Experience Is The Best Teacher !!

It is contrary to the rules of logic or sound reasoning for a person to say that a Specialist does not treat with better success men's diseases than the general practitioner or family physician.

While it is true there is a divided opinion among physicians as to the property of a doctor making public announcement of his specialties, yet no man or doctor can deny that experience is of the greatest importance in the successful treatment of Nervo-Vital Weakness, Nervous Debility, Vital Losses or Drains, Neuralgias, Meianochia and Associate Pelvic Diseases, such as Varicocele, Blood Poison, Urinary Diseases and their complications.

No sane man who is the possessor of a fine watch would take it to a blacksmith for repairs, neither will a man of good judgment experiment with his disease.
