POULTRY MEETING

Every one interested in poultry is invited to attend and the meeting is sure to be instructive.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

A letter was sent Wednesday to Senators Harry New and James E. Watson by B. M. Schultz, a public accountant with the A. W. Beaber company, of this city, in which he explains a plan for a sixth option to the Adjusted Compensation bill for the relief of the ex-soldiers. His plan, if adopted, would offer to ex-servicemen a part of the large quantity of government property collected during the war, such as motor trucks, tractors, mules, horses, etc. He states in his letter that the plan of compensation would undoubtedly prove a benefit to many men and would materially lighten the cash bonus.—Fort Wayne News.

LAKE FISHING IS GOOD

E. A. Mallonee, of Rome City, was here today attending to business. He is an old Decatur resident but for several years has resided at Rome City. He says the fishing through the ice has been fine and during the past two weeks he has caught more than two hundred blue gills. The ice is about twelve inches thick and is being shipped out by the car load. Fire Sunday destroyed three cottages in the woods just back of the Judge Smith cottage, causing a loss of about $4,000. The fire started in the Darnell cottage and spread to the others.

BUYS TWENTY-THIRD STORE

A deal was announced today in which the Morris five and ten cent stores company has purchased of Earl McFarren and H. H. Redding a five and ten cent store at Crawfordville, of which they will take possession on completion of the invoice, which was begun Monday morning. Harry McFarren and Will Morris went to Crawfordville, to help with the invoice. This makes the twenty-third store for the Morris company. George Morris stated this morning that the company expects to add two or three more stores to their string during the year. McFarren and Redding still own two stores, located respectively at Greenfield and Lebanon.—Bluffton Banner.

READY FOR FAIR

second, because the Northern Indiana fair is considered by livestock men to be one of the important events of the year, and from year to year the prizes are larger than those offered by any state fair, hence it is considered quite an honor to be a winner in the Northern Indiana livestock exhibit.

Concession men are writing in and reserving space, as the large throngs which stream through the gates at the Northern Indiana fair appeal to them. The fair association asks the cooperation of every one in Adams county, and especially they would like to know about entries and exhibits for the coming exhibition.

If you have anything you desire to enter, call on J. O. Selmeyer, manager, Peoples Uo & Trust company building, or 'phone 606.

TAYLOR SCHOOL

to eliminate the National Association of Local Preachers, which had control of the institution previously. It was the understanding of Rev. Morrison and members of the conference that the trustees to whom the university was turned over by the Maryland corporation of the national association of local preachers were assuming control of the university only under consideration that it should be turned over to the control of the M. E. church. It is said that a deed with the provision as issued is recorded at Marion, Ind.

It is forecasted that the national association of local preachers will start court action soon to force over the property under the claim that the trustees of the university have not fulfilled their obligations. Members of the committee of the North Indiana conference found the college in very bad circumstances.
