William A. Morris of Frankfort was greeting the people of this city today building fences for the democratic state convention. He is a formidable candidate for treasurer of state and will try to secure a portion of the vote here. He is well known over the state and will no doubt make a showing of strength in the convention.

There is no cause for independence talk in this county and the men who insist on it are men who wish to break the democratic ranks and will think less of the democrats who help them do it than if they didn't. We believe in a clean party, but a democratic party, and we believe in supporting the nominees of a primary. Never in the history of this great country has such progress been made as that of the past year, with democrats in power everywhere. Adams county which has been the home of democracy during all the years when the fight for a cleaner, better government was being made, will uphold the hands of President Wilson and Governor Ralston this year by giving them democratic county officers. You should help do it.

Representative Mann of Illinois, republican leader in the house, declares that the government control of stocks and bonds issued by the railroads is one of the features of the Wilson trust plan. "It will mean," said Mr. Mann, "that the federal government will have to authorize every issue of stocks and bonds and that the people will know the exact purpose for which they are to be used. This will make it easier for the railroads to get money, because any bond issue that has the indorsement of the government will command the confidence of the people. This will also prevent trunk lines from buying up at exorbitant prices subsidiary lines the stock of which is owned by officers of the trunk lines." President Wilson in a few short months has compelled the republicans to support his measures. He has not been compelled by political trickery, but has so convincingly set before the people his plan of enacting laws favorable to the people that the minority members dare not oppose them.—Huntington Press.

SANTA BARBARA IS SHUT OFF.

(United Press Service)
San Francisco, Jan. 26.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Heavy rains coming upon the heels of one of the worst storms of the season today put many railroads, telegraph and telephone lines out of business, shutting Santa Barbara and its many wealthy folks off from the outside world. Relatives express fears for their safety. When communication was shut off last night the water stood two feet deep at the station and was still rising.

INCURABLY FEEBLE-MINDED.

Drs. M. E. Parrish, J. M. Miller and H. F. Costello and Justice G. F. Kline have not yet returned their verdict in the inquest held Saturday evening to inquire into the mental condition of John Magner, of near Monroe. But it is not believed that they will ask for admittance to Easthawen asylum. The family physician recites that he is feeble minded, of the incurable type, and that his condition is not dangerous. As this type is not admitted to the insane asylum, it would be useless to apply. It is believed that if his excitable condition continues, it will be necessary to take him to the county infirmary. He is twenty-six years of age.
