Col. Igleheart of Elizabethtown, Ky., was welcomed into the classroom with chorus singing "My Old Kentucky Home," followed by yell "Rah, Rah, Rock, Kentucky Duroc, Igleheart, Igleheart, Igleheart."

It is rumored that Jess Sellmeyer is leaving Decatur as a graduate of Reppert's Auction School. Manufacturers of erasers, take notice.

The school and faculty were given a treat yesterday in the semi-annual address delivered by Miss Agnes Costello.

We wonder how it is that Col. Reppert knows so well about the proposals made by Grass Widows by Col. Hull. Poor Hull's still single which causes us to say that "some guy is always taking the joy out of life."

Edgar A. Gust through the medium of Col. Perdue is lecturing daily to us, which proves that Col. Reppert is procuring the best talent possible.

Did you ever see a more disappointed Gent (?) than Cottingham with his high hat and low cane?

Gillie becomes so excited while playing with his pocket knife, that Emmons is forced to call Col. Perdue's attention. Possibly saving the entire army.

Hackman is becoming more alarmed. Murdock is wearing a new suit.

Wanted! To rent a farm, grain rent preferred, have not fully decided upon share I should receive; possibly 25.—Dr. Cummons.
