ONLY A FEW DAYS

Until Short Course Opens

—Get Your Ticket and Attend Every Session.

1,000 AT PORTLAND

Stock and Special Cars to Arrive here over the G. R. & I. Railroad.

With only a few days remaining the opening of the short course in Decatur next week, the committees in charge of the various lines of work and preparation are very active, completing final details.

The short course is such a great educational feature for both young and old that all of the school children in the country who are taking domestic science or agriculture will be permitted to attend the course, as much as they desire, next week, without being counted absent from school.

Since the attendance at the short course is to be given the same credit as the same amount of time spent in school, strict attendance on the part of the children excused from school will be required. Every school child who expects to attend the course should be sure to get a special school child's ticket which will be given free. These tickets will be sent to the teachers for distribution among their pupils and the doorkeeper at the different sessions will punch the tickets as the children enter to give credit for attendance.

At the close of the course, each pupil who has been absent from school to attend the short course must turn his ticket back to the teacher so that the enrollment may be checked up and the students given proper credit. Much credit is due to County Superintendent Christen, the township trustees of the different townships, to city superintendents and to Father Seitzel for the liberal way in which they have been active in supporting this course. Many of the ministers of the church have also been active in their support.

The short course has been at Portland the past week and the ticket sale there has almost reached the thousand mark. The people of Adams county should be equally as interested in a great educational proposition as their neighbors to the south have been and all who are desiring to attend should secure their tickets before the course opens because as soon as there have been enough tickets sold to fill the seating capacities of the different buildings in which the course will be held sale will cease. It will be a case of first come first served and those who are in charge of the course feel that there is more lost than gained by permitting crowding of the places of instruction. Tickets are on sale in every bank in the county, all of the rural school children can purchase tickets for their parents from the rural teachers, and many of the business houses of the country are also selling tickets. If the weather is favorable, prospects are good that the crowd attending will tax the capacity of the different places provided for the course, so if you want in you had better be getting your ticket.

The stock and equipment will arrive tomorrow morning from Portland, where the course has been the past four days. The special car carrying the livestock, and two tons of demonstration equipment will come up on the eight o'clock passenger train from the south in the morning and work will begin immediately unloading and taking the things to the various places in which they will be used.
