LIKE AN EYE-OPENER
(United Press Service)
Chicago, April 15.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—The people of European nations, especially of France and Great Britain are today drinking more than ever before, according to Miss Margaret Wintringer, temperance worker here, just returned from a six months survey of conditions abroad. It will take 20 years for prohibition to become effective in Europe, she said.
"In the relaxation period following the war, all classes in Great Britain, France and Belgium are drinking to an appalling degree," Miss Wintringer.

A doctor who had been called to see the wife of a war-made millionaire, found her threatened with tonsillitis, and told her regretfully that he would have to paint her throat with nitrate of silver. "Very well, doctor," she replied, "but the expense is really immaterial. Please paint it with nitrate of gold."
