Entered at the postoffice in Decatur, Indiana, as second class matter.

The democrats will hold their primary election tomorrow, at which time they will select the men who will be elected for the various city offices November 4th, next. The only scrap is for treasurer and there are three excellent men asking for your vote. They are well qualified and good citizens. You can't go wrong.

The purchase of the old automobile building by the Schafer Saddlery company means a step forward in Decatur's condition. It means a new and splendid building, filled with sixty or seventy workmen, who draw an average wage of fifteen dollars per week. This means a pay roll of nearly $1,500 per week and a growing institution.

We have received one contribution of fifty dollars for the young man who wants to give Decatur a new industry employing twenty-five men, and we are told by a number of other men that they will gladly do their share. We believe the next year will be the best ever known here and that we will continue to go ahead in a substantial and steady way. We know we will if you will help push a little.

If the high protective tariff really "protected" the American farmer and kept the prices up why in thunder didn't they come down when the black cloud of democratic "free trade" began to darken the sky. Come to think about it maybe the old law of supply and demand has something to do with it. Old fashioned people say they have always observed that when there is a general big crop of any product the price somewhat goes down and when there is a scarcity the price goes up regardless of the tariff.—Portland Sun.

Edgar Schneider Breaks Leg and Arm as He Falls Down Embankment.

ALONG CLOVER LEAF

Accident Occurred Saturday day Afternoon—On Way to Bluffton Fair.

While on his way to the Bluffton street fair Saturday afternoon Edgar Schneider met with a very serious accident, leaving him a cripple for some time. A party of about fifteen left this city Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Clover Leaf west-bound freight train, their intention being to make Bluffton in time for the fair that evening. As the long string of freight cars slacked up near Peterson, Edgar, with a number of the other boys jumped off the slowly moving train and were making better time on foot than the train was traveling. A pretty good pace was kept up by the ones on foot and Edgar, while still running turned around to see who was coming back of him. Just as he did this the fatal moment came as he had reached a small creek, which has an embankment of about sixteen feet from the level of the railroad tracks, which he was traveling. He tumbled backwards down into the creek, which had about one foot of water in it. In the fall his left leg and arm were broken and he was badly bruised. When he reached the bottom of the creek he tried to get up, but was unable, and found that his leg was broken. The only companion remaining in sight was Pete Foreman, and he came to young Schneider's rescue. The other boys had taken a different route by this time and were well on their way to Bluffton. Young Foreman went to the nearest farmhouse and telephoned to Dr. Miller, who went out to the scene of the accident with his auto and brought the injured young man to his home on Adams street. Today he is resting a little better, but Saturday night and Sunday night his pain was almost too great for him to endure. The broken leg was put in a plaster of paris cast today. It will be six weeks before he will be able to get out of bed and be able to stand on the leg. The arm is not so serious. Edgar Schneider is the second oldest son of Mrs. Peter Schneider and was employed at the Ward fence factory.

The case against Jas. Thompson, for illegal voting and sworn out by Thomas Buckmaster, which was set for riday morning, was postponed until 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Thompson is accused of illegal voting at the local option election held last March.

William McQuay, a young man employed as a farm hand east of the city, and formerly employed by the Coppock Motor company, was arrested at 10 o'clock Saturday night by Officer Melchior on the charge of paternity, sworn out against him by Mary Singleton. Not being able to furnish bond, McQuay was placed in jail. His hearing has been set for October 14, before Squire Stone.
