After being in business for some fifteen years, the Geneva Herald editor has suddenly discovered that the Decatur Democrat is the official county paper and in a column article in this week's issue so accuses us. Now why all this fuss and fuming. We admit it, yea, more, we are proud of it. It is the custom the world over to award the publishing of such notices as are published in but one paper, to that paper recognized as the party paper. There has been nothing irregular about the practice here. It is followed by men in office, no difference to what party they belong, and will be just so long as the man in office appreciates the work done for him and his party. Upon that paper also rests some responsibilities well known to every one. It is not all gravy by any means, and while Brother Ray is complaining of his agreement not to receive any money unless the roads were completed, we might say for his enlightenment that this, too, is the general rule, that a large number of the roads were never built, and the allowance of last month was earned years ago. It is not very difficult to observe the handwriting back of the Herald article.

King George V is now the ruler of England in name as well as in fact. Though he has had all the powers for a year, the red tape of yesterday was necessary to comply with the rules set down in the British empire, greatest of all the world. It was a glorious event, but we prefer the rather modest inaugurations as they are performed in Washington.

The revision of the wool schedule is up to the senate, and the action of that body will be watched from Maine to California. From present appearances the members of the two houses of congress will not have much use for their summer cottages, and Washington is an awful hot town during July and August.

In the Heavens above,
The angels whispering to one another,
Can find among their burning terms of love None so devotional as that of Mother.

—Edgar Allan Poe.

Amid familiar home scenes, surrounded by loving friends and neighbors, in the June atmosphere, throbbing with hope and life and love, with the silent benedictions of loving parents, the marriage of Miss Erma Dickes to Samuel LaRhette of Boston was solemnized at the Dickes home Wednesday evening. The spacious Dickes home was crowded with guests from the city and out of town.

The extremes of the continent were represented in the bridegroom from Boston and relatives of the bride from Seattle, Wash. Miss Dickes is one of the city's most popular young ladies, and prominent in social affairs. She was a student at a Boston conservatory of music, and it was during her attendance at this school she first met her husband, Samuel LaRhette, who is connected with a Boston importing house.

The Dickes home was beautiful for the occasion, elaborately decorated with festoons of smilax, vases of white roses and potted palms, the general color scheme being yellow and white. At promptly 7:30 o'clock as Miss Louise Miller of Eaton played softly Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal party descended the stairway and took their places at an improvised altar of palms and roses arranged at the east end of the living room, where the ceremony was performed. Rev. S. A. Stewart of Rochester, who read the marriage ceremony, lead the party, followed by the bridegroom, Samuel LaRhette, with Kenneth Dickes, who acted as best man. Miss Hazel Dickes, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and little Miss Catherine Louise Bishop of Seattle, Wash., as flower girl, preceded the bride, who was accompanied by her father, Dr. J. T. Dickes. The full ring ceremony of the Presbyterian church was used, the father of the bride giving her away. The bride was dressed in white satin, wearing a veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bride's bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bridegroom wore the full dress conventional black. Miss Hazel Dickes wore a gown of yellow satin and carried yellow rose buds. Master Kline Dickes received the guests at the door while Robert Moorman and Whitney

Smith officiated as ushers. A delicious two-course luncheon was served the one hundred and forty guests by Mrs. Hetty Studebaker, caterer, of Greenville, Ohio, assisted by Misses

Thelma Walker, Mabel Adair, Mary

Jones, Marcella Schwartz and Gladys

Jefferson. A large number of handsome and costly gifts were received by the young couple, including cut glass, china, linen, silver, brass and copper articles. Mr. and Mrs. La-Rhette left on the midnight train for Fort Wayne, from which place they will go to Clinton to spend a week with friends. At the end of that time they will return to this city, Mr. La-Rhette going on to Boston, while his wife will remain for a longer time in the city.—Portland Review. The Misses Nora Del and Fay Smith of this city attended the wedding. Miss Dickes and Miss Faye Smith were in Boston at the same time, Miss Dickes at the conservatory of music, and Miss Smith a student in the Emerson college of expression.

Fuhrman, and singing and instrumental music by Chris Buuck of Hoagland and Ed Bultemeier and others added to the pleasure of all, as did a two-course luncheon provided. The party included Mrs. Lizette Bultemeier and daughter, Clara; Mr. and Mrs. Will Zwick, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koenemann of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zwick, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Gallmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oetting, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bultemeier, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bultemeier, Paul and Freda Scheuman, Freda Witte of St. John's, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nahrwald, Mr. and Mrs. Will Horstmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koenemann of Fort Wayne.

Miss Ida C. Ehinger of New Haven and Mr. Mathias F. Kramer of this city were married in the Catholic church at New Haven this morning at 9 o'clock. This evening the bride and groom will leave for Washington and other eastern points and on their return home will live in this city in their own home in South Lafayette street. Mr. Kramer is employed in the boiler shop of the Pennsylvania.—Fort Wayne Sentinel. Miss Ehinger is a cousin of the Ehinger and Smith families of this city.

Miss Irene Lauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lauer, of Maumee avenue, and Mr. Robert J. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, were married at St. Mary's church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Gustav Hottenroth celebrated the nuptial mass in the presence of many friends of the bridal couple. It was a very pretty wedding, the sanctuary being decorated with palms and the altar with white roses and white lilies. Miss Ludmilla Lauer, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and a nephew of the groom, Mr. Harry Kinder, was groomsman. The bride made a sweet appearance in her wedding costume. Her gown was a white satin messaline, made with a train and trimmed handsomely with pearl ornaments. The bride wore a veil fastened to her hair with blossoms of swansonia and she held a white prayerbook. Miss Ludmilla Lauer was gowned in a pale yellow satin messaline with drop trimmings of Irish lace. The bridesmaid wore a white hat trimmed with willow plumes and held a beautiful bouquet of bride roses and delicate ferns. After the church service the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents where they received warm congratulations from the many relatives gathered there. As the bridal party left the church door they found their way barred with white ribbons held by devoted friends and before they could make their way the bride and groom had been showered with confetti. At the breakfast the dining room was decorated with a white wedding bell, ribbons and white fragrant flowers with popular among his associates and a cake as the central object for admiration. Ushers at the church were parish. The bride is of sweet character. Messrs. Carl Burlage and Willis Kiep, actor and her accomplishments in the evening the bride and groom made those of practical value in received many of their friends information of home making. Miss Anna Meiners of Chicage for a few days and on their wedding.—Fort Wayne Sentinel. Miss Lauer enjoys a large acquaintance of friends here, having visited in the city on different occasions, and is related to the Dr. H. F. Costello and Catherine Brake families.
