ings will be that of executives of the triple alliance—the miners, railway and transport workers. Controlling more than 3,000,000 men the triple alliance was expected to exert powerful influence either toward settlement of the coal strike or the precipitation of further trouble.

Railways will continue to operate on full schedule until the latter part of the week. Even then, it was believed, there will be no drastic cut in service. Suburban and passenger service will be last to go.

The strike leaders said they had ample funds to provide for their members over a long period of idleness.

Although newspapers commented in an optimistic way on the peacefulness of the strike and hoped vaguely for something to turn up to bring about mediation, there appeared no substantial basis for those hopes. Miners' leaders and government officials appeared equally opposed to initiating a settlement. The convening of parliament tomorrow was looked to by some as providing the means of mediation, but no announcement was made by either side that the subject would be presented.

Miners' leaders made last minute appeals to the men today to stand firm, admitting the fight would be hard but assuring them of success.

Washington, Oct. 18.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—The strike of British coal miners, if long continued, will deal a severe blow to world shipping and commerce, according to shipping experts here today.

American shipping, it was said, will feel the effects of the strike less than that of any other nation and his nation may actually gain ocean carrying trade at the expense of other nations.

The lack of coal for bunkering ships will be one of the first effects of the strike to hit world shipping.

New York, Oct. 18.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Fear that the British coal strike may involve other industries caused heavy selling on the cotton exchange here today. Prices broke 30 to 40 points at the opening, with all options at or near the 18 cent level except spot month, which at 19.45 was off 3.

Shortly afterward short covering and buying by Liverpool caused a recovery of 20 to 30 points. Cables predicted half the Lancashire spindles would be idle by the end of the week.

Dick Heller and Herman Myers returned to I. U. yesterday. Their parents accompanied them to Bluffton.

Ralph Tyndall returned to Purdue yesterday.

How far should a woman trust a man—when that man is an artist with a temperament? Because she meets him on a bench in the park, takes him home to dinner and later marries him, should she close her eyes to all that had to do with his past? This is the problem in “Blind Youth.” See it tonight. Same old price, 10 and 15 cents. One of the big ones.

SALE WAS A SUCCESS

The pastry sale conducted this morning at the Schmitt meat market by the Home Economics club of Root township was a decided success. The sale was held with the idea to raise funds for the purchase of kitchen utensils for the use of the domestic science class and patrons of the Mohamoud schools to provide warm lunch for the pupils of the school. The public responded nobly, and the ladies appreciate the fact. We can truthfully say the pies sold were especially fine. Mrs. Dale Moses brought to the new department of this paper a fine sample of the goods the ladies had to sell, and as all the delicacies offered for sale were of the same quality as the pie it is no wonder that everything sold readily.
