A poor porch makes a fine dwelling appear common place. Ordinary wood porch trimmings always look cheap and all wood trimmings are frequently in need of repairing and repainting. But where as wood begins immediately to deteriorate artificial stone grows harder with age and will be in perfect condition when the wood has returned to dust

The farmer today has almost all the conveniences that are enjoyed by his city brothers but very few have found out that they can have flowing water and plumbing fixtures in their homes the same as in the cities at almost the same expense. All work so placed that there is no more danger of freezing than if placed in a city residence. Call and let us explain to you the Pneumatic water supply System for country Residences.
