

One Year Ago Today

--a woman whose girls have to walk three miles to school bought two pairs of heavy calf skin and one pair of our No. 814 Pump Dongola shoes. Today she bought all three pairs of No. 814. She says the Pump Dongola wears as long as the extremely heavy shoes and look a lot better. Let us show you,

Per ever' feller that's got a little dab o' money there's ten fellers figurin' on how they're goin' to separate him from it. Some girls are poplar an' others wear cotton stockin's with slashed skirts.—Abe Martin.

Orders have reached Whitley county from the Decatur beet sugar factory to the effect that the time is at hand to begin the harvest of the 1912 beet crop, and it is expected that the pulling will commence in a number of fields during the present week.—Columbia City Post.

Mrs. J. S. Coverdale spent yesterday at Berne as the guest of friends.

Miss Esther Evans of Fort Wayne was the guest of Miss Mabel Corbett today.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crumm of Honduras were in the city shopping, Mr. Crumm paying a visit to the county treasurer to pay his taxes for the fall.

F. V. Mills, the grocer, is recovering from a severe attack of renal gravel, since Saturday, but is able to be out again, though he is still very weak.

Mrs. Marcus Jahn, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Longenbacher returned this morning from a week's visit with friends at Youngstown, Ohio, and also near the Pennsylvania line.

Lynn Shoemaker left this noon for Springfield, Ohio, where he will assist in the exhibition of the Ward Fence company at the state fair to be held there next week. He will be joined later by Mr. Ward.

A large crowd was in attendance at the dance given by the K. of C's last evening which proved to be one of the most enjoyable events of the season. Music was furnished by Miss Bertha Kohne and Elmo Smith.

Mrs. M. W. Mansfield of Webster City, Iowa, who has been visiting with the Moses families, left this morning for Fort Wayne, accompanied by Mrs. Ed Moses and will be guests today of the H. P. Moses family. From there she will leave for the east for a visit.

Miss Grace Miller of Decatur arrived here this morning and will organize a vocal class. Miss Miller has had many years of experience and has studied at the Chicago Musical college for six years and also in New York City for two years. In New York Miss Miller studied under Magnus Schultz and also assisted with the work in his studio.—Bluffton News.

Little Miss Mary Bohnke, who is staying this winter at the Andrew Wellfey home and attending school, was ten years old yesterday. Mrs. Wellfey arranged a very delightful surprise for her and enlisted the aid of Helen Walters and Grace Shroll for the affair. Twentyfour little girls were guests, and while Mary was sent to visit the Shroll home, they went to the Wellfey home immediately after school and were waiting there to greet Miss Mary when she was summoned home again. Games were played, and a good time passed until the refreshment hour when Mrs. Wellfey was assisted by Mrs. Alva Nichols in serving ice cream and cake. Mrs. Wellfey made a fine, large cake, prettily iced, and decorated with ten candles, and these were lighted during the afternoon. Mary's mother, Mrs. Henry Bohnke, was also present for the party. The little girl guests were: Helen and Dorothy Walters, Florine Michaud, Pauline and Bereneta Reynolds, Pauline Hite, Romaine Murray, Mildred Strebe, Henrietta Coffee, Gertrude and Mildred Yager, Beulah, Margaret and Catherine Nichols, Aileen Miller, Esther Sheets, Vera Derance, Grace Shroll, Esther Reynolds, Victoria Mills, Josephine Meyers, Ruth Frisinger, Rosa Panrote and Mary Bohnke.
