THE BUSINESS MEN OF BERNE

Calling Attention To The Men Who Do Things In That Lively Little City

Berne Milling Company.

We take pardonable pride in calling the public's attention to the large and well equipped roller flouring mill plant of Berne, so ably managed by Mr. Wesley Neuenchwander, who is fully conversant with every detail of the important milling business in all its phases. The superior snow-flaked product emanating therefrom, including the famous "Jewell" brand of flour are conceded by both the baker and housewife to have no superior on the market. They also deal in all kinds of grain, chop, coal and feed-stuffs in general and they attend promptly to local gristing and grinding for the farmer with whom they also do a large exchange business.

Sprunger, Letman & Co.

This firm carries a full line of dry and fancy goods, hosiery, novelties and notions, cloaks, wraps, jackets and suit goods, blankets, woolens, flannels, gingham, percales, calicoes, embroideries and ladies' and gents' furnishing goods and choice staple and fancy groceries, queensware, glassware, etc. The clothing department comprises a large and complete line of men's, boys' and youths' fashionable ready-to-wear clothes, nobby hats, fancy ties and hosiery, the famous "Douglas" and celebrated "Sels" Royal Blue Shoes, that make your feet glad, the Lambertville rubber goods, the Munson union suits, and gentlemen's haberdashery in general, and they represent the famous Meyers & Co. tailoring establishment of Chicago.

Menno Burkhalter—Proprietor of the Fair of Berne.

This spacious establishment is well arranged, and the store is very large and diversified, consisting of many useful and elegant array of dry and fancy goods, hosiery, novelties and notions, gents' and ladies' furnishings, men's work clothes, queensware, candies, cutlery, jewelry, odd bits of bric-a-brac, souvenir and post cards, etc., 5, 10, 15, 20, and 25c counter goods, and racket goods in general, all in excellent assortment and great variety, and his prices will defy the most formidable competition. Mr. Burkhalter is a gentleman widely and favorably known for his many sterling qualities and he was favored with the nomination by the republican party for county auditor, and if elected he will no doubt fulfill the trust imposed upon him with honor and distinction to both himself and constituents.

Bierle & Yager—Furniture and Undertaking Establishment of Berne.
A review of this nature would be incomplete if we failed to make a special mention of this elegantly stocked furniture and undertaking establishment of Berne, so ably presided over by Messrs. Bierle & Yager. The stock comprises an elegant line of rich parlor, chamber and dining room sets, patent rockers, easy chairs, davenport, lounges, kitchen cabinets, mirrors, iron and brass bedsteads, mouldings, pictures and picture frames, etc. Also carpet sample, rugs, linoleums, oil cloths, curtains and rich draperies, coffin, caskets and undertaking supplies in general and are agents for the famous Liquid Veneer. They have an elegant funeral car and a finely matched black team, and a specialty is made of undertaking and embalming and taking full charge of funerals and burials.

Sander-Smith & Co.—The Big Store of Berne.

To a very large majority of the residents of Berne and the surrounding county the big dry goods, rug, carpet and grocery store of Sander-Smith & Co. has been a familiar and convenient shopping center from their beginning last spring. The manager, Mr. Philip Sander, in addition to keeping the business on a high plane of satisfactory service, has kept pace with the material progress and development that has taken place in Berne. The elegant fall and winter stock comprises an excellent line of high-class dress fabrics in all the latest shades, weaves and patterns, hosiery, novelties and notions, cloaks, wraps, furs, coats and suit goods, and in fact nearly anything and everything usually carried in a strictly first-class and up-to-date dry goods and ladies and gentlemen's furnishing establishment and they have the agency for the famous Kabo corsets, McCall's fashion patterns and the celebrated Star brand of shoes.

Baumgartner Bros. & Co.—Enterprising Hardware and Implement Firm of Berne.

We take pardonable pride in calling the public's attention to the spacious and well arranged hardware establishment, implement warehouse and carriage repository of Baumgartner Bros. & Co. of which Mr. George Baumgartner is the able and efficient manager. The large stock comprises the best grades of heavy and steel hardware, mechanics', carpenters' and builders' tools, Robeson "Bar Edge" tools and cutlery, the famous Garland, Round Oak, Monitor stoves and ranges and tin and enameled ware, the De-Laval cream separator, the H. P. S. paint and varnishes, etc. Also the Peters buggies, the Weber wagons, the International manure spreader, the J. I. Case plows, the Ohio line of implements, etc.
