The candidates will go before the people next autumn and will tell you what they stand for—it will then be up to the voters.

If you study primary election returns you will notice indications that many of those who voted for normalcy last fall didn't mean it.

The Lucy Stone League composed of married women has adopted the slogan "keep your own name." That's easy, provided they get the idea soon enough.

Removing the excess profits tax will not greatly affect the amount of revenue collected, since there will probably be no excess profits this year.

They must have gotten their lings mixed in Milwaukee, where the council refused to give official welcome to General Pershing. He didn't put the ban on beer.

Don't you think that perhaps the serious times, the fact that many are out of work, and things are rather upside down had something to do with the light vote cast in republican centers yesterday? That's the way it always has worked and perhaps always will.

After raising hope high in the breasts of those who favor beer as a medicine, the administration kills it all by the announcement that the original order permitting its sale under certain regulations has been indefinitely postponed awaiting action by congress. Looks like another long dry spell.

Settlement of the controversy between the allies and Germany concerning reparation seems near and the world is hoping that it may be so. Until this transaction is disposed of to the satisfaction of everyone concerned, we will not get far and it's time to be going forward instead of backward as has the world done the past seven years. The wonder of it all is that we have anything left to build from after so long a period of scientific destruction in war.

The vote cast yesterday in Decatur was only forty-one per cent of the registered vote and forty-five per cent of that cast last November. It was not as good a showing as should have been made for local elections are most important. The democrats cast seventy-three per cent of the vote of last November and the republicans about fourteen per cent. Get your pencils out now and figure the result of the final.

The smoke of the skirmish has cleared away and everybody seems happy today. The democrats selected a strong ticket and those who lost are smiling and congratulating the winners today. It was a fair primary with no ill feeling and the losers will be loyal boosters for the winners. The republicans had no contests and the ticket as selected is no doubt satisfactory to the great majority of them. So everybody's happy.

The democrats cast about the same vote in Fort Wayne yesterday as the republicans though the contest by the g. o. p. was much noisier. Mr. Hosey made a remarkable showing and many are guessing that he will be again chosen mayor of that city next November. He is an expert on municipal affairs and the administration in that city for the past four years has caused a good many to decide that Hosey is about the right man for the place. His opponent will be Mr. Gillie.

All over Indiana where primaries were held yesterday the vote cast was very light. Even in those cities where hot fights were staged the vote was far below former years. In Fort Wayne only one-third of the vote was cast and in other places it was similar. There are a number of reasons. In the first place city campaigns are short and the interest is rarely as great as in other elections and in the second place a lot of people who were well satisfied with conditions as they existed a year ago are now out of work, down in the mouth and in a don't care mood. The things which go wrong will be charged to the republican party and with more or less right for campaign promises should be kept. The restoration of "normalcy" will not prove as popular as it may have looked to you. We are a queer people when it comes to conducting government and we sure do change our minds. It need not surprise you if the results next November and for several elections to come show a very decided trend back to democracy.

John Burroughs, whose death America mourns, died a poor man. His estate is appraised at only $5,000. A multitude of people who live and die in obscurity accumulate in their lives as much and more. And yet for all his poverty in material goods, John Burroughs lived and died a millionaire. He was rich—immediately rich—in his love for his fellowman, and in the love of his fellowman for him. He was rich—immediately rich—in the love for every living thing, and in the love of every living thing for him. The birds and flowers and trees and all else loved John Burroughs. They opened their souls to him, and told him things vouchsafed to no other. And Burroughs, generous and whole-hearted, shared with all men this treasure. For that Americans hold him in affection. The news reports are in error when they say that John Burroughs died a poor man. He lived and died many times a millionaire. And the currency in which his wealth is measured never depreciates. That means much to all of us, who inherit his estate.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a Decatur woman says:

Mrs. Frank Bogner, 1104 W. Monroe St., says: "I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills is a most excellent remedy because I have used them. Whenever I have caught cold my kidneys would become disordered. My back would get sore and stiff and sharp twinges would go through me when I would get up from a chair. I suffered a great deal before I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They soon put a stop to the trouble. It has now been sometime since I have used a kidney remedy." (Statement given Nov. 7, 1915.)

Doan's is a wonderful, penetrating, disappearing liquid and is soothing to the most delicate skin. It is not greasy, is easily applied and costs little. Get it today and save all further distress.

TOO MUCH MONEY

Little Negro Wench in Texas Wins Suit Which Will Bring Her Millions

"AIN'T GOT IT YET"

Is Her Reply to Questions
as to What She Will do
With All That Coin

United Press Service.

Dallas, Texas, May 4—(Special to Daily Democrat)—A negro sat in a tumble-down shack in the negro quarter on Hill street here today and stoutly refused to get excited over the battle involving millions of attorneys are waging about her claims to oil fields.

Little Gussie Taylor, the negro, who explains to visitors that her health is poorly and ah ain't no great hand to talk nohow, merely shrugged her shoulders when reporters told her she had won her suit in the Louisiana state supreme court and established her title, insofar as state courts are concerned, to what her attorneys declared is the biggest producing lease in the Great Homer, La., oil fields.

The land, about three miles from the town of Homer, has already produced about $5,500,000 worth of oil.

A suit pending in the circuit court of appeals at New Orleans will with the state court verdict, complete establishment of her title if she wins it, her lawyers said, and will probably make her one of the richest negroes in the world.

"Ah ain't got this monty yet," she reminded friends today who sought to plan for her what to do with "all that money." She punctuated the remark with a cough and drew a ragged shawl about her shoulders and huddled closer to the dim flame of the oil lamp that, behind drawn blinds, flickered its rays about the darkened room and rejected from what was once a red rug.

The woman's fight for fortune centers about land in Claiborne Parish, Louisiana, that she once abandoned as worthless, lawyers declared.

The exact amount of money Lillie will realize if she wins will be hard to estimate. The lands are variously estimated worth from $8,000,000 to $15,000,000. Her lawyers, finding her in poverty, accepted the suit on a fifty-fifty basis—getting half the winnings. She has also disposed of a part of her share in the claims, it was announced.

MRS. KAUFFMAN THANKFUL

INDIANA WOMAN
WAS ASTONISHED

Mrs. Crackel Restored to Perfect Health by Tanlac—Suffered Eight Years

"I am so happy since this wonderful Tanlac has relieved me of my sufferings that I just talk about it all the time," declared Mrs. Jess Crack-el, 719 Chestnut street, Evansville,

Ind.

"I suffered almost constantly for eight long years with stomach trouble. After meals the gas which formed in my stomach pressed around my heart, almost cutting off my breath, and I was miserable for hours. I was intensely nervous and tossed for hours at night before I could go to sleep. I was all run down and felt so weak and trembly that I could scarcely do more than five minutes' housework without stopping to rest. All the medicine I had taken failed to do me a particle of good, and I was so bung over my condition I didn't think there was any use of trying any further."

"Well, sir, Tanlac was just what I needed. It gave me a fine appetite and soon I was eating regular meals
without the least trouble afterwards.

So I kept on taking Tanlac and improving so fast it was astonishing. I have taken eight bottles now and am like a different woman. I'm all over my nervousness and sleep so good that the nights are not long enough. I feel so refreshed when morning comes I can work all day and never stop to rest. Tanlac deserves all the praise that can be given it, and I have told lots of my friends and neighbors how it has made life worth while for me.
I wouldn't take anything in this world
for the good this Tanlac has done
me."
