An organization completing the necessary details for the securing of a modern fire apparatus in Decatur will be made within a few days. The plans have all been worked out and now comes the time for really doing something toward securing the funds. The boys behind this movement will see that it does not fall down.

Governor Marshall will deliver an address at the cornerstone laying of the new Auburn court house on Thursday of this week. Other splendid speakers have been secured and the occasion promises to be "a live one." The governor will proceed from there to Potoskey for a month's vacation from the arduous duties of his office.

When the democrats took control of state affairs—January—they found the treasury in a bankrupt condition. Republicans are now nowling about the bankrupt condition of the state and are charging it to a democratic administration less than seven months old. It requires some nerve for them to make these charges, but they have the nerve all right. It requires some time for an administration to get rid of the obligations of its predecessor and that is what the democrats in the state house are attempting to do. Republican papers would have their readers believe that the democrats have been in control ever since Governor Marshall took office in 1909, but for two years thereafter the state house was filled with republicans, and they only gave way to democrats a little more than six months ago. When Hanly left office he was calling on county treasurers all over the state to make advance contributions to the state fund to enable him to meet current expenses and the democrats have had no opportunity to remedy this state of affairs since.—Columbia City Post.

D. Clark on North Third street. The patient had been in falling health for some time and the necessity of an operation was needed at once, and which was the last resort for the restoration of health. The ordeal was withstood quite well by Mr. Scherry, but nothing definite can be given out from the present standpoint.

SLEEPING LADY TONIGHT.

The lady will be put under the hypnotic trance for twenty-four hours at the Star airdome tonight, closely following the first show, from where she will be carried to the Teeple, Brandyberry & Peterson show window, where she will lay until Thursday night at the same hour. Zeline was second and the two Frenchmen outdistanced all their competitors and traveled faster at times than a mile a minute. The race was made in mist, rains, thunder storms and the time made by Deaunott for the 1010 miles was twenty-two hours and twenty-eight minutes.

LARGE CROWDS GREET SPEAKER.

Another large audience, greatly exceeding that of Monday evening, greeted the evangelist, A. W. Miller, at the Baptist tent services Tuesday evening. His sermon was characteristically good, and the song service was a very pleasing and profitable part of the evening. The song service begins before the regular opening hour, at 8 o'clock. The opening of the tent, a little after 7 o'clock, usually finds a large audience present, waiting with interest for the opening of the meeting. There will be preaching every evening this week. Everybody is cordially invited.
