your tin-type. Taggart is the king bee flea. And while it is only the first of July and a long time until November, yet you had better watch your dog.

It may be an open question this year as to whether the republicans or the insurgents will survive the campaign, but the question as to which faction represents the party will have to be settled before the next campaign or the next administration will represent neither. As the Chicago Inter-Ocean declares, "the insurgents, if they mean what they say, and the historic republicans, if they mean what they say, stand for antagonistic principles of government," and the attempted compromises of 1910 will not hold the voters in line in the national campaign two years from now.—Huntington Morning Times, Rep.

THE PRIZE FIGHT

John Stoneburner Will Get Complete Report of the Big Battle.

MONDAY AFTERNOON

At the Star Airdome—Bout For Points Between Two Local Men.

Who are you, Jeffries or Johnson? It don't make any difference to John B. Stoneburner, the Star theater man. Desiring of pleasing his patrons he has arranged for an official report of the big prize fight which occurs next Monday afternoon, and he will receive same at his airdome at the hour the fight begins. The will open the airdome at 2:40 and in about a half hour the reports will begin to come in. In the meantime while the crowd is gathering he has prepared a program that will interest all who go there. At that time he will put on a sparring exhibition between two well-known local men, six rounds, for points. The contestants will be Will Foreman and James Young, both heavyweights, who will give a good performance. He will also have some music and other events to entertain the crowd in case there should be any delay in the arrival of the messages. Come on, boys.

A number of those who attended the Phi Delta Kappa dance at Bluffton last evening returned home on the morning train.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Porter and children of Parker City are visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Porter.

Mrs. Eliza Cline of Root township, who has been so seriously sick, shows no improvement. Mrs. Cline is a sister of Mrs. Daniel Shackley and Geo. Cline of this city.

Ed Marhenke of near St. John's, who has been a patient at the Lutheran hospital, Fort Wayne, since a week ago last Monday, when he underwent an operation for appendicitis, is recovering nicely. He will be able to come home within a short time.

A very happy birthday supper was that arranged by Mrs. D. W. Meyers

I count this thing to be grandly true,
That a righteous deed is a step toward God.
Lifting the soul from its common clod
To a purer air and a clearer view.
Heaven is not reached by a single bound
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies
And we mount to its summit round by round.

CLUB CALENDAR FOR WEEK.

A Fort Wayne exchange says: "The Archer studio, in the Art school building, was well filled last evening with the friends of the advanced pupils of Mr. John B. Archer, who gave the closing recital of the season, assisted by Miss Agnes Stemen, soprano, and Miss Margaret Spencer, contralto. The program consisted of fourteen numbers and each number was most thoroughly appreciated by the audience. Miss Kettler gave a group of three of MacDowell's charming compositions and surprised even those who knew her at her best by her artistic playing. Miss Kettler is a natural musician and plays with intense feeling, making each note a vivid portion of the picture." Miss Kettler has a class of music pupils in this city, where she is meeting with good success.

A happy event was that given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shoaf, near Peterson, Thursday evening as a farewell for Mrs. Clara Benedict, who leaves Saturday for her home at Oak county, Ohio. The evening was spent in music and outdoor amusements and everyone enjoyed the occasion. A delicious luncheon was served. Those present were Mrs. John Linniger, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shoaf and son, Martin, Mrs. Clara Benedict, Miss Lulu Shoaf, Misses Annie Martin, Stella Egley, Julie Linniger and Messrs. Noah Egley, Charles, George, Frank, Harvey and Dodge Linniger, Louis Egley, Charles and Fred Shoaf, Sam Crist, Edward Miller, Charles Craft, Harry Martin and Frank Shoaf.

Boys are boys and right you are. Boys can do great things, as evidenced Thursday night at the home of Miss Susie Mayer on North Second street, teacher of a class of boys in the Sunday school of the German Reformed church, when she entertained her boys. They had a surprise in store for the superintendent of the Sunday school. He was invited to meet with them and have lunch and refreshments, when he was presented with a purse of no small amount, raised by the boys, by hard labor and all in the last six weeks for the building fund of their church, for which every member is working so hard at this time. To say the least, it was an agreeable surprise, and worthy of imitation—a noble thought.

The management of Maple Grove park was quite disappointed last Sunday in not getting the moving picture shows to operate on account of the voltage being too strong. A strong endeavor has been made to get it into working order by Sunday evening of this week, and it is hoped that everything will come off all right. The association has been at great expense in fitting up the airdome and everything will be done to carry out the rest of the program.

as a surprise for her daughter, Florence, guests being members of the V. W. A. club. After supper there was music, a visit to the picture shows, with cool and delightful refreshments at the Sunshine ice cream parlor. The club includes the Misses Reba Quinn, Neva Brandyberry, Winifred Sowers, Lillian Rice and Florence Meyers.

Twenty-four ladies were in attendance at the Helping Hand social at the home of Mrs. George Henneford on First street Thursday afternoon. Needlework for the society busied the ladies after which social time, with the serving of a two-course lunch was enjoyed. Mesdames Lyman of Indianapolis were out of town guests. Mrs. Fred Heuer will be hostess in two weeks.

A profitable session at the home of Mrs. S. E. Samp was enjoyed Thursday by the Baptist Ladies' Aid. The devotional was conducted by the president, Mrs. John Everett, and after the business period came a social season, during which refreshments were served. Mrs. John Daugherty of Third street will be hostess in two weeks.

The Misses Ruth and Frances Miller are at Bluffton, where they are guests at a house party given by Miss Smalley. They attended the Phi Delta Kappa dance last evening and were (Continue on page 4.)

AT THE CRYSTAL

Official Story of the Coming Prize Fight Will be Received.

GIVES EVERY BLOW

Six Rounds Between Red Stevens and Happy Smith Will be Given.

The Crystal Airdome will no doubt be well filled next Monday afternoon, when the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be reported blow by blow, round by round, just as it happens. Prior to the arrival of the returns a six to ten round sparring exhibition has been arranged for between Red Stevens and Happy Smith, two of the most scientific young boxers of Decatur. This will no doubt prove a splendid amusement for the fight fans as it will be good and strictly on the square. Other attractions will be provided if there is any delay in the arrival of the messages, and if you want to hear the returns of the battle as fast as it happens come to the Crystal. The admission is only twenty-five cents. The gates will open at 2:45 and the program will begin immediately. Go there and get a good place for the Johnson-Jeffries scrap may last two or three hours.

MRS. TRITCH IMPROVED.

Word from Bloomington this morning is to the effect that Mrs. J. C. Tritch is somewhat improved today, which is quite encouraging to her friends here. She was operated upon Tuesday for peritonitis, and according to a message received late yesterday afternoon, her condition at that time was alarming.
