The car should furnish them many delightful trips in that beautiful country during the next six months.

With the blowing of the big whistle, steam was turned on and the great wheels of the Holland-St. Louis Sugar company's plant north of the city, started on their 1914 campaign not to be stopped for a period of from sixty to seventy days. This year's outlook is the brightest of any year since the factory located here, prices being above the average and over one-third the amount of beets over any previous year being brought in. A full complement of men were started at work this morning and for the next two or three months the big building will be as busy as a bee hive.

Funeral services for Richard Reiter, fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Reiter of Bluffton, who died Saturday morning were held this morning, at the residence. The funeral party arrived at Maplewood cemetery at 12 o'clock and were met by a large number of the friends. Short but simple prayer services were conducted by Rev. Arnold after the friends had viewed the remains. In a beautiful spot near the entrance to the cemetery, near the ancestors many of whom were numbered among the pioneers of this city, the remains of little Richard were laid tenderly to rest, eight of his former little playmates acting as honorary pall bearers and each depositing on the casket a bunch of flowers. The family was accompanied here by many of their Bluffton friends and relatives from elsewhere, coming by auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Buettel and daughter, Idella, left Saturday night for Tiffin, Ohio, in response to a telegram informing them to come at once as Mrs. Buettel's brother was at the point of death.

STATE OFFICIAL SUICIDES.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—The body of Secretary of State Harry Woods of Illinois, dead for twenty-four hours, was found in his garage at his home at 7 o'clock this morning with a bullet wound in the forehead and a 38-calibre automatic revolver clutched in his right hand. The door of the garage was locked from the inside and every indication pointed to suicide. Quantities of stocks and bonds in his coat pockets lead to the belief that financial worries may have caused the action. No other reason is assigned. Woods was the unsuccessful candidate for the democratic senatorial nomination against Roger Sullivan. The death was thought to have occurred about 6:30 Sunday morning, as at that time Woods arose, dressed and left the house without telling his family where he was going.

WOMEN ARE HURT.

As the result of an automobile not taking the grade over the culvert north of the city near the Adams and Allen county line two women received painful injuries as the machine in which they were riding "bounced up," sending them against the top of the auto and cutting the nose of one lady and injuring the other about the lips. They were taken to the home of William Knapp and Dr. C. S. Clark was called and dressed the wounds. E. G. Kampe and wife and another man and wife figured in the accident.

IS PENSION EXAMINER.

This morning Dr. C. S. Clark received a notification from the pension bureau at Washington, D. C., notifying him that he had been appointed a member of the county board of pension examiners. The document was signed by G. M. Saltzgeber, a former lawyer of Van Wert, Ohio, but who was appointed by President Wilson as commissioner of the pension bureau.

NOT A RELIABLE TIMEPIECE

Farmer's Admission Not So Damaging as Opposition Lawyer Had Thought It to Be.

A horse had been stolen from a field, and the evidence all pointed to a certain doubtful character of the neighborhood as the culprit. At the trial the defendant's counsel tried to confuse a farmer whose testimony was particularly damaging.

"You say," the lawyer asked, "that you can swear to having seen this man drive a horse past your farm on the day in question?"

"I can," replied the witness wearily.

"What time was this?"

"I told you it was about the middle of the afternoon."

"But I don't want any 'abouts' or 'middles.' I want the exact time."

"Why," said the farmer, "I don't always carry a gold watch with me when I'm digging potatoes."

"But you have a clock in the house, haven't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, what time was it by that?"

"Why, just nineteen minutes past ten."

"You were in the field all the morning?" went on the lawyer, smiling suggestively.

"I was."

"How far from the house is this field?"

"About half a mile."

"You swear, do you, that by the clock in your house it was exactly nineteen minutes past ten?"

"I do."

Lawyer (triumphantly)—I think that will do.

Farmer—I ought perhaps to say that too much reliance should not be placed upon that clock, as it got out of gear about six months ago and it's been nineteen minutes past ten ever since."

HAS TWO MEDALS OF HONOR

General Frank D. Baldwin, is the Only One So Distinguished in This Country.

"Like Sir Hector MacDonald of the British army, there is a retired soldier of the United States army who bears the distinction of being the only man to whom two medals of honor were awarded," remarked Captain C. J. Ferris of Fort Sam Houston, Texas, who is at the New Willard. "MacDonald, it will be recalled, was one of the most distinguished soldiers in India. He wore two Victoria crosses, and was the only man among the British soldiers who had this honor. But one of these was awarded to MacDonald's son, who died before he could claim it. His father always wore the two crosses, with the approval of the British government."

"The man in the United States army who can claim distinction equal to that of MacDonald, and even a greater honor, is Major General Frank D. Baldwin, who was retired in June, 1906. General Baldwin is the only officer of the army after whose name in the army register appear the letters 'M. H. (two)'. This means that General Baldwin was awarded two medals of honor. There are quite a number of soldiers to whom congress has given one medal. General Baldwin is still living and as hard as a pine knot. "Similar to the records of MacDonald and Baldwin is that of a former British soldier named Donnegan, who lives in Baltimore. He earned the Victoria cross, the India cross, a Balaklava medal and numerous other emblems for gallantry during his service in the British army, and is one of the four survivors of that famous charge of the light brigade immortalized by the poet."—Washington Post.

A Century Ago.

One hundred years ago Gen. Thomas Pinckney arrived at Fort Jackson to assume command of that post, which was located on the Mississippi below New Orleans and was now threatened by the British. General Pinckney was a noted soldier of the Revolution as well as of the War of 1812. He belonged to one of the oldest and most distinguished families of South Carolina, and he himself had served as governor of the state. President Washington appointed him the first United States minister to Great Britain. In 1794 he was sent from London to Spain, where he arranged the treaty by which the United States secured the free navigation of the Mississippi river. In 1796 General Pinckney was honored with the Federalist party nomination for president of the United States.

Mustache for Young England. Is the mustache coming into fashion again? One will have observed that five of the Oxford crew wear decorations on the upper lip. Cambridge has only one example. That, however, makes six out of eighteen, surely an unusual average today among men who are not long out of their "teens." Leaving the army, in which "face fungus" is compulsory, apart, common observation leads one to the conclusion that about eighty per cent of the male population in England are today clean-shaven, while the majority of the others do not shave at all.

Court Humor.

Judge—You say you saw the prisoner strike the complainant. On what provocation? Witness—Why, he pulled out a roll of bills, your honor. Judge—And you mean to say the prisoner struck him for that? Witness—Well, he struck him for some of it.
