You can buy anything you want at reduced prices in this city by attending the "Get Acquainted" sale next week. Watch for the big announcement in Friday evening's paper.

Get Acquainted sale in Decatur next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Come in and meet your old friends, make new ones and take advantage of the special prices offered by the "live wire" merchants.

Several times during the past few days our attention has been called to the fact that automobile drivers in this city are not paying attention to the laws and rules which govern such modes of traveling. There are state laws and a local ordinance which governs this kind of travel and any person who drives a car, knows when they violate those laws. Care should be used at the crossings, especially downtown, drivers should use their horns, should be careful about driving on the right side of the street and in making turns. New city ordinance books are now being printed and these contain a brand new and up-to-the-minute ordinance regarding automobiles. These will be out in a few days and we believe the mayor should see that the ordinance is obeyed to the letter. It may save lives. A few traffic policemen at least at the busiest corners for a short time would aid greatly in getting the people started in the right way and an affidavit or two may be necessary to let the people know that business is meant. Let's be careful.

IS ERECTING HITCH RACK.

Jacob Buhler, proprietor of the new grocery recently opened on the corner of Adams and Seventh streets, is erecting a hitch rack just east of his store and cordially invites the country patrons to use it.

Caught by a String
Under Your Nose

"Thank a merciful Providence that it has provided me with a keen sense of humor that just takes me sailing over any bumps of what otherwise might be mountains of annoyance," said the Hoosier Observer, "sometimes the funniest pictures come into my mind that I must burst right out laughing and sometimes it is rather humiliating or embarrassing to explain just what has amused me, although it is quite necessary to save my reputation for ordinary common sense. But I am glad that I have the funny brain pictures just the same. They save me from many a bump of annoyance, as I have said. Now I just cannot help laughing at this story I have read, and all similar circumstances which come before my observation in real life. It brings to my mind the picture of 'Old Man Shaefer' getting caught under the nose by a string. The story I have just been reading is one of those world-without-end old stories of someone who made someone else jealous, and they in turn tried to get back at them by trying to make them jealous of someone else. Every time I hear of such a case, I just laugh and think: 'Well, Old Man Shaefer has got caught under the nose again by a string.' Now the Old Man Shaefer story is this. It is one of the many, many stories I heard from my mother and somehow, although they were real, true stories, they always had a little lesson sticking out somewhere. My mother and her brother, Chan, were real, live youngsters when they were little and what mischief they made up, between them, would have made ten Peck's Bad Boys envious. Now they had a little playmate, Helen, who was a veritable little lamb (but she died young). Living in my grandfather's home—for he kind-heartedly kept a regular home for friendless, was an old man named Shaefer. He was called—not disrepectfully, 'Old Man Shaefer.' He was what is known in present-day parlance as 'grouchy,' and probably had good reason to be. But there was no good reason to the two live youngsters and they delighted in teasing him. One way was to stretch a string across the hallway leading to his room so that in the dark when he went up it caught him just under the nose and jerked his head back. Now, Old Man Shaefer had no love for these youngsters. He may, or he may not have had for the gentle Helen, but anyway, arming himself with a glass imitation ruby ring—it was a very cheap one at that—he presented it with due honor and respect to Helen, before the very gaze of my mother and Chan. It may or may not have made them envious, but they kept on stretching the string just the same. When I read those foolish stories of trying to win back affection and regard by provoking jealousy, I think of the string and nose, and the laugh comes. It is such a cheap, cheap common way of doing—that trying to make some one jealous—that I do not see how anyone could have any respect, to say nothing of love, for one who took that means of so doing. And then, too, there is the question of 'the goat,' the one on whom gifts and affections and 'kindnesses' are showered in order to make the other jealous. It seems to me, I would just as soon be either of the other parties as the 'goat'—though the 'goat' may not always realize that it is used as a tool. In such cases, it is to be pitied. Don't let someone catch you under the nose with a string! All of which I say, say I.

"Yours truly,
THE HOOSIER OBSERVER."

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Butler of northeast of the city, entertained a company of friends at 12 o'clock dinner Sunday, the guests being the carpenters who built the Butler home, together with their wives. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Nes Moon, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Annen, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Yoder, Mr. and Mrs. John Peoples.

Sixteen members of the Loyal Men's class of the Christian church were very pleasantly entertained last evening by J. E. Anderson. The committee to arrange for a debate did not meet, hence there was none last evening. A discussion of the war and other current topics was interestingly indulged in and Mrs. Anderson served tempting refreshments of ice cream and cake. John Schultz will entertain at the July meeting, July 27. A committee to arrange for the debate was named and includes John Schultz, Dr. C. R. Weaver and Frank Kern.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Green entertained in a delightful way at dinner and supper yesterday for Mr. and Mrs. Perry Gandy of Churubusco, Mrs. Carl Bishop and son of Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parent and babe and Miss Letta Kintz.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Yarger, three miles east of Decatur, were pleasantly surprised by a company of their old-time neighbors. A sumptuous dinner was enjoyed at noon, after which the men enjoyed fishing at the St. Mary's river, while the women visited. Those enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. August Schleckman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ira McBride and children, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yager, Mr. and Mrs. Art Shady and children and Mr. and Mrs. Clem Yarger and children, Harold and Floyd.

The Ben Hur Aid society announces a pastry sale for Saturday at the gas office. Pies, cake, candy and other good things will be sold. Everything homemade.

Flower mission day for the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union was most appropriately and nicely observed yesterday afternoon when fifty or more ladies met at the home of Mrs. Robert Case. Mrs. John Burk, who is superintendent of flower missions, had charge of the program. Besides the features given in the program heretofore published, there was a vocal solo by Miss Hallie Leonard. The study carried out the flower mission idea. Seventy-five bouquets were brought. To these appropriate texts on cards were tied. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Erwin in their automobile took thirty-one bouquets to the inmates of the county infirmary, each inmate receiving one. Others were sent to the sick. At the close of the program and business meeting, delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Case was assisted by Mrs. Dan Erwin.

Miss Marguerite Gerard has received invitation to a shower to be given for Miss Elizabeth Rathfon of Indianapolis, Friday, by Miss Gladys Kennington. Miss Rathfon's marriage will take place June 29 to Carl H. Gruber of that city. Both have visited here at the Gerard home and are known to many here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Porter and daughter, Sarah Elizabeth; Mrs. Lily Porter and sons, Hillard and Harold, of Parker City, motored here for a visit over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Porter, returning home Monday. On Sunday the Parker City party and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Porter and Miss Leah Portor motored to Wren, Ohio, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McGill.

Miss Marguerite Moran and nephew, Richard Moran, have returned from Fort Wayne, where they attended the Sacred Heart academy commencement. Miss Moran's niece, Miss Helen Kenney, of near Geneva, was a graduate, and received the gold medal in the fine sewing class. Miss Kenney stopped off here for a visit before returning home.

Mrs. Joe Tonnerre entertained at dinner today for Mrs. John Garvey. Mrs. Garvey is a sister of Mr. Tonnerre.

With many garden flowers, fragrant and pretty in color, the home of Mrs. Henry B. Heller was a charming one this afternoon when she entertained thirty guests at a sewing party. A very appropriate flower guessing contest was given after the sewing and at 5 o'clock a two-course luncheon was served.

The Royal Neighbors' lodge gave a social last evening that was a decided success. Fully eighty-five were present. There was a fine program, contests and later refreshments were served. The refreshments were in charge of Mrs. John Christen, Mrs. Swearer and Mrs. Joel Reynolds.

The Epworth League will give a

"reversible" social Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Methodist church. Admission, 10 cents. The social will be a unique one, in that everything will be done backwards. The proceeds will be used in paying the way of the delegates to the convention to be held at Bluffton next week.

Rev. Hunter Myers arrived from Bloomington, Ill., to spend the remainder of the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Myers, and other relatives. The father is getting along nicely from his injury of some time ago.

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) for the nations at war rather than the nations at peace will come with the return of peace," said Bryan. "In all history no such opportunity has ever come to any other nation as that which is destined to come to the United States. In all history no other peacemaker has ever been in a position to claim as rich a blessing as that which will be pronounced upon our president when the time for mediation comes—as come it must." He said no wonder every neutral nation is increasingly anxious for the war to end just at this time when questions of international law are most acute, and the belligerent governments least able to deal with them with the calmness and poise which their great importance demanded.

"BILLY'S" SERMONS PLAGARIZED.

NOTICE TO PERSONAL WORKERS.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 16—(Special to Daily Democrat)—"Billy" Sunday's most effective sermons are "plagiarized." Bently D. Ackley, ex-secretary to the baseball evangelist, made that statement today when he charged that the sermons Sunday delivered in his revival in this city, Paterson, N. J., and elsewhere, were almost an exact counterpart of those delivered by Evangelist Sam Jones, Talmage and "Gypsy" Smith. Ackley acknowledged that "Billy's" sermon, "Newburg," which seldom failed to reap a harvest of "dustbin trailers" was preached several years ago by Smith. He further declared, he himself, took the sermon in shorthand when Smith delivered it at Winona Lake, Ind. The former secretary also alleged Sunday's sermons on the Ten Commandments was taken from Talmage, and that on "Come Home to Roost" was first delivered by Jones.
