Tomorrow is the last day for paying assessments as candidates. If you are contemplating getting in the race for any of the public offices, better act quickly.

The democratic state committee will hold the first meeting of the season at Indianapolis tomorrow, at which time they will fix the dates for district conventions. Many democrats from over the state will be there and all the big fellows will circulate. It is believed that a resolution endorsing Governor Marshall as a candidate for president will be passed.

Congressman Rauch and the democratic members of the house from Indiana and other states are standing on the same platform as Congressman Adair of Portland, in the matter of pension legislation. The latter is visiting the various G. A. R. posts in his district and telling the members where he stands. In a recent address at Anderson, Mr. Adair said that the reason for not urging pension legislation during the extra session was that there was no appropriation until the next regular session, within reach for that purpose. He stated in addition that he believed the Sherwood pension bill would likely meet the greatest favor at the hands of the invalid and pension committees at the next congressional session. Mr. Adair explained that the Sherwood bill was the one which gave $30 a month pension to ninety per cent of the civil war veterans, and $25 a month to the remaining ten per cent. The congressman expressed his belief that this measure would pass through the lower house of congress, and announced his intention to strive for the enactment of said measure. Mr. Adair also asserted that the next session would curtail government expenses to such an extent that the new pension measure would not draw heavily upon the revenues of the government.—Peru Chronicle.

The LaDelle family will leave in a short while on another entertainment tour, going either to Dakota or Minnesota, the exact tour being not yet known.

Get ready to buy your Christmas presents—fine hand-made fancy articles—at the bazaar to be conducted by the Presbyterian ladies in the Morrison building opposite the Hensley store.

One may laugh as much as he pleases at what is found in a small boy's pocket. A lady's purse may contain just as equally amusing and startling collection of things. This is what was found in a "two-by-four" purse that was found: Fifteen cents, 1 stick of gum, a pill box containing face powder, a locket and chain, 2 handkerchiefs, a mirror, a doll press pattern, a Sunday school paper, 1 church contribution envelope, 1 small silver purse with chain, some note paper, 1 fancy fringed and ribbon trimmed chambray skin "face dab."

Howard Wisehaupt, who for a number of months has been in the employ of the Savage Publishing company, located at Washington, D. C., as solicitor, returned home Saturday evening, being called on account of the illness of his mother, who has been in failing health for several years. Mr. Wisehaupt liked his work very much and met with excellent success while in the employ of this company, known all over the world. He has been working in a number of the large cities and his present headquarters are at Salisbury, Maryland.

The unusual life of the newspaper man has been divertingly set for by numerous writers, but the experiences of the newspaperwoman, the writer of "sob stories," and "human interest views," has seldom been told so well as by Miss Edna Ferber, herself a reporter of wide experience, who has made it the background for her new novel, "Dawn O'Hara." Miss Ferber makes Dawn, her journalistic heroine, say regarding her own craft: "If a woman reporter were to burst into tears every time she saw something to weep over, she'd be going about with a red nose and puffy eyelids half the time. Scarcely a day passes that does not bring her face to face with human suffering in some form. Not only must she see these things, but she must write of them so that those who read can also see them. And just because she does not wail and tear her hair and faint she popularly is supposed to be a flinty, cigarette-smoking creature who rampages up and down the land, seeking whom she may rend with her pen and gazing dry-eyed upon scenes of horrid bloodshed."

The Shakespeare club will have no meeting this week, on account of Thanksgiving, the next meeting to be held December 6th, when Mrs. Smith will be hostess.

The Clyde Rice home in the north part of the city was the scene of much happiness Sunday, when they entertained in honor of his aunt, Mrs. Jonas Cline, it being the sixtieth anniversary of her birth. The day was spent in a pleasant social way and at noon a big spread was served those invited. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Cline, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Rice and son, Robert.

Miss Bess Jeffrey, who is learning to be a trained nurse at the Lutheran hospital, Fort Wayne, spent Sunday evening in the city as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Jeffrey. During the evening, the members of the Floribul de Purin club called on her. Miss Jeffrey returned to Fort Wayne on the 10 o'clock car.

Miss Lucile Locke entertained in honor of Miss Helen Good of Huntington and Miss Kittle Calver of Cincinnati, last evening. The hours were spent socially and present were the Misses Edna Gouynes, Justine Cook, Florentine Workman, Helen Swain, overdine, and Miss Winifred. The party was a very enjoyable one.

The Presbyterian Missionary society will meet on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. H. Lee as hostess. Good attendance is asked.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Peoples and Miss Clara Bultemeier were Sunday evening supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Bucher, north of the city.

The Historical club will be entertained Tuesday evening with Mrs. Mary Eley as hostess. Miss Nellie Blackburn will have the paper.

Miss Jean Lutz and Mrs. W. H. Gleiser are giving a party this afternoon at the Lutz home, in farewell to Miss Lucile Hale, whose marriage to Mr. Edward William Wilson of Nappanee will take place Thursday noon of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller of North Sixth street will have as their guests tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Ray Swanne of Kaukauna and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Beckner of Toecin.

Owing to the forty hours' devotion which is being held this week at the St. Mary's church, Thanksgiving following on Thursday, and for other reasons the meeting of the St. Vincent de Paul society will not be held, it being postponed until Wednesday of next week, when it will be held at the K. of C. hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker of South Tenth street royally entertained for Mrs. Forest Andrews and children, who will leave Monday for their future home near Leslie, Mich. Delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake, candy and apples, were served. Present were Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Rainier, Mrs. Forest Andrews and children, Vera, Lela, Veda and Charles, and Mrs. Agnes Andrews and daughters, Cecil and Celia. All departed at a late hour, voting Mr. and Mrs. Baker fine entertainers.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Kalver entertained Sunday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Fred LaDelle and daughters, John Wemhoff and Barney Kalver of Bluffton. Music by John Wemhoff was a pleasing diversion.

Many Thanksgiving family reunions are being planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Yocum and William Drummond had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Drummond, William Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Suman of Pleasant Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Leonard very royally entertained a company of friends yesterday at their home north of the city. Those present, who report an unusually good time, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook and daughter, Dorothy; Mrs. Minnie Lewton and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Butler, George Dutcher, William Hunt.

On account of the fact that all the guests could not be present on Thanksgiving day, the J. L. Edge Thanksgiving dinner was held Sunday. There was a big turkey, with everything else good that goes with
