TOTAL OF $33,000,000 SPENT FOR HIGHWAYS IN STATE LAST YEAR.

Indianapolis, May 8.—Indiana spent $33,000,000 for highways in 1921.

Of this, the counties spent $8,000,000 of roadtax funds and $17,00,00 of road construction bonds.

The state highway department spent $8,000,000 for building bridges, constructing roads and maintenance of 3,300 miles of highway.

These figures were announced by a member of the Indiana Motor Transport today.

They were compiled from statistics from the highway commission reports and statistics from the counties. The county figures are particularly conservative, the members said. The figures quoted do not include expenditures of four of the large and prosperous counties, which undoubtedly spent $3,000,000 or more in tax funds and incomes from bond issues during 1921.

A vast portion of the total of $33,000,000 went into gravel, stone and other water-bound highways and for construction and maintenance. To date the state highway system has less than three hundred miles of permanent, hard-surfaced roads. There are also about 33,000 miles of improved county roads and only 1,000 are hard surfaced.

Indiana, including counties, spent much more money than nearby state, it was said. It has less than one-fourth of the mileage of hard surfaced roads in its state system compared to that built by Illinois or Ohio.

THREE LICENSES TO PLAY SAFE

London, May 8.—When the aged cousin of a prominent peer decided after a lifetime of celibacy to run the final lap in double harness, he played safe.

First he applied to the Archbishop of Canterbury's Faculty Office, for sanction to marry the lady of his choice at St. Margaret's church, Westminster.

The next day he sought and obtained a license at a register office to marry there another woman.

The third day he went back to the Faculty office and asked for a license to marry a third choice, this time at St. James's church, Piccadilly.

It was explained that it was possible to marry only one woman at a time, and that the Faculty Office could not issue another license.

"I already have a second license," he explained, "am getting old and cannot propose with the fervor of a younger man, but I am fairly certain one of them will marry me if I show the license."

He didn't get the third license.

OREGON PAPER GIVES INTERESTING NEWS OF FORMAL LOCAL RESIDENT

A copy of the Oregonian, Portland, Oregon, received by Mrs. John S. Peterson from her sister, Mrs. Earl B. Parker, contained the following item of particular interest here because Mrs. Parker as well as the hostess, Mrs. F. E. Taylor who was formerly Miss Sophia Mangold were former residents here:

"Mrs. B. Earl Parker was a guest of honor this afternoon at a tea for which Mrs. F. E. Taylor was hostess at her home at No. 270 Shenandoah terrace. Mrs. Parker has recently come to Portland from Indiana to make her home. She is the wife of the new pastor of the first Methodist church of this city.

"Spring blossoms filled the rooms and were used as a centerpiece for the tea table. The guests were received at the door by Miss Fannie F. Taylor, daughter of the hostess. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. John H. Stevenson and Mrs. H. J. Jaeger. Miss Alice Genevieve Smith, harpist, furnished music for the guests during the afternoon.

"At the tea table were Mrs. Rupert V. Hauser, Mrs. Charles F. Wright, Mrs. Carl C. Murphy and Mrs. John B. Yeon. Assisting about the rooms in serving were Mrs. Leon Bullier, Mrs. George Cornwall and Miss Marion Jarker and Miss Gardener. About 100 guests called during the afternoon."
