THE

GOVERNOR'S SPEECH

Governor Marshall has sounded the keynote speech. To a crowd which taxed the capacity of the largest hall in Indiana, the governor Monday night spoke at Indianapolis and was cheered by thousands. Every sentence of his remarkable speech was a thoughtful one, the truth of which cannot be questioned. Eagerly the crowd waited for his views on the questions of so much moment this year, when the people are seeking some way to escape from the burdens imposed during twenty years of republican national rule. The pledges of the republican party of two years ago are broken—yes, worse—they have been flung back into the voters' teeth with no effort to correct the tariff evils, the extravagance of government, the reckless expenditure of money. Governor Marshall did not disappoint his hearers. He arraigned the republican party as the creator of the protection system which has germinated the powers of pillage. He stood squarely upon the democratic platform regarding the liquor laws. He believes in local self-government, and his logic along that line is so sound that every voter in Indiana should read and study it—and then vote the democratic ticket. Touching upon the tariff question the governor hit the nail squarely on the head when he said that the tariff commission talk is a sorry admission of the incompetency of a great party to handle public questions. He discussed the tariff at some length and did it in a plain, sensible and logical manner.

It was a great speech, from the mouth of a great man, and should arouse every democrat in Indiana to work, should inspire every voter who read or heard it to take part in the great and assured victory on November 8th.

One of the big meetings of the campaign will be the Kern meeting in this city Saturday evening. The democratic nominee for United States senator is an able orator, a scholarly gentleman, who will discuss the issues in a fair manner. Come and hear him.

John W. Kern, democratic nominee for United States senator, will address the people of Adams county in this city next Saturday evening. He should be welcomed by a crowd that proves the loyalty of the citizens of this section to the people's cause—democracy. We have never faltered and now with the greatest victory in a quarter of a century in sight, we should "get up and dig."
