Entered at the postoffice in Decatur, Indiana, as second-class matter.

Capital reminder by the Lockwood Missourian: "It takes spunk, gameness and grit and a lot of hard work to win today. Overcaution is lack of courage. Fear is a fly in your soup." The word fear in this connection is equivalent to cowardice. There is too much of the latter among the masses. This is something that needs to be overcome.

There is much feeling here just now because of the fact that the G. R. & I. has taken off the Sunday morning train north, which means that the many from here who summer at Rome City cannot join their family at that place. Those who feel it are expressing themselves in such a way that the officials of the road will hear of their dissatisfaction.

The members of the executive committee of the Democratic Editorial association will meet Friday in Indianapolis to decide upon the time and place for holding the mid-summer meeting. A proposition to take the entire party to St. Joseph, Michigan, for two days will be considered. The association is one of the oldest of its kind in the country, and they sure know how to enjoy themselves at these semi-annual meetings. Incidentally the association has played an important part in Indiana politics in the past and will no doubt continue to do so in the future.

The outlook for a boys' gymnasium, to be used of course on certain days at least by the girls of Decatur, is brighter at this time than it has ever been. A temporary "Gym" and reading room will be arranged soon and we believe the good will be so evident that a permanent "Boys' City," of which we have dreamed a good many years, is not impossible. The most important thing for any city is the careful teaching of the young people. Give us good, clean, moral, healthy boys and girls and in a decade or two we will give you a high class citizenship. It solves every question. It helps any community that does it. Every man and woman of Decatur should boost this proposition both with words and with cash.

Let's go after the Clover Leaf shops like a thousand of brick falling off a ten-story building. Let's show those people we want them to come to Decatur. We can do it. They want to come. Delphos don't want them to, but it's to their advantage to do so and they have petitioned the federal court to allow them to move. If they get the order of court it will be up to us to get busy and welcome them here by aiding them in any way we can. A railroad division town is always a good town for business. We are reliably informed that this change would mean that more than a hundred and fifty men would make this city their home. That means an increased population of several hundred. The expenditure of three hundred thousand dollars here this year would also mean a profitable, prosperous year, an advance in every way. Let's do it.

GROWS MORE ALARMING.

Washington, D. C. Mar. 30--Special to Daily Democrat--The Mexican situation grew increasingly alarming today. Added to news that the Carranzistas seemed certain to recapture Mexico City within forty-eight hours, information arrived that railroad communication was interrupted. Official Washington was most anxious over the report of the Carranzistas' growing strength. For some weeks Villa has been counted on to clarify the situation by crushing the "first chief." In the past few days, however, the latter had severely repulsed his rival. One of the latest developments, it became known today, was a reply sent by Carranza to American representatives rippling with defiance. Its details were not known but it was evident that not only Washington government heads but foreign diplomats were greatly concerned. Border conditions were somewhat less threatening at Matamoras, but much more so at Nuevo Laredo. General Funston reported Villistas moving strongly on the latter place. The Carranza commander there announced he would fight. War department officials admitted that field artillery might be ordered to Laredo, Texas, to protect American neutrality, lives and property in the event of an overflow of the battle across the border. At Matamoras the lull did not promise to last long. Villa was believed to be delaying only while he brought up reinforcements. It was reported he had fifteen car loads of artillery on the way from Monterrey.

BOYER AND FEICK RESIGN.

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 30--(Special to Daily Democrat)--Joseph Boyer of Terre Haute and Fred Feick of Garrett, both representatives in the recent legislature, handed their resignations to Secretary of State Cook today. The resignations were accepted by Governor Ralston. The supposition is that they will be appointed deputy oil inspectors. Both men had practically ended their terms. State Inspector Beilheimer today announced that all except fifteen of the deputy oil inspectors would be reappointed. There were 1,500 applications for the fifteen vacancies. He did not name the new appointees. Among those losing their positions are W. A. Johnson, Churubusco; William Coal-lin, Delhi; Frank Downing, Legansport; W. E. Tritter, Peru; W. P. Marshall, Winchester; A. T. Wood, Angola.

Fashion Puts On Her Spring Coat

IT is a charming affair of Putty colored Bayadere Coating cut on full and easy lines. The collar is very distinctive with touches of black velvet and the belt and pocket flaps are a bit suggestive of the military. It is appropriately called the Daughter of the Regiment, and may be had in Labrador, Navy, Black, Military Grey Army Brown or Tan.

But Fashion has plenty of other coats, too.

There's one called the "Carmoor" which partakes of the looseness of the swagger English top coat. All styles and prices from $5.00 up.
