SELF CONCEIT:

"The Witness is doing now what it did eighteen years ago—fighting for the majesty and sanctity of our laws. At least two of the men who were rejected will not let their case rest with their last application for naturalization papers, and the final outcome of it will show whether or not the Witness is right.—Adams County Witness."

It must be terrible to be such a martyr. Rohrer knows that the cases mentioned were refuted at the suggestion of the court he now seeks to defile for political purposes only and he expects the two to secure the final papers and then claim credit for forcing the court to do his suggestion.

He knows too that the papers were denied them in the first hearing not because of any of the reasons he suggests but because of them refusing to the satisfaction of the government representative to answer the question as to whether or not they would agree to defend their country if invaded. He knows that if the men are entitled to citizenship they will get it and that anything he might say or do would in no wise effect the outcome. He is using hypocritical methods to take credit for matters over which he has no control and by intimating unfairness and by quoting questions asked by the government examiner he hopes to gain personal credit. It's worse than conceit, it's childishness. "O Boy," is the correct signature for his outbursts.

If there is anything to which the republican party is pledged it is a policy of simplification of our taxation system and a reduction of taxes, not only on individuals, but on business, to the end that our industrial and commercial life may be freed from sorely hampering limitations. It is almost a year since Mr. Harding was elected, and that program still halts. Nor is there the least assurance that the new tax bill when it emerges, will be in any respect satisfactory. The chances rather are that it will be a mere makeshift, wholly temporary in character. Hardly less important is the railroad problem. The president has asked for authority to make the adjustment that must be made—ought to have been made long ago—if prosperity is to be our portion. Yet that matter too still waits. When it comes to making trouble for the executive and the country, congress is very prompt and decided—or rather the senate is, as when it, on the eve of the president's conference, passed the Borah bill giving the free use of the Panama canal to our coasting trade interests. There is thus abundant basis for criticism, and the wonder is that it has not been more pointed and severe. — Indianapolis News.

Herbert Hartman, republican candidate for police judge at Indianapolis, his wife and brother, were arrested yesterday on federal indictments charging them with violation of the prohibition acts. Hartman still refuses to get off the ticket. He was arrested a few days ago in connection with an inter-state burglary conspiracy and with this additional charge he will find politics a lively road to travel. Shanks, the candidate for mayor, is a friend of Hartman but has not been connected with any of the crimes charged to the candidate for judge though it puts him in a rather uncomfortable position. The eyes of the state are on the Indianapolis campaign.

It does take a lot of nerve for the railroad heads to tell the trainmen to get ready for another ten per cent cut when they have called a strike on the original 12 1/4 reduction in wages, and at the same time announce there will be no cut in freight rates. If the strike comes and business is paralyzed, the public is going to find out who is to blame and just what's what though it may be a rather expensive and disastrous investigation. It will however be a speedier one than when congress appoints a committee.

The cost of building four dreadnaughts, battleships for a show navy, would put the entire cost of the finest kind of a thirty foot highway from New York to San Francisco and another from the gulf to the lakes. Which is the more sensible investment? Which will do you the greatest good? Which will provide employment for the most people? It ought to be easy to see that the sooner we disarm and get to doing the things which will advance us as a nation, the better we will be off.

A SPENDTHRIFT

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 15.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—John D. Rockefeller grew so enthusiastic over the singing of a little girl on a ferry boat crossing the Hudson river today that he dug down in his pockets and presented her with two bright new ten cent pieces. Rockefeller was sitting in his automobile crossing from New York to Tarrytown. He applauded when the girl finished singing to the accompaniment of boat musicians. He gave the dimes to his chauffeur to be given to the girl with his compliments.

USE CORN FOR FUEL.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 15.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—With corn bringing only 17 to 18 cents a bushel on the farms or $1.50 per ton, many farmers and some town people in the corn belt are burning corn in preference to coal, according to local commission men.

Coal prices here range from $10 to $25. Farmers say three tons of corn equals one ton of coal and is a cheaper fuel.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Beatty from east of town, shopped here this afternoon.

WICKEDEST BUFFALO EXECUTED BY OWNER

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 15.—Geronimo, the wickedest old buffalo bull that ever lowered his shaggy head, is dead. Geronimo was owned by Charles Irwin, of the Y-6 ranch. But Geronimo's meanness increased with age. Wire fences meant nothing to him, and the buffalo became a common sight on many ranches. Naturally, ranchmen cursed Geronimo's existence, as their cattle escaped through the gaps in the fences. Reports of badly gored cattle came to Irwin, and one morning a particularly fine bull was found disemboweled. A few hours later, Geronimo appeared at his wallow, his head matted with blood.

And so, on circumstantial evidence, the big buffalo was executed by Irwin. His head, with its wickedly gleaming eyes hangs on the wall of the living rooms of the Y-6 ranch house. His hide makes a beautiful rug.

"And his spirit," reads the signboard above his grave, erected by cowboys on the Y-6 "is to be found among the phantom herds of Paradise, where Geronimo, the bison incarnation of the devil himself, has ceased his roaming and fence-walking and treacherous charges, to find happiness in the society of his kind."

JITNEY DRIVERS UP.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 15.—(Special to Daily Democrat).—Jitney bus drivers who had agreed that one of their number should be made the "goat" and should stand arrest and trial to test the constitutionality of the ordinance passed recently by the council prohibiting busses from operating on streets where street cars run, were taken by surprise this morning when not only Summer Denny—the driver who has consented to be the "goat" but several others, as well were arrested by the police. The drivers had made up a pool to pay the costs of the trial but now all are to appear in court Saturday. In the meantime all drivers who were released on bond are continuing to operate their busses while the police declared they will be re-arrested each day they continue in business.

Public Sale

of Big Type Chester White Hogs

Wed. October 19, 1921

This is the home of Buuck's Wonder, the largest and best Big Type Chester White Boar in Adams county. He will mature into an 800 lb. hog by next fall when fair time comes again. This is the very best offering I have ever had on any sale before this, and I doubt whether they can be found anywhere else.

Attention, Farmer Friends!

Can you make money growing Oats? No.
Can you make money growing Wheat? No.
Can you make money growing Rye? No.
Can you make money growing Corn, selling to the elevator at 60 cents per hundred? No.

CAN YOU MAKE MONEY FEEDING CORN TO GRADE HOGS?
YES YOU CAN MAKE A FOURTH MORE FEEDING PURE BRED HOGS.

Now is the time when every farmer must make every bushel of corn bring in every cent possible. You can get the greatest returns feeding Chester White Hogs. They mature quicker, and produce more pounds of pork per bushel of corn than any other breed.

There never was a better time to start to raise Pure Bred Chester White Hogs than today. This is a better time to buy than to sell.

Hogs can be bought worth the money these days and there is no excuse for a farmer to waste his feed on scrub hogs. It is important that the farmer get all he can from what he has and the only way to get the maximum returns from swine is to have Pure Bred Chester White Hogs and give them proper care.

You can secure some of the best that grows in my sale October 19, 1921. I will offer 20 fall yearlings and 15 spring gilts, and 5 boars on this day. As I am not going to hold a brood sow sale this coming winter I will sell this offering with the privilege to breed to either one of my herd boars free of charge.

Sale will be held on the farm 10 miles northwest of Decatur or 6 miles east and 1 mile north of Ossian.
