MR. PENROSE WISE

BEYOND HIS YEARS:-

Those who hastily, and quite without warrant, concluded that its recent overwhelming defeat meant the death of the Democratic party must have been somewhat startled by the remarks of the Hon. Boles Penrose, who is something of a politician. Whether all will agree that the election was a defeat solely for what Senator Penrose was pleased to call "Wilsonism," and not for the Democratic party as such, most careful observers will admit that the conditions were peculiar. Indeed they must have been to produce so extraordinary a result. With the disappearance of the old issues—or old issues—there is no reason why the defeated party should not put up many another good fight.

So the senator concludes that the Republican party must hereafter win, not on the weakness of its adversary, but on its own strength. And that is an eminently sound view. It is even possible that there may be a change of mind about "Wilsonism." There is nothing permanent about the present situation—or in truth about any situation. "It is well to remember," says the Pennsylvania senator, "that there is an enormous majority in the state and nation due not in any way to the successful candidates." His conclusion is as follows:

It is very easy, to my mind, to picture a situation where Democratic candidates for the senate and house could be successful; and where municipal and state officials could be defeated on other than a Republican basis. In fact, it is easy to mention senators and representatives who, in the last election, never would have seen the light of day on issues which they would have to meet in their respective states, but who were swept into office on the anti-Wilson landslide. In other words, the Republican party must make good to hold even a part of the power it now holds.

This feeling is finding its way into the minds of many Republicans as they face the enormous responsibilities that now rest on them. On the other hand, there are many Democrats who are disposed to look on their banishment from power as a sort of vacation. The Democratic party is likely to be with us for quite a while, as is the Republican party. This will be the clearer the more nearly we approach to "normalcy."—Indianapolis News.

It looks like another "deal from the bottom" had been made by Governor Goodrich in his efforts to keep his promises to Phil Zoercher, a member of the state tax board. A mysterious entry has now been placed on the records at Indianapolis, dated December 4th and showing that Zoercher's term expires January 8th, 1923, giving him two years. It was announced some time ago that Zoercher had been named for four years but Mr. McCray immediately announced he wouldn't stand for it and now this two year bluff is offered, no doubt with the idea in mind that half a loaf is better than none. While Zoercher is certainly putting up a great fight for his job, is willing to swallow his politics and everything else, friends of the governor-elect feel sure it will not work and that shortly after the change in January Mr. Zoercher will be returned to the quiet and private life.

Those who believe they can beat the prohibition laws should be wise enough to know that with each succeeding day, week, month and year, this will be more difficult. The local, state and federal officials will continue to draw around those who violate the laws such a net that escape will be impossible, yet we do not doubt that men will be found who either believe they are smooth enough to beat it or do not care for the results. It will be smoother if those who have "stills" fix them so they will keep still. It should be unnecessary to warn you any plainer. They are after you and the prohibition law is to be rigidly enforced. The officials can do nothing else than this, and will not.

Albert Beveridge, avowed candidate for the republican nomination for senator in two years from now is fighting to save the primary law. Harry New, present incumbent and also a candidate, is against it. In other words the fate of this law, whether good or bad, depends on the whim of a politician. If the law is good for the people, it ought to stand and if it's bad it ought to be scrapped. The success or failure of Beveridge or New should have nothing to do with it, but it has and you will just have to make the best of it.

WHEN "GETS-IT" COMES CORN'S GO

Painless, Sure, Quick is this 2-Drop 2-Seconds Wonder.

There isn't room on the same toe for "Gets-It" as there is for the toe of "Corns" so the corn curl up, shrivels and peels off in your fingers so easily that you are simply astonished, because you can't feel it.

Don't Be a Corn Cripple—Use "Gets-It"

You actually wonder whether it can be possible to walk along for months enduring such misery when you could have had such easy and quick relief. Do you doubt? Prove it to yourself. Money will be fully refunded if "Gets-It" fails. Be sure you get the genuine. There is nothing else like "Gets-It." Sold by druggists everywhere. Costs but a few cents. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

BATTLESHIP Coffee

Fragrant, delicious coffee is the guest of welcome at any table. And how much more eagerly welcomed it is if made with good Battleship Coffee—wax wrapped with all the freshness and flavor sealed in. Ask your grocer for Battleship Coffee.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

You Are a Stranger Here but Once.

MEMBER
FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

The Rockefeller Foundation has turned over to the complete control of France an elaborate anti-tuberculosis organization which has been developed at a cost of four million francs.

Seaweed may be used for fertilizer, braided for fishlines or cord, or burned for iodine content and carbonate of soda in its ashes.

For Holiday Time

An unusually pretty breakfast cap is here offered as a suggestion for a gift. It is a spirited model made of taffeta silk and almost covered with crisp, plaited frills of taffeta ribbon. Such a cap requires a crinoline support and a lining of thin silk.

Pretty Powder Bowls

Pretty powder bowls and baskets are sure of a great vogue for Christmas gifts. The four pictured include a little basket covered with plaited silk, at the upper left, and just below it the puff attached to its cover and ribbon-covered handle. A similar basket, at the right, is surmounted by a little ribbon-dressed doll—a disguised powder puff. At the lower left a glass bowl supports a puff holding a doll's head and at the right a net-covered jar enthrones a Jap baby.

AFTER a baking falls
A—becomes tough or soggy, you can't make it tender and tempting. It can't be "fixed."
It is like spilled milk—"wasted."
But, there is a way to prevent this waste—and every woman should use it—because a bake day loss these days is a real loss. When just an ordinary cake turns out bad—you are out the biggest part of a dollar.

Calumet Baking Powder positively prevents failure. It has been doing it for millions of housewives for a third of a century.
