Entered at the postoffice in Decatur, Indiana, as second class matter.

Al Graham knows the bunch of "cattle" with which he refused to associate politically. He knows inside facts about them that would make interesting reading. If he won't associate, do you think a democrat could do so?

Congress will probably adjourn about October 1st after the longest continuous session on record. It has been a session, too, of things accomplished and will long be remembered in history as the congress which did things for the people.

The first registration in Adams county was a successful one in which more than half the vote was registered without any great effort. The last registration day early in October will give you another chance to qualify if you have not done so.

Decatur merchants should arrange for special bargain days in Decatur. They tried it most successfully in the early summer and it would prove even better now if the offers are made while the people are ready and anxious to buy their fall and winter supplies.

September is here and with it comes the busy season. The schools, the circuit court, the county commissioners' session and a general stir in business affairs brings one to the realization that vacation days are over and it is time to get busy. Let's move along briskly this fall. The way to do it is to advertise.

If all the European rulers had worked as hard to prevent war as President Wilson has done to keep the peace with Mexico, would there not have been an international conference at The Hague, instead of innumerable battlefields covered with dead and dying human beings?—Baltimore Evening Sun (Ind. Dem.) Paste this thought in the conspicuous foreground of your mind and give it thirty seconds every day for a week.

Governor Ralston will open the democratic campaign at Indianapolis one week from tomorrow evening and the big battle will then be on. It will be a six weeks' campaign and a red hot one in the old Hoosier state. The democrats will bring to Indiana a number of the greatest speakers of the nation and the issues will be thoroughly discussed. While the foreign war will detract some attention it is likely that everyone will know before November 3rd that there is to be an election.

The election of a democratic house this fall will foreclose tariff agitation in the United States for a long period—ten years or more. That would mean steady conditions and rapid expansion of American business and industry. Before the European war broke out the New York Journal of Commerce stated that the Underwood tariff had proven a boon to consumers.

ers, with a minimum disturbance of business. If the country is free of tariff agitation after the foreign war is over, commerce will fully adjust itself to the new conditions. The judgment of the commercial world strongly opposes another long period of tariff controversy. If a republican house is elected, its first act would be to bring in whatever kind of a tariff its mixed elements could agree on. With that as foundation it would start out upon two years of warfare calculated to handicap the operation of the Underwood tariff and popularize some counter proposition. That would involve, simply, two years more of uncertainty and timidity. The question confronting the average business man at the fall elections is merely of whether he chooses to be the football of a heterogeneous, unclassifiable mob of "outs" seeking to become "ins." Shall a definite program, supported and sustained by a compact party organization be put aside for no program at all? What can be expected from an "opposition" made up (in so far as it can be described) of ultra-radicals and ultra-conservatives—of Penrose, Cannon et al., on the one hand, and Roogovelt, Murdock et al., on the other hand?

FLANK MOVEMENT WILL BE MADE BY RUSSIANS

Petrograd, Sept. 7.—(Special to the Daily Democrat)—The Russian army is engaged today in a supreme effort to annihilate the Austrian war power. General Rouzsky with his victorious army which defeated the Austrians at Lemberg, has been sent to Russian Poland. Today his forces engaged the main Austrian army along a battle line which extends well into Galicia.

Additional reinforcements have been sent to General Rouzsky and while the main army is attacking the Austrian position, other divisions will try a flanking movement designed to cut off the Austrian retreat and also to prevent the German reinforcements reaching the scene. It is certain that this battle will last for several days.

In order that the fighting strength of the Austrians shall be crushed, it is necessary that the combined Austrian army in Poland be annihilated.

Paris, Sept. 7.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—The war office in a message to General Gallieni today declared that the French forces under the immediate direction of General Joffre and cooperating with Sir John French of the British forces broke through the German right flank. At the same time the British forces broke through the German line, left of the right wing. This so imperiled the German right wing that it forced the commander to hurriedly withdraw all troops from Lille and the neighboring towns to strengthen his position. The real reason of the failure of the Germans to continue their march on Paris, it is believed here, was the discovery that the allies' plan of battle contemplated a general engagement to the westward of Paris. The French army was massed and ready to spring on the troops but the German cavalry scouts and airmen reported this condition and the Paris assault was postponed.

Antivari, Sept. 7.—(Special to the Daily Democrat)—It is officially announced that in addition to the sending of troops to the aid of Montenegro, the French have sent a quantity of rapid fire guns and competent men to handle them, and are already reducing the Cattaro fortifications.

Meanwhile the fleet is bombarding the harbor and it is believed that the city will have to surrender in a short time. The French are anxious to take this city as it will give it a much needed naval base on the Adriatic.

Real estate transfers: Omer Lehman et al. to Henry Michaud, north half of lot 243, Berne, 10; Henry Michaud to Omer Lehman, east half of lot 242, Berne, $150.

A marriage license was issued to Edward Kolter, merchant, of Magley, born January 28, 1887, son of Karl Kolter, to wed Ada Hower, born October 5, 1888, daughter of James Howler.

London, Sept. 7.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—The English fleet is preparing for an earnest attempt to break the German naval power. At the admiralty it is admitted that important developments are expected. Meanwhile the North sea is again closed to all shipping. The navigation lights on the coasts are still burning but an announcement says they may be extinguished at any time.

Washington, Sept. 7.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Despite administration assurances to the contrary, reports of expected trouble in Mexico were continuously circulated today. One report said that Carranza had ordered the suspension of all train service to Vera Cruz and that General Funston had threatened him with reprisal. Rumors continued to suggest American intervention. "It is a fine mess down there now," one diplomat said, refusing, however, to be more explicit.

Paris, Sept. 7.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—The first bulletins of any fighting between the allied and German forces on Sunday, came last evening when the official press bureau published the statement that the left wing of the allies came into contact with the right wing of the Germans on the banks of the river Grand Morin, which runs slightly south of the Paris lines. The allies met an advance guard of the Germans at this place and a small engagement ensued. From all appearances the advance guard was covering the main German position. The fighting on the center and right wing of the allies still continues with but little change in the positions. The right wing of the German forces remains about twenty miles from the outer line of fortifications.
