SOMETHING NEW

IN PICTURES IN "A VIRGIN PARADISE"

"A Virgin Paradise," the sensational and spectacular William Fox special which made the tremendous impression while running on Broadway, New York, will come to the Crystal Theatre Tues. and Wed.

The story dealing with life in the South Sea island jungle and with civilized hypocrisy, was written by Hiram Percy Maxim, the famous inventor, especially for a William Fox super-special.

The scenes include the destruction of a tropic island by a volcanic eruption, with the death of the entire population except two persons, and the burning of a palatial country place on Lang Island New York.

The survivors on the island are the infant daughter of a missionary, Gratia Latham, and her native nurse.

The nurse dies while Gratia is still a child, and she lives on with only lions, apes and other wild animals as her companions.

The death of an uncle in New York leaves Gratia heir to $10,000,000, and then relatives charter a ship and go in search of her.

She is taken to the Long Island home, where she finds it difficult to adapt her half savage nature to the requirements of her radically altered condition in life.

Least of all can she submit tamely to the purpose of a young man of the family to marry her for her millions.

The role of Gratia is played by Pearl White, famous for her dash and darts on the screen.

Also a two-reel comedy. Matinee, Tuesday only.

LOWER STANDARD FOR ALIENS THAT SEEK CITIZENSHIP

Hartford, Conn., May 29.—"The Americanization craze is responsible for the lower standard in the education of aliens presenting themselves for naturalization."

This statement was made by Allen F. Church, of Boston, who is chief examiner of immigration of the United States Department of the United States District Court here.

"The rush for citizenship started with the war," Examiner Church said. "At that time there was a trend towards the Americanization of all foreigners and Americanization movement was extended to the factories, with the result that there has been a heavy increase in naturalization work since the war, at a great loss of time to the courts and the examiners."

Church stated that before the war, when an alien, of his own accord, wanted to become a citizen, he would study up the principles of American government and when he presented himself for examination he invariably was able to pass the required tests.

Under the present system, the alien is urged to become a citizen by manufacturers and employers of labor. The employees being urged also get the notion that unless they become citizens they will lose their jobs.

"The result is that aliens are flocking to the courts to be naturalized under the spurring on of their employers," Church said. "Many of them can neither read nor write, but are drilled in a few questions that may be asked."

"This cannot but lower the standard of citizenship, for there appears to be little of the actual study on the part of the applicants that was so noticeable before the war."

NEW PURDUE HEAD TO COME SEPT. 1

Lafayette, Ind., May 29.—Dr. Edward C. Elliott, president-elect of Purdue University, who will assume his duties Sept. 1, has arranged with the Board of Trustees to make no addresses away from the university until Jan. 1, 1923.

Dr. Elliott made this plan he said, in order to get thoroughly acquainted with the university and its work and conditions in Indiana.

"We want to get well established and know what the problems and plans are the very first thing," said Dr. Elliott, who is regarded as one of the four outstanding college executives in the United States.

He has charge of a three million dollar building program for the university, agricultural college and normal schools in Montana, including in all fifteen buildings. Inability to leave this work at this time prevented his coming to Purdue at once, but he agreed to be here by Sept 1 and earlier if conditions there permitted it.

He succeeds Dr. W. E. Stone, who lost his life in the Canadian Rockies last July. Henry W. Marshall, member of the board of trustees, has been acting president of Purdue since Dr. Stone's death, and he will continue to direct the affairs until Dr. Elliott comes to assume active charge.

BOTH SIDES MADE APPEAL TO COURT FOLLOWING THE ACQUITTAL OF BILL BLIZZARD

Charlestown, W. Va., May 29.—In an effort to decide upon a plan of action in the treason, insurrection and murder cases against West Virginia miners, growing out of the Logan county mine war last summer, both defense and prosecution attorneys appealed to the court today following acquittal of Bill Blizzard.

E. C. Townsend, chief counsel for the Union defense opposed trial of more mine workers until August in order to allow time for preparation of the new cases may be had.

A. M. Belcher, prosecution attorney, however, favored trial of a murder case after a week's adjournment.

POLICE WARNS BOYS THAT PRACTICE OF PLAYING WITH DRINKING FOUNTAIN MUST STOP

Joel Reynolds, chief of police, issued a warning to small boys of the city this morning that if the practice of breaking the public drinking fountains on the streets was not stopped immediately, prosecution would follow.

The boys, he said, have been in the habit lately, of playing with the fountains and twisting the faucets until they would not shut off the water. It has been necessary for a man from the water works to repair the drinking fountain two or three times a week lately, and the officials are determined that the practice must cease. The boys have been shooting at the electric light bulbs on the streets with their air rifles also, Mr. Reynolds said today, and this practice must also stop at once.

The plaintiff in the case is seeking judgment in the sum of $2,414.54, which he alleges is due him on the purchase price of 5,987 pounds of wool which he claims he sold to the defendants at the rate of sixty-four cents per pound. He says that only $100 of the purchase price was ever paid to him.

"This is the first time in eight years that I have been free from stomach trouble and it is all because of the wonderful good Tanlac has done me," said Mrs. Frank Wilkie, 229 Cedar St., Syracuse.

"I was eating scarcely enough to keep alive," she declared, "for I would rather not touch a bite than suffer the misery I knew would follow me. I was sick in bed for two and three days at a time, and gas on my stomach made such awful pressure on my heart it almost cut off my breath. I had horrible dreams at night and in the morning was all tired out."

"Well, the longest day I live I will praise Tanlac, for my improvement has been simply remarkable. I have no more heartburn, my appetite is wonderful, I can eat most anything I want, and my sleep is sound and restful. I am thoroughly delighted with Tanlac. It is wonderful."

Dr. Conant Gave Three Sermons in City Sunday

ing the office of Priest, and was yet to fulfill to the office of King. He drew a distinction between Christ's lordship and his kingship, saying that Christ was Lord over all today, but not King over all.

He outlined the different dispensations under which God had dealt with mankind, namely, Innocence, Conscience, Human Government, Promise, and Law, showing that each one had ended in disaster and the failure of man, and that the present age of Grace would end in the same way before the coming age of the Kingdom would be established.

He read many passages of Scripture to sustain his argument that God did not purpose to convert the whole world during this age, but to call out a people for His name who were to make up the body of which Christ is the Head, and that when the body of Christ was completed Christ would come. Some of the signs of the near coming of Christ were the sign of the present distress and turmoil of nations.

He said that there was to be a league of ten kings arise on the territory of the former Roman Empire, and that the battle of Armageddon would take place between these ten kings and the kings of the North. He affirmed that the recent alliance between Russia and Germany at the Genoa Conference was the lining up of the kings of the North.

The Baptist Church was filled to overflowing last night to hear Dr. Conant preach on "The Unpardonable Sin." He said that this sin was rather the culmination of a series of rejections of Jesus Christ, than a single specific sin, and he had a large number of Scripture verses read to prove his contention.

The meetings are gaining momentum at each service, and the tide of interest is rising high. There were nineteen who professed conversion yesterday. Dr. Conant will preach tonight on "Why I Believe in Purgatory" and says he will prove from a Roman Catholic Bible that there is a purgatory and that no one can enter Heaven without passing through purgatory. His subject Tuesday night is "Decatur's Fools' Paradise," and Wednesday night, "Mother, Home and Heaven." His Bible studies each afternoon are on "The Holy Spirit."

LETTER FROM DAUGHTER

James Coverdale has received an interesting letter from his daughter, Inez, former operator in the telephone exchange here and stenographer in the Johnson Insurance office. She now lives at Great Falls, Mont., where her husband, J. L. Jones is a railroad machinist. Her letter which follows will be of interest of her many friends:

Great Falls, Mont., May 19 '22.

My Dear Papa:—I hope you haven't thought I was neglecting you. No doubt you have told you how busy we are, are trying to make up for lost time. Clarence hasn't come home yet today and it is 10 minutes after eight. I got home from work about 5:30 and as I wasn't here I fixed a lunch and took it over to him. The shop he is working at, is at it all the time, Sundays and very often until 10 at night, and poor Clarence is having a hard time last week he made $42.18 which begins to seem like old times. Well we pulled thru with a debt and a little left in the banks for which we can thank the good Father, who cares for us all. He has kept us well which was the biggest blessing of all. I have saved every day this week, almost all of last week, hope to have the next few days at home. I get $15 a week and my lunches when I sew, and have had good luck getting work I think.

Aunt Oma tells me you aren't very well, hope you are better by this time. Let us see, how old are you this June, 50, not so bad, you have a long journey to go yet. If you are like Clarence you won't know exactly how old you are, the time sure rolls by quickly doesn't it?

We had a real thunder storm last night, it seemed so old fashioned, about the second one I remember of since we left Minn.

Clarence thinks we will move back here some time this summer if the shops don't open, but I sure hate to leave Mont. This is a grand climate, always sunshine and cool nights all summer.

Well pop I hope this finds you well and happy there doesn't seem to be any news to write about, but you will know I am thinking about you. Give my love to the Dutchers and tell aunt Oma I received her last letter and will answer one of these days. If you write you both at once, it is just the same thing over and that is not very interesting for either of us.

SILK HATTED WITH WHITE TROUSERS

(United Press Service). London, May 27.—London is suffering from a series of shocks. Following the return of the side whisker and the threatened colored derby hat, John Derbyshire, aged 45, appeared in the Bow County Court dressed in a silk top hat, white flannel trousers and sandals. An army of small boys followed him to the court, cheering. Derbyshire was not in the least abashed. "Crown me Queen of the May," he cried. They put him in the asylum.
