THE NEW CLUB:—

The Jefferson club of Adams county, organized last evening, will be a means of spreading the doctrines of democracy to the people of the county and should prove a great adjunct to the democratic party. The purpose of the club, it is announced, is that alone. They will assist the central committee and will, besides, provide many evenings of pleasure for those who attend the meetings. The officers named, J. T. Kelly, president; Dr. Vizard, vice president; Herman Ehinger, secretary, and Mrs. Fred Heuer, treasurer, are each capable and worthy and will do more than their part to make the club the biggest organization in the state of its kind.

Two thousand members is the goal and if a proper interest is taken it can easily be reached. It is proposed to bring to this city speakers of state and national reputation to discuss the political questions of importance and some rousing meetings are anticipated. The democratic party in Adams county has been known for more than half a century as the greatest fighting organization in the state and undaunted by normalcy will so continue through the Jefferson club, in season and out. You are invited to the first meeting on February 10th and to become a full-fledged member.

Government statistics for the past year show that the much-talked of "back to the farm" movement is growing stronger. There was a falling off during the year in the number of boys who gave up farm life for the glare of city lights and the noise of city streets. The heavy salaries paid during the war in the cities of the land began to drop last year, and the boys who had deserted towns the size of Decatur, and those who had quit the farms for fancy salaries began to return to their old homes. Not only that, but the boys who hadn't left but were wishing for an opportunity, changed their minds when they saw wages commence to tumble. The tendency of farm boys and girls to enter agricultural colleges was greater in 1921, too, than for a long time, and this gave the back-to-the-farm movement added strength. For it proves that at last our boys and girls are commencing to realize that slowly but surely the best paying jobs—and the ones that carry the most happiness—are not to be found where life is the "fastest" and gayest.

Much alarm has been expressed about business the past year, so the recent report of R. G. Dunn is of interest. It shows that there were 19,652 business failures in the United States in 1921. To the average Decatur citizen this sounds bad. But not when it is known that the report for 1915 showed 20,596, and with a smaller number of firms doing business. The 1921 percentage of failures, to the total number of firms doing business was about one to each one hundred. So long as American business can remain 99 per cent sound in spite of the after-effects of the world's biggest war, there is no reason for crepe-hanging. The present year will show its per cent of breaks and receiverships, because there are still some firms operating under unsound principles. But the percentage of fatalities should be smaller than in 1921, and for the big majority the outlook for success is bright. It is especially so for the firms that produce economically and offer good values.

We believe the senator who said "the papers of Michigan were bought with Newberry money to seat Newberry" is badly mistaken. Not that we are defending Newberry—we care nothing about him, but we do know enough about the honesty of newspapers to know that no man is going to buy enough of them to put him in the senate. He might win one over here and there, by the use of money, but to say that "the papers" were purchased is a statement as broad and as unbelievable as to say "the preachers" were purchased and the churches corrupted. There are a few black sheep in the newspaper world, but men who have formed the opinion that they are all alike and who started in to buy or bribe them soon found that crooked editors are mighty few and mighty far between. It has been tried—and every time it failed.

Mayor Shank got what he expected when he attempted to have the governor pre-emptorily dismiss the public service commission, but the fact that twelve thousand men marched to the capital and expressed themselves in cheers ought to be sufficient to cause the members of the commission and those of the administration to stop, look and listen. The people are tired to death of being commissioned and bureaucratized and governed by rules not found in the statute books and the rumble will grow louder as time goes on.

It should be to the interest of every citizen of this community that the Decatur Industrial association be revived and the time to start it is at the annual meeting Monday night. Be there and offer your suggestions and help make this body a real, live and hustling one.

Congress is to investigate the Knickerbocker horror in Washington, which means nothing particularly, except that it will give an opportunity for speeches and distracting attention from matters which should be the business of that body.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Ladies! Try This! Darkens Beautifully and Nobody Can Tell—Brings Back Its Gloss and Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," has avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

CONNIE LIKES WORKING GIRL PARTS BEST, FOR SHE ONCE EXPECTED TO BE ONE HERSELF

Constance Talmadge says that she would rather take the part of a poor working girl than portray any other character, because at one time she expected to become a stenographer herself.

"I would have studied stenography had it not been for Norma's entrance into motion pictures," she said. "Then the picture bug hit me. I got the habit of accompanying my sister to the studio and one day had a chance to earn five dollars as an extra girl. I was very glad, as I believe in girls earning their own living. This is why I am so sympathetic towards the working girl, for I feel that I am one of them at heart."

Constance Talmadge is poorer from a standpoint of dollars and cents than ever before as the heroine in "Good References," her latest First National starring vehicle, which will be shown at the Crystal today and Wednesday.

PAINS ACROSS SMALL OF BACK

Husband Helped in Housework.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Strong

Foster, Oregon.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains across the small of my back. They bothered me so badly that I could do my work only with the help of my husband. One day he saw the 'ad' in our paper, telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing for women, so I began to take it. It has helped me wonderfully. I am feeling fine, do all my housework and washing for seven in the family. I have been irregular too, and now am all right. I am telling my friends what it has done for me and am sure it will do good for others. You can use this letter as a testimonial. I will stand up for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound any time." —Mrs. WM. JUHNKE, Foster, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Shosenberg of 110 Mercer avenue entertained Saturday afternoon, honoring the tenth birth anniversary of their daughter, Dora. The afternoon was spent in dancing and enjoying several contests at which the lucky ones were Dorothy Haley and Gertrude Teems. Later ice cream was served and the huge birthday cake was cut. Many beautiful gifts were received by the little hostess from her guests. Those present were Dorothy and Gertrude Haley, Gertrude and Gladys Teems, Dorothy Christen, Mary McIntosh, Isabel Cloud, Juanita Knodle, Helen Croister, Marcia Martin and Rowena Meyer.

Doing the housework for a family of seven is some task. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, or are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.
