ALONE WITH YOUR CONSCIENCE:

Mr. Voter, you are to choose whether you will go forward with Wilson—

Kept us out of war;
Prepared you against war;
Worked for you and yours;
Ended Wall Street's rule;
Liberated honest business;
Made lasting prosperity possible;
Kept faith with labor;
Lifted the farmer's mortgage;
Freed the child;
Kept all his promises;
OR

Undo Wilson's deeds, go backward with the candidate of the Old Guard and Wall Street, and take a chance on plunging us into war with Roosevelt and Hughes?

You are working instead of fighting.
WILSON'S THE MAN.

THE CAMPAIGN

NEARS THE END:

Another day for final organization and the great campaign which has been in progress for three months will have ended. On the one hand President Wilson, acknowledged by friend and foe to have made the most remarkable record of any president in a half century, to have enacted through personal efforts more laws for the people than all the presidents combined since Lincoln's time, to have so conducted affairs of state during a half-dozen serious complications with foreign nations as to have avoided war and still maintained the honor of this nation, to have aided business, protected the women and children of the country, and a dozen other great acts. Upon this record he is asking re-election, while on the other hand Mr. Hughes as the republican nominee, is running for the high office of chief executive practically without an issue, save that of criticism without offering a single remedy. His only strength lies in the fact that he is backed by a hundred millionaires of Wall street, who are putting up millions of dollars in an effort to elect him and thus regain for the special interests the legislative bodies of the nation. It is the most remarkable campaign ever made with right on one side and capital on the other. Will the people of this country vote for themselves or against themselves? We have faith in our people and we believe they will support the administration which has given them the service they have demanded. A vote for Wilson is a vote for the great mass of common people. A vote for Hughes is a vote against yourself.

Vote for Wilson next Tuesday.

WHO LAUGHS AT OUR PEACE?

Partisan speakers of high and low degree are manifesting a nervous sensitiveness about European opinion. Opponents of President Wilson simply writhen shame at the thought of how Europe despises and condemns us. They tell us that the administration's course has made this country the laughing stock of the nations. Nothing except Mr. Hughes' election will cause the world's face to regain composure.

Of all the home products intended strictly for domestic consumption this idea of European mirth and contempt for the United States is easily the foremost. Even if it were true it would not present a grave issue. We have no control over the risible tendencies of foreign nations. But we are the master of our own acts and attitude. What principally concerns us is not what somebody thinks of us but what in our heart of hearts we think of ourselves. Not what some other nation thinks we ought to do but what we know we ought to do. But it is not true. After two years and more of the bloodiest and most exhausting conflict in history—when the great nations are bleeding white and the people looking in vain for some evidence that the end is in sight—Europe can appreciate as never before the greatness of a country at peace and the wisdom that keeps her disentangled from the conflict. Never doubt she does it. Now as never before this country must seem to Europe, awash in seas of blood, like a great rock and refuge.

Not for a nation to be laughed at did Germany agree to make her submarine campaign conform to international law and humanity. Not from a country contemptible in the world's eyes do British statesmen welcome the suggestion for a league to safeguard the whole world's peace. Nobody is laughing at America except for political purposes. The whole world envies her.—Chicago Herald.

A vote for Hughes is a vote for Roosevelt.

Which would you rather do—sleep in a trench at the front or in bed at home?

So would we.—Village Gossip.

And do you remember who was president of the well-known U. S. when we were paid in clearing house certificates?

You're right. It was Roosevelt.

Election returns will be received at this office, arrangements having been made for receiving the returns over a special Western Union wire from over the nation and the county returns by telephone from every precinct.

Look over the democratic ticket and you will find every man a qualified man from President Wilson down to the last man on the county ticket. Vote for them—because they are for you.

The voters in precinct "A", second ward, Decatur will vote by machine this year and the results should be known by 6:30 Tuesday night, giving something tangible to figure from. Lets make it gain.

Remember when you vote for Mr. Hughes Tuesday that you are also voting for Mr. Roosevelt for the two men are in perfect accord upon every question. Mr. Roosevelt is a dangerous man to monkey with just now.

The Rexall straw vote taken in 8,000 stores over the country gives Wilson about a hundred more electoral votes than Hughes. Indiana, New York and other doubtful states have swung into line and there is a decided trend to the president in every state in the union. You can't beat it.

Senator Thomas Taggart, of Indiana, is a new member of the senate, but he is a man who makes his influence wherever he is, and he certainly made it felt in promoting the passage of the Ashbrook bill. He was one of the senators who could be relied on at every stage of the emergency.—National Tribune.

Democrats should organize for work on election day. Get to the polls early and stay there until six o'clock in the evening. See that those who favor the democratic ticket vote, do a little work for your party if you believe in the great principles we are fighting for. A great deal depends on what you do on election day.

The railroad men are in earnest this year in their fight for Woodrow Wilson who gave them the eight-hour law and they will not back up though the bosses have been planning in various ways to get them to do so. They will refuse to go out on runs unless it is arranged that they vote first. Coercion is not a very popular exercise just now.

Senator John W. Kern should not be forgotten in the expression of gratitude for the passage of the widows' pension bill. As chairman of the democratic steering committee of the senate, Senator Kern had the opportunity to exercise a great deal of influence in promoting the passage of the bill through the senate and he exercised this influence with heartiness and generous sympathy for the poor women whom it would benefit.—National Tribune.

Tom Marshall, whom we all love and admire, democratic candidate for vice president, former governor of Indiana, will close the campaign at Fort Wayne tonight as he has done for a number of years past. The event will be the signal for a great democratic rally which promises to surpass any event of its kind in Indiana this year. There will be a big parade, plenty of red fire, many figures and a real outburst of democratic enthusiasm.

Mr. Voter, you will have an opportunity Tuesday to repay John A. M. Adair for his faithful services to you as your representative in congress. He is a candidate for governor and there is every reason why you should vote for him and none why you should not. He is a splendid citizen, clean morally, upright in all his dealings, honest and square, a business man of more than ordinary ability, he owns no interest in any public utility company, he is not tied to any faction and he will give you a clean administration as governor. You owe him your vote and your assistance next Tuesday.

We feel certain that the great democracy of Adams county will do her part towards the election of the democratic tickets, county, state and national, next Tuesday. This has long been the green spot of Indiana and it will continue to be notwithstanding the fact that the republicans have worked hard, have set up nights to send out "fake" literature and have left no stone unturned to create factional differences among the democrats. We believe the majority in this county will be increased handsomely and that Adams county will continue to be pointed to as the banner territory in the state.

Frank Dailey is gaining national attention by his energetic methods of stopping election frauds. He has the evidence that will probably convict a number of republican leaders who have colonized colored voters in Ohio and Indiana and will attempt to vote them, he has notified factory owners and railroad managers that they cannot intimidate the voters, nor can they use methods designed to prevent them from voting, and he will call a special grand jury session after the election to prosecute those who violate his orders. It's a warning that should be considered or some of these men whose chief labor now is to slip coupons may join the delegation at Leavenworth.

Besides the hostesses' husbands, guests of the Pocahontas Needle club last evening were Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Burgener and Miss Jrene Gregory. Twenty-seven were present, the rain lessening the number. After charades and games, refreshments of hot buttered rolls, veal loaf, pickles, coffee, nabiscoes, jello with whipped cream, were appetizing. The contest for new members is well under way. This will close January 1 and the losing side will banquet the winners. Mrs. Reuben Lord and Mrs. Ed Whitright are captains of the two sides.

Mrs. Carrie Haushold returned yesterday afternoon from Indianapolis. She has been the guest of Mrs. R. K. Allison and daughter, Marie, accompanying them in their automobile two weeks ago. She remained for the state federated clubs' convention, as a delegate from the Euterpean club.

Mrs. Harry Ward arrived from Sanford, Florida, to visit with her mother, Mrs. M. E. Reed, and her sister, Mrs. Will Winnes.

Mrs. J. C. Patterson and daughter Marie, went to Fort Wayne this morning to see the play, "The Bird of Paradise."

The Loyal Women's Bible class met with Mrs. Helen Blossom last evening. Owing to an injury sustained by the teacher, Mrs. J. H. Mavity, Mrs. Blossom taught the class.

Mrs. Emma Daniel will be hostess to the Shakespeare club Wednesday afternoon Mrs. W. A. Lower will have the paper.

Sixty young friends enjoyed the hospitality of Masters David Hensley and Orval Parent at the dance given at the Masonic hall last evening. Miss Agnes Kohne played and between the regular dances, the Misses Charlotte and Margaret Niblick delighted the company with their special dancing. Cherry pop and wafers were refreshments self served.

Mrs. John T. Vail entertained as her house guests, during the convention, Mrs. J. C. White, Elkhart; Miss Olla Davis, Middletown; Mrs. L. H. Bunyan, Richmond; Mrs. J. W. Waggoner, Mrs. W. M. Miller, Mrs. E. N. Wicks, Anderson. Yesterday, a dinner party was given by Mrs. Vail, when those ladies were joined by the Mrs. D. T. Stephenson of Muncie; Mrs. E. T. Gregg, Greencastle; Miss Ora Conrad, Richmond. Mrs. Wicks remained for a week-end visit and today was joined by Mr. Wicks.

Mrs. Ed Whitright will entertain the Evangelical Ladies' Aid society Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mrs. Ben Knapke will entertain the Afternoon Club Tuesday afternoon.

A good attendance is desired for the Presbyterian Woman's Missionary society meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. John Schug. A good program will be announced Monday. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Louisa Meyers and Mrs. L. A. Graham.

Mrs. Bieberich served a fine lunch for the Zion Lutheran Ladies' Aid society yesterday when they held an all day quilting party at the school-house.

Miss Agnes Miller was a pleasing hostess at the home of her mother, Mrs. Verena Miller, on Mercer Avenue last evening, in compliment to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Miller of New York City. Twenty two young ladies were guests. A fine musical program was given. The Victrola furnished music; Misses Stella and Olive Perkins gave a piano duet; and Miss Daisy Reynolds sang. In a bean contest, Miss Grace Hoelens won the first prize; and Miss Agnes Metzgar the "booby." Ice cream and cake were served by the hostess' nieces, the Misses Verena Miller and Baulah and Catherine Nichols. A very fine time was enjoyed.

The W. M. S. of the Reformed church will meet with Mrs. L. W. Stolte at the parsonage Tuesday, November 7th at 2:00 p. m. Program for the day: "Home Missions as an Intergrating Force."
