OUR TOM HAS PLACE IN HISTORY:

The New York Evening Post gives the following tribute to Thomas R. Marshall, retiring vice president:

"However pale the history of the vice-presidency may seem, it is not because men like Arthur, Morton, Stevenson, Hobart, and Roosevelt lacked color. Thomas R. Marshall leaves to Mr. Coolidge, who does not lack salient traits, the example of a warm human personality. We may think of Marshall as a dignified chairman of the senate or a loyal friend of the president; but most Americans think of him less officially. He has been a refreshingly distinctive representative of the middle west.

"Marshall was originally a 'Progressive with the brakes on' who got the name of radical because he wore red neckties and held part of Jefferson's equalitarianism. He is a devout Presbyterian, who dared to exhort a Virginia camp-meeting after his election. He brought to the vice-presidency a love of baseball and—long before Wilson turned to them—detective stories. No one thought the less of him because he boldly avowed a superstitious avoidance of black cats and tilted ladders. In his simplicity, unblushing devotion to his wife, and dislike of 'society,' he was a true Indian—at least as Indiana likes to think. There came to the capitol through him a breath of the prairie setting he once described as most congenial: Maple-shaded streets, a law office over a dry goods store, the county court house, and a home with veranda, bay-windows, and a good library.

"But when men think of Marshall's personality they are likely to think of a talent for epigram far above Fairbank's or Sherman's. The best legislators, he observed yesterday, 'are not mere bellboys, subject to calls for legislative cracked ice every time the victims of a debauch of greed, gambling or improvidence feel the fever.' After the split over free silver, he told Indiana democrats: 'Give me both wings of the party and I will fly to victory.' His most famous utterance has been his declaration that 'I believe, in vested rights but not vested wrongs. No man can hold my stolen horse long enough to get a title to it.' But many will also recall the statement that a party platform ought to be written by three persons, 'a political economist, a philologist, and an honest man.' There was less of mere cleverness in his assurance in dedicating a courthouse that 'When justice ceases to be blind and winks the eye at a favorite litigant she ceases to be a vestal virgin and becomes a courtesan.' He could also be a moralist, as was evinced by his remark on posthumous fame: 'The page-in-history proposition might be more attractive if a corpse could read.'

The session of the legislature which has just closed established a record for spending money that will almost make the people gasp but it seems this doesn't matter much for there are those who argue that it is necessary to keep up with the times. The people here will have to help support the schools in the southern part of the state and their own as well, you must help to pay for expensive garages, a domestic science school for colored girls and a lot of other things that you are not greatly interested in. If you expected relief in any form by the legislature, you will certainly be sadly disappointed.

Postmaster General Will Hays who is also the national chairman of the republican party has issued a warning to the boys in Indiana to go slow on efforts to land jobs, since his appointment is expected to take care of the plum distribution in his own state. Billy believes in looking after himself first and letting those who do the work take what's left if they can get it.

The circuit judges get a boost of salary of $4,200 per year as a result of the recent spend-thrift legislature and the county commissioners over the state get a surprise in the way of comfortable increases. Just why the rest of the officials didn't score is not plain but they didn't.

New hair for You?

Hair has been grown again, after baldness, in many cases. This is now scientifically proved. Yours may be an amenable case, but you have not been using the proper relief. So do not delay in applying KOTOLKO. The producers are so confident they offer you satisfactory hair growth or your money back. Get a small box of KOTOLKO at any active drug store. Apply KOTOLKO each day—watch your mirror! Do a kindly act, show bald friends this advertisement.

The socialists will picket the white house, hoping thus to influence President Harding to give Debs his liberty. They will probably not be given the consideration that the suffrage leaders got and they are likely to be sent to Atlanta where they can talk it over with Mr. Debs to their hearts content.

If you can spare a few dollars, send a check to the United Charities board, Cal E. Peterson, secretary. Funds are needed to meet expenses of taking care of a few needy people in this community.

To Take the Place of Inferior Quality—Governor Welcomes Clothiers

Indianapolis, March 9.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Higher prices in clothing were predicted here today by the Indiana Retail Clothiers' and Furnishers' in their annual convention. They declared this is due to the fact that the markets have been flooded with inferior materials and that the public is demanding better quality of clothes.

Although labor costs have decreased, very slightly, the further decrease predicted will not bring the level to the prices that prevailed before the war.

The clothiers were welcomed to Indianapolis by Governor McCray and Secretary of State Ed Jackson.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR MARCH 13

THE LAST PASSOVER.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 26:14-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—As often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come.—1 Cor. 11:26.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Mark 14:17-26; Luke 22:14-20; John 13:1-30; 1 Cor. 11:23-26.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus at Supper With His Friends.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Remembering Our Lord Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Lord's Supper and Its Meaning.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Communion With Christ.

I. The Bargain of Betrayal (vv. 14-16).

This is a dark picture. Satan had so completely gained the mastery over Judas that he sold his Lord for the price of a slave (Ex. 21:32). Judas' sin was not of a sort that one would suddenly be overtaken with, but one of deliberate purpose.

II. The Passover Prepared (vv. 17-19).

1. The disciples' inquiry (v. 17). They inquired of Jesus as to where they should prepare for the Passover. They were no doubt anxious to be of service to Him. We should be not only ready to do our Lord's bidding, but should inquire of Him as to what He would have us do.

2. The Master's strange directions (v. 18). They were to go into the city where they would meet a man bearing a pitcher of water. It was usual for the women to carry the water. This unusual occurrence would make it easier for them to find the man. To him they were to say, 'Where is the guest-chamber where I shall eat the Passover with my disciples?' 'And he will show you a large upper room furnished and prepared, there make ready for us' (Mark 14:14, 15).

3. The obedience of the disciples. They did as Jesus had appointed them. They did not stop to question the sanity of the command, but like true disciples obeyed. Christ is omniscient. He knew just how the matter would turn out.

III. The Betrayal Announced (vv. 20-25).

1. The time of (vv. 20, 21). It was while they were eating the last passover that Jesus made this announcement. Perhaps the reason why this feast should be disturbed by such a sad announcement was that Judas might be given an opportunity at this last moment to repent. God does not will that any should perish, but holds out to the most wicked man to the last moment an opportunity to repent.

2. The sorrowful question (v. 22). They did not seem to suspect one another, but directed personal attention to themselves. We should always examine ourselves rather than others.

3. The darkness of the crime (v. 23). 'He that dipeth his hand with me in the dish, the same shall betray me,' does not point out the traitor, but indicates the greatness of the crime.

4. The betrayal of Jesus was by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God (v. 24; Acts 2:23). Nothing takes place by chance. 'Woe unto the man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed; it had been good for that man if he had not been born.' To have been born in the world and lived for a while, leaving an impression upon it for good is a great privilege, but to be face to face with such a great privilege as Judas Iscariot, and to make such a miserable failure of it is worse than nonexistence.

5. Judas' evil determination unshaken (v. 25). In the face of all that Christ had said, he went forward and tried to cover up his purpose by saying, 'Master, is it I?'

IV. The Feast of the New Covenant Instituted (vv. 25-30).

This took place at the close of the passover supper.

1. The bread a symbol of Christ's body (v. 26). This is a fitting emblem of Christ's body. As bread nourishes and strengthens our bodies, so Christ is food to our spiritual lives. Unless we feed upon Him, we shall perish.

2. The cup a symbol of Christ's blood (vv. 27, 28). This was symbolic of the atonement which was made by the shedding of His blood on the cross.

3. Drinking anew in the kingdom (v. 29). This does not mean that in heaven this service will be renewed, but that this was symbolic of the heavenly reality.

4. Going to the cross with a song (v. 30). With all the sorrows and the burdens of the world upon Him, He pressed forward with cheerfulness. Those who have come under the shadow of His blood can go forward bearing their cross with a song of joy.

The Otterbein Guild of the United Brethren church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mary Baumann. Election of officers was in order, and the following were elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, Gertrude Chronister; vice president, Marie Hill; secretary, Mary Baumann; assistant secretary, Lola Schwartz; treasurer, Zelma Nelson; secretary of literature, Edna Brown; secretary of thank offering, Tressella Murphy. The delegates appointed to attend the convention at Fort Wayne to be held May 3rd to 5th, were Zelma Nelson and Marie Hill.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion held the usual business meeting Tuesday evening, and the session proved very interesting. The ladies donated $5 to the United Charity fund. One new member was taken into the organization. Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. The auxiliary is planning great things. Watch them grow.

ANCIENT ROME

The catacombs are 530 miles in extent.

Tattooing was a distinct trade in ancient Rome.

Charioteers in the Roman arenas turned to the left.

Coffins of marble and stone were the casquets of well to do Romans.

The first known use of asbestos was in the manufacture of the cremation robes of the Romans.

The Roman signal for battle was the unfurling of a red flag; the white flag has always been a sign of truce or peace.

The legion, the chief division of the Roman army, consisted of about 6,000 men on foot and a contingent of cavalry.

The Appian Way is the oldest and most famous of the Roman military highways. It was begun by Appius Claudius Caecus in 312 B. C. and originally extended from Rome to Capua, about 120 miles.

Tradition says Rome was founded by Romulus and Remus, sons of Rhea Silvia, a priestess of the goddess Vesta, and Mars, the god of war. The date of the city's founding is generally fixed at 754 B. C. The history of ancient Rome covers twelve centuries, from its foundation to its downfall in 476 A. D.

"Uppers cracked and one boot leaking. Can't go to town until Saturday! Next time, I'll buy HOODS."

THE uppers on most red boots crack very quickly when exposed to sun and air. While no boot can stand undue exposure, the Hood Pressure Process produces a boot exceptionally free from this objectionable feature. When you buy a red boot with a yellow label and the word HOOD on it, you are getting the latest development—an upper that will stand rough treatment combined with the newest tire-tread soles, which means long wear and good looks. HOOD is your guarantee.

Ask any dealer or write us.

HOOD RUBBER PRODUCTS COMPANY, INC.

WATERTOWN, MASSACHUSETTS

"I never knew how good rubbers could be," White Rock wearers tell us. That will be your experience, too, because not a single pair leaves the HOOD plant without full inspection. Sturdy, gray, tire-tread soles joined to heavy black uppers by the Hood Process. Made in all sizes for all kinds of hard service. They are leaders.

Hood made the first Kattle King. And it has never been successfully imitated. Just look them over next time you're in the store. All rubber uppers, that clean easily. Tough soles that give miles and miles of wear. Heavy brown fleece linings that keep the feet warm, and many other points of superior construction. Ask for Kattle Kings and look for the name HOOD.
