Entered at the postoffice at Decatur, Indiana, as second-class matter.

On the program this afternoon for the home picnic will appear French Quinn, Col. Fred Reppert, Dr. Fred Patterson and Clark Lutz together with a number of the visitors. Of course it will be good.

The hot weather may make us temporarily forget the fact that most of us have no coal but it won't change matters any and within a month we will perhaps have occasion to think more seriously about the six or seven cold months sure to come.

Every fellow has his troubles and is not greatly interested in those of the others but we should all help when and where we can. It's a fine old world just the same and gradually will regain a normal condition so just keep smiling and working and helping.

The Northern Indiana Fair will have as guests tomorrow Carl B. McCulloch, democratic candidate for governor, and Warren T. McCray, republican candidate for the same office. They are fine men, leaders of the state and deserving of the splendid welcome they will receive in Adams county. You are invited to meet them.

The health exhibit is a fine feature at the fair and is sure to be productive of good results. The addresses by men who know will arouse an interest in humans heretofore much neglected. The work of the Red Cross has more than paid for the trouble and expense and we will hear often of the many good results of this week. It's all fine and the beginning of a new era combining educational features with entertainment.

For hundreds of former residents who are here this week, the home comers picnic will be the outstanding event. We imagine that after one is separated for a few years from the old friends, there is nothing more delightful than to meet with them at an old home week. Each step brings a face they have not seen in years and each visit is a happy one. The occasion today for the purpose of getting all together at one time and it promises to be the big, headliner of the happiest week in many years.

Visitors here for Old Home Week are surprised at the improvements in the old town and say so. With the new industries, the opening of beautiful Belmont park and its possibilities, the building of new homes and business blocks and the people pulling together as never before, there will be no doubt in any one's mind as to our future. Decatur and Adams county will go forward rapidly and will attract here hundreds who wish to live in a live and prosperous and growing community. Of course it pays.

It is reported that a mail automobile, probably running between Cleveland and Chicago goes through this city on Monroe street at a rate of sixty miles an hour or more. We do not believe the department makes this speed necessary or will approve it and we cannot understand why a driver in government employ has any more right to endanger the lives of our citizens than has any one else. Officers should report the affair or stop the wild mail man with a lasso. At least we may know the rules and the cause of the great rush.

In his speech of Saturday, accepting the democratic nomination for the presidency, Governor Cox said: "We are in a time that calls for straight thinking, straight talking and straight acting. This is not time for wabbling." The candidate entirely met these demands, for his speech is a clear and forceful discussion of the issues, and goes straight to the point. It will give the impression, which will be widely shared, that Governor Cox is a more capable man than had been supposed—a man of good intelligence, decision and the courage of his convictions. Most of what he says on the many subjects now uppermost in men's minds is wise, and also well put. On the question of taxation and expenditures he speaks clearly, favoring a reduction of burdensome taxation, the substitution of a small production tax for the crippling taxes now imposed, and such economy—which he thinks easily possible—as will reduce our expenditures to $4,000,000,000, including the sinking fund and interest. The author of the budget plan in Ohio, what he says on this subject has special significance and weight. As president his influence would be used to introduce this much needed feature in our national finances.—Indianapolis News.

PUBLISH MY LETTER

Says Mrs. Ovenstein, So Other Suffering Women May Learn How to Get Well.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered for four years with pains in my sides, hips and legs and a terrible backache. I could not do any work at all. I was treated by many physicians but they did not help me. I read in one of your books where other women had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you have my permission to publish my letter so other women who suffer may learn how to get well."—Mrs. I. A. OVENSTEIN, 902 S. Marshall Ave., Chicago, Ill.

This good old-fashioned remedy is made from native roots and herbs and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

DELCO FURNISHES LIGHT

Walter Fuelling, the local Delco Light dealer, has a high power search light which he used last night to fol- low up the farmer's and mule races. As he focused the light around the track the spectators could see the horses as plainly as in daylight. The lights went out in the grandstand and judge's stand due to the heavy over- load carried by there being so many lights in the park. There was no confusion however for Mr. Fuelling turned his big spot light in the grandstand and the races and other amusements continued the same as before. Mr. Fuelling will use the light tonight and Friday night and you are assured that the night races will be a success.

Wage increases, conditioned on a return to before-the-war efficiency were temporarily granted the Kansas City telephone workers.

"AIR YE COMIN' BACK?"

The following "Pome" was written by a well known Decatur citizen, to whom much credit is due for the success of Old Home Week in 1912:

We want to hear your voice again,
And shake you by the hand;
And ask you how things 'been with you,
And talk to beat the band.
And link our arm in yours, you know,
And hunt a comity seat;
And have a good, old-fashioned chat,
As friends who seldom meet,
And talk about the old boy times;
'Tis folks who lived here then;
And what became of Bill and Joe,
And where's their sister, Jen,
And talk about our barefoot days;
When first we wore long pants;
What fun we had that Christmas time,
The night we had the dance,
You remember you took Molly,
'Twas mighty cold that night;
And I had Billy Jones' girl,
Bill was a whale to fight,
I'm glad I licked him good that time,
You see, I've kept the prize;
She's made me happy all these years,
More'n you can realize,
I've mind the time on Hallowe'en
Bill, Duck and you and me
Put tar on all the school house seats,
And all things else we'd see;
Do you think we'll be forgiven,
For all those awful lies
We told your dear old mother,
When we stole her apple pies,
And I've mind—but what's the use
Of going on like this?
You're coming back to have that chat

SHE CAN TRUTHFULLY SAY—

Hay fever, asthma and bronchial coughs yield to the soothing, healing properties of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as quickly and surely as do ordinary coughs, colds and croup. Mrs. Geneva Robinson, 88 N. Swan St., Albany, N. Y., writes: "I tried Foley's Honey and Tar and results encouraged me to use more. I can truthfully say it is the best cough medicine I ever used. Two bottles broke a most stubborn, lingering cough."

PAY WITH YOUR OWN CHECKS

Storekeepers, it's bad business to pay for goods with checks that have come in to you.

Suppose a question arises over some bill. These held-over-and-passed-on checks do not come back to you, nor do they represent the exact amount of the bill.

Deposit all checks that come in to you. Then draw your own checks in settlement of all bills. Your own cancelled check will settle any dispute in a jiffy.
