Indiana men took an important part in the big convention at Baltimore and every man who was given the chance made good as they always do.

The conventions are over, we are all beginning to settle back into a natural state. Let's start in on the home-coming week in a manner and with a spirit that will make it the grand success it should be.

"Win with Wilson" was the slogan of the hundreds and thousands who backed him so courageously in the recent convention and it will be the slogan that will carry Wilson and Marshall and the democratic party into a glorious victory at the polls next November.

Woodrow Wilson, educator, statesman, author and governor of New Jersey, is the nominee for the presidency on the democratic ticket. No better choice could have been made. He is one of the big men of the United States, able to handle the job, a sane and conservative radical, and he will be elected by the largest electoral and popular vote ever given any man.

The selection of Thomas Riley Marshall as the nominee for the vice presidency, should bring delight to the heart of every Indiana citizen, be he democrat, republican or independent. He is one of the big men of the nation, with a record that has attracted attention from every part of the country and will more than make good as the presiding officer of the senate. We are for him because we like him, because he has ability, because he is a Hoosier born and genuine, because he is big enough for the job and capable to fill the president's chair, if it should be necessary.

K. OF C. DANCE

Music Furnished by Italian Orchestra—The Busy Bee Club Meets.

WEEK'S SOCIAL CALENDAR.
Saturday.

Jolly Juniors—Mary Fuhrman.

The secret of success in life is for a man to be ready for his opportunity when it comes.

—Disraeli.

Miss Salome Moser and Amos Zimmerman attended to legal business at Decatur, Tuesday, and were married that evening by Rev. Eli Lantz at the pastor's home in French township.—Berne witness.

Thirty couples attended the dance at the K. of C. hall last evening and when music was furnished by the Italian four-piece orchestra, which has been in the city for a day or so and had been engaged by the members for this occasion. Their playing was excellent and the many who attended were royally entertained. The dance started at prompt 9 o'clock, and although the weather was somewhat warm, interest was not lacking in any way.

A large number of the ladies of the Concord Aid society attended the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Evans, northwest of the city. A paper by Mrs. Mary Houk was a number on the program, and among the business matters attended to was the planning for an ice cream and cake social to be given at the Cal Kunkel home in Monmouth Wednesday, July 17th. Refreshments were served during the social period and announcement made that the next meeting would be with Mrs. Sherman Kunkel.

The spacious home of the Ed Luttman family in Root township, with its fine lawn, was the scene of a happy party Thursday evening when they entertained forty of their friends. Music and singing, with a fine fireworks display passed the evening, and cooling refreshments, including ice cream and cake, were served.

The Misses Naomi and Margaret Christen entertained the little Busy Bee club Thursday afternoon at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Christen, in Root township. The members present were the Misses Esta and Florence Fleming, Mary Nye and Dora Marie Maglev, besides the little hostesses and their guests, the Misses Mary Catherine and Jessie May Uhl of Mansfield, Ohio. A program of vocal and piano music, as well as recitations was given, in which all took part. Games were also played and then came delicious refreshments of pink ice cream and cake, served on the table in the dining room by Miss Catherine Christen. Sweet peas were decorations and small American flags for the Fourth were favors.

The Fred LaDelle lawn, corner of Monroe and Fourth streets, was a merry place Thursday evening when the families of M. F. Lewis and Frank Green joined with them in a lawn party. There was vocal music, graphophone music and a fireworks display later.

The Misses Rose Colchin, Leah Apt, Frances Butler, Vera Meyers, Marie Heckman, Celia Kinney, Edith Miller and Vita Stoneburner enjoyed a picnic dinner, with the many pleasures of Robison park, Fort Wayne, Thursday.

Mrs. Jesse Dailey, who entertained the Thimble club Wednesday afternoon, made a delightful porch party of the affair, the broad, cool porch of the Dailey home on Fifth street being especially adapted to this. Vases of garden flowers, with the potted plants, and the pretty porch furniture, made the scene a pretty one, as the ladies chatted while their needles flew busily.

Of note among the social affairs of the Fourth of July season was the party given Wednesday evening by the Misses Bess Tonneller and Celestie Wemhoff, in compliment to Miss Helen Weber of Indianapolis. The national holiday was abundantly suggested in the decorations and in the amusements, and the Tonneller home on North Fifth street, where the party was given, was unusually pretty in its festive array. Gay Japanese lanterns in red and white and blue twinkled a merry welcome from the porches, while the thirty-four guests, who passed within, and were greeted at the doorway by the two hostesses, the Misses Tonneller and Wemhoff, who, with their guest of honor, Miss Weber, stood in the receiving line, found the rooms within also prettily decorated. In the parlor, streamers in the national colors were festooned from chandelier to walls, and over the door in the living room, a large American flag was draped. The archway were draped with the national color streamers, and the chandeliers were hooded with caps of the same colors. Nine tables accommodated the guests for the game of Five Hundred, and when five games were played, the score cards showed the chief prizes awarded to Miss Vera Ehinger and Will Dowling, while the boobies went to Mrs. Fred Schaub and Tony Conter. The tables were later given over to the cooling refreshments, which were quite as appealing to the eye with their pretty national color scheme, as to the palate. The brick ice cream was in red, white and blue, and mounting guard on its summit were two tiny firecrackers. The pink and white cake, the mints and the cherry cider were also prettily remembered in the color scheme. John Wemhoff of Fort Wayne furnished music during the evening and for the dancing which followed the cards. An interesting feature of the evening was the fish bond presided over by Dick Tonneller and Jesse Fansler of Fort Wayne. Each guest in turn "tried his luck," and an unusually good "fisherman's luck" it was, all drawing forth firecrackers, "fizzers," balloons, etc., which contributed to a grand fireworks display, which was given later and which closed the happy evening. Out-of-town guests, besides the guest of honor, were Mrs. Will Lyman and Ray Houser of Indianapolis. Others, which included the Bachelor Maids and their circle of young men friends, were Aldeide Deininger, Mayme Deininger, Sylvia Dippleman, Vera Ehinger, Margaret Conter, Ode Fullenkamp, Letta Fullenkamp, Mrs. Fred Schaub, Emma Terveer, Bertha Kinney, Anna Clark, Margaret Clark, Roca Conter, Stella Bremerkamp; Will Dowling, Lawrence Kleinhenz, Jesse Niblick, Theodore Gralik, Fred Schaub, Bernard Terveer, Frank Bremerkamp, Wal Wemhoff, Von Murray, Lawrence Green, Harry Jeffrey, Ralph Amrine, Clyde Craven, Herbert Ehinger, John Wemhoff, Tony Conter.

Every Effort That's Reduced Lengthens Your Life

Then why not conserve your own and your families' energies as you would your workmen or your horses. Every comfort you add to your summer equipment means so much labor saved and that much pleasure gained. A washing machine will lighten the work of one day nearly seventy-five per cent for your wife and when the cost is considered the amount really saved is enormous.

If your home is equipped with a washing machine, a gasoline or oil stove, lawn mower, or maybe a hot plate, your wife's labor will be lightened appreciably and you bet she will appreciate it. For yourself you will you'll want a lawn mower and a string of hose. We have the competition brands which sell at prices anyone can afford but we advise that you buy the brands we guarantee at a figure a little bit more and get an article that's absolutely right

For the summer kitchen an ideal equipment would be a gasoline stove or oil stove, a few aluminum preserving kettles, other necessary utensils, an addition to which will always be welcome and a set of screens covered with Pearl wire. This pearl wire is something new. It is made from a composition metal which will not rust. The screens will last many years. Of course it costs more, but isn't it worth it? Drop into the store and see the many labor saving appliances at money saving prices and then make a small present to your wife
