EXPECTED THE END

Albert Colchin, in Lett Dated Oct. 20, Said War Would be Over When

LETTER REACHED HERE

Was Near the Birthplace of Father—With the Engineers.

Albert Colchin writes to Clem Voglewede the following letter which was censored in several places, the censor cutting the censored part out:

Somewhere in France, October 28, 1918

Friend Clem:

I suppose you think it strange that you have not heard from me since I arrived in France, have thought of it several times, but always something else turned up.

Well, Clem, France is certainly some country, it looks just like the pictures you have seen of it, a hundred years behind the times. The buildings are mostly all built of stone with a slate or tile roof, and they all look like they had been built for a number of years. The main roads are built of stone. The weather here has been pretty wet. Rains pretty near every day, very few days of sunshine since I have been here. Have not seen any Adams county boys since I have been over here.

I am just — kilometers, or about— miles from my father's birthplace. I want to go there before I leave this country, if I get a chance.

I suppose you received the card, telling of my arrival in France. Well, Clem, I suppose the old town is pretty dead, all the young fellows being gone. I suppose by the time you get this letter the war will be over. I think they will come to some peace terms. We are certainly chasing hell out of them now. How are all the boys getting along. If I ever get time enough will try and write to all of them, but am so busy at present. Give all the boys my best and tell them I am feeling fine and dandy. Well, Clem, this is about all the news at present. will try to write more the next time.

THE BOLSHEVIK!

Must We Fight Another War To Save the World From Its Menace?

A shudder runs through the Western nations as they watch the millions of Central Europe plunge from autocracy toward anarchy, and publicists begin to ask if we must fight again—against the new foe.

"Must we save the world from anarchy" is on every lip and the fact that such questions as these are being asked everywhere is proof enough that "the war does not end when the enemy surrenders" according to The New Republic. On the other hand, we find the Hartford Courant convinced that the scientific socialism of Germany can never develop the disorder that was bound to accompany the Bolshevism inherited from the old Russian nihilism. And the Boston Globe reminds us that "whereas Russia was predominately illiterate, in Germany illiteracy is less than one per cent."

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week deals with the greatest menace that threatens the conclusion of world peace—the Bolsheviks. Other news-features in this particularly interesting number of "The Digest" are:

Records of American and British Navies in the War

The Veil of Silence Is Lifted and in This Article Tribute Is Paid to the Wonderful Work That Both Navies Have Performed

An "Unconditional Surrender"

The Specter of Famine Over Europe

How "The Digest" Will Serve You in the Future

Just as THE LITERARY DIGEST has provided during the long years of war that have just ended the most authoritative and dependable of news articles from week to week, so now, in the wonderful period of reconstruction that lies before us, it will furnish the vital news upon all the great questions of the day in a similarly interesting and comprehensive way. It will cover fully the movements of our troops in Europe, the return of our armies to their native land, the arrangements for disbanding the various units and restoring their members to civil life, the great readjustments that will become necessary in the worlds of finance, commerce, and industry, the rehabilitation of the wounded and crippled, the means by which they may be made self-supporting, etc. All these and many more allied topics in the social, political, and economic fields, will be treated without bias and with the simple aim of presenting the facts for your consideration and judgment. Study them each week in The Digest.
