Entered at the postoffice at Decatur, Indiana, as second-class mail matter.

Dayton Abbott is now chief of police of Fort Wayne. His first order was one directing him to clean up the "flats." If he is big enough for that job, he ought to do.

A regulation bill has managed to crawl half way through the legislature, at least. It provides for one saloon for the first five hundred and one for each additional thousand people of cities and townships, the license fee being $700, and subject of course to the Proctor option bill which provides for voting on the question. However, the bill still has a stormy path, for it must pass the house, and when it comes out it may be so covered with patches that its author won't recognize it.

Senator S. Hunt of Winchester has taken up the fight against the divorce evil in Indiana. He proposes a law that will invalidate a decree given by another state based upon causes arising in Indiana, but will uphold a divorce granted in another state upon causes that occurred in that state. The law will prevent a man or woman from going to Reno, Nevada, or another state where the laws are lax and obtaining a divorce which could not have been obtained here, and then returning to marry another "life partner." There is no reason why one state should be allowed practically to annul the divorce laws of another state. There should be some provision for divorce trials as in criminal cases or we should have uniform divorce laws.—Columbia City Post.

Why should we consent even to the semblance of lack of courage in our pagan trappings of woe at every death? We may well grieve that we are left behind; that a comrade whose face and voice and interpretation of life make half our joy should pass beyond our grasp. But if we believe that death is going to justify itself as life has justified itself, there is no right or reason in emphasizing grief. We were made to go onward. There is no permanent stopping in the great purocessional pageant passings from one eternity to another. And when we are forced to wave "farewell" to one who goes beyond our sight, let it be courageously and with a solemn gladness. "There is nothing to be commiserated," writes the good gray poet to one about to die. "I do not commiserate—I congratulate you."

—Harper's Bazaar.

When the statute books contain so many laws that they conflict with each other, it looks like it is time to cast them all aside and start over. In 1905 the legislature passed a law making it a misdemeanor for parties denied a license in any county in Indiana because of certain afflictions, such as unsoundness of mind, epilepsy, etc., to go to another state to marry with a purpose of returning to Indiana to live. Some months ago a couple from this city were refused a marriage license, and went to Michigan and were wedded. The grand jury indicted them. The attorneys for the defense promptly filed a motion to quash the grounds that a person of unsound mind, as was charged in this case, could not be prosecuted criminally for his acts, this being a statutory defense. The court sustained the motion. Now the supreme court will be asked to state whether or not the one law hasn't got in the road of the other.

The members of the Orient club devoted themselves to their embroidery and chatted happily as they plied their needles at the home of Mrs. W. R. Dorwin Thursday afternoon, a luncheon, temptingly served in two courses, coming at an interval in the sewing. Guests other than club members were Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mrs. Fred Vaughn, and the club members present were Mesdames C. M. Hower, Charles Murray, Isadore Kalver, Harry Helm, Lawrence Smith, John Stewart, and Herbert Lachot. Mrs. I. Kalver will be hostess to the club next Thursday afternoon.

The girls of the Needcraft club spent one of their most delightful evenings with Miss Etta Mallonee Thursday evening. While some sewed and chatted, others furnished piano music. An interesting contest, in which names of flowers were formed from transposed letters was enjoyed and later, a very appetizing luncheon was served. Miss Helen Sheets was a guest besides the regular members present. Jessie Magley will entertain the club next week.

I will receive bids up to February 16th on carpenter work for building my barn on farm two and one-half miles southeast of Decatur. This farm for rent also. Write to W. S. Hughes, 806 Columbia avenue, Fort Wayne, Ind., or see L. C. Hughes, Decatur, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilen Alexander entertained at their home, six miles southeast of the city Tuesday in honor of Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Roop of Willshire, Ohio. Other guests were Mrs. Joel Johnson and granddaughter, Ilo, Mrs. Simeon Traster, Mrs. Lafayette Gaunt, Mrs. J. W. Cowan and daughter, Pearl, of Garrett, Ind., and Mrs. Oscar Moser and daughters, Opal and Ruth, of Pleasant Mills. At the noon hour a sumptuous dinner was served, consisting of all the dainties of the season. Ice cream was an additional refreshment, which was greatly enjoyed. The guests departed at a late hour, voting Mr. and Mrs. Alexander royal entertainers.

The ladies of the Salem Ladies' Aid society spent Thursday with Mrs. Troy Cramer at her home on Decatur street, where the time was profitably spent in making comforts, while they chatted socially, laying aside the work at noon to partake of the good dinner prepared by the hostess. Mrs. John Helm, east of the city, will be hostess at the next meeting in two weeks. Those present Thursday were Mesdames D. A. Helm and daughter, Naomi; William Alfather, O. C. Walters, Samuel Workinger, J. P. Spuller, George Cramer, Forest Light and son, Walter; Fred Linn, E. B. Kern and Samuel Snitz.

A very pleasant afternoon and evening were spent at the home of Henry Brockmeyer of Bingen. Six o'clock dinner was served and the evening was spent with music and other social pleasures. The guests were H. Brockmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reiter, Mr. and Mrs. William Gallmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hitzeman, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wessling, Mr. and Mrs. John Hey, Miss Flora Gallmeier, Miss Lena Wessling, Miss Beatrice Hey, Emma Wessling, Alvina Gallmeier, Herbert Wessling, Georgia Hey, Theodore Reiter, Paul Gallmeier, Margaret Wessling, Esther Reiter, Dorothy Wessling and Clara Reiter.

Miss Lydia Miller was a royal hostess at the O. N. O. club Thursday evening, the party including the Misses Ode and Letta Fullenkamp, Amelia Weber, Louise Brake, Alice Knapp, Hazel Smith and Messrs. Charles Lose, Fred Schuriger, Fred Fullenkamp, Tony Hackman, Theodore Gralik, Leo Weber and Edwin Fledderjohann. Progressive peanuts passed a delightful time, first prizes being won by Ode Fullenkamp and Tony Hackman, and the boobies by Alice Knapp and Charles Lose. Music and a luncheon were also items of entertainment.

Twenty-five ladies enjoyed the hospitality of the John Everett home yesterday afternoon when the Baptist Ladies held their fortnightly meeting. After the devotional and business part, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Ina Everett and Mrs. T. W. Watts. The session was a most successful one, and another equally so is being anticipated in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Hovey Harper in the south part of the city.

The name of Miss Ruth Patterson was omitted by oversight in the account of Miss Grace Coffelt's party yesterday.

One of the Valentine parties listed for next week is that to be given by Mrs. D. M. Hensley Tuesday aft-

OBSTINATE ITCHING PILES CURED

I suffered untold agony for several years with itching piles. I was told by the best doctors of our town that I would have to have an operation to get rid of them, but thanks to the B. Ointment, one and one-half boxes, cured me and now I keep it in my house all the time.

ROBBER CATARRH

Steals Energy and Will Power From Its Victims

Catarrh robs its victim of energy—some physicians say of will power. That may be the reason why thousands of catarrh sufferers haven't ambition enough to accept this fair and square offer by the Holthouse Drug Company which they make without any whys and wherefores or red tape of any kind.

Holthouse Drug Company says, they guarantee HYOMEI to cure catarrh, acute, or chronic, or your money back, and that offer is open to every reader of the Democrat.

HYOMEI (pronounced it High-one) is the purest of Australian Eucalyptus combined with Thymol and other germ killing antisepsics.

Pour a few drops into the small vest pocket HYOMEI inhaler and breathe it into the lungs over the inflamed membrane infested with catarrh germs.

It is pleasant to use—it kills the germs, soothes the sore membrane, and cures catarrh; if it doesn't your money back.

A bottle of HYOMEI costs 50 cents at Holthouse Drug company and druggists everywhere. A complete outfit, which includes a bottle of HYOMEI, a hard rubber inhaler and simple instructions for use costs $1.00.

A GRAIN AND POULTRY SHOW.

The committee on the Hoagland Farmers' Institute work has decided to hold a poultry, corn, wheat, oats and fance work show on the dates of February 21 and 22, 1911. Entries will be free, no charge being made. If any one wishes to enter any of the above named articles, write to Ed F. Koenemann, secretary, at once, for further information. All exhibitors must have their articles here by February 20th. Poultry exhibitors must have their feed. Everything that will be on exhibition will be scored by judges, so send in your application at one, either by mail or by phone. 346
