

MAY FORM ORGANIZATION OF DISABLED VETERANS OF ALL WARS IN NATION SOON.

San Francisco, June 6.—A great permanent, national organization of all wounded and disabled American Veterans of every war, including the Mexican War of 1847, Civil War, Indian Wars, Spanish-American War, and the recent World War, may be formed during the second annual national convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, to be held in San Francisco, June 6 to 30. For several months past, local officials of the Disabled American Veterans have been in communication with prominent eastern officials of the powerful organization of wounded and disabled American veterans of the recent great war, with the aim of augmenting the ranks of the society, to admit all American veterans, who are wounded or disabled in action, in any war which the United States took part. What the attitude of the 2,000 delegates who will participate in the deliberations of the coming convention will be toward such a move, is believed to be most receptive; it being left that the legislative measures and rehabilitation procedures in all cases might be made uniform, and thus enable the government to administer to the needs of the Disabled American Vets, in a more efficient and satisfactory manner.

With a national membership of 100,000, distributed through 800 chapters in all parts of the United States, the Disabled American Veterans of the world war will be represented at the coming National Convention by 2,000 voting delegates and 20,000 visiting members. Interest in the national convocation runs high throughout the country, and with the special oneway rail granted by all transcontinental Railroads, the local Convention Committee predicts an attendance of at least 30,000 Disabled American Veterans at the big gathering, during the last week in June. Convention headquarters at the St. Francis Hotel here report daily receipts of an average of one thousand inquiries by mail and wire, regarding the coming national convocation.

Judge Robert Marx of Cleveland, Ohio, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, will head a delegation of 2,500 delegates and visiting Disabled Vets, scheduled to leave Chicago in several sections of special trains on June 20th, arriving here the day before the opening of the Convention.

Mrs. Sprunger was well and favorably known in this community and is survived by a large number of relatives and friends. Being left a widow with six children after the death of her husband in 1896. She engaged in carpet weaving and in this way gained a large circle of acquaintances and friends all over the county. At the age of sixteen she migrated with her family to America, locating in Wayne County, Ohio. A few years later she joined the Menonite church, and on March 14, 1880 was united in marriage to Daniel Z. Sprunger. Her husband passed on to his reward October 12, 1896. "PEACOCK ALLEY" HAS ROMANCE AND SPLENDOR

"Peacock Alley," at the Crystal theater tonight and tomorrow, is one of the most delightful pictures of the season. It is a ravishing, dazzling Mae Murray presentation with all that magnificence and splendor which mark the blonde star's offerings on the screen. It is gorgeously costumed and excellently directed, the story running smoothly to its romantic conclusion.

It pictures the romance of a famed Parisian dancer who falls in love with a small town American youth and then finds that his home folks will not accept her because she has been a dancer. The couple go to New York, but troubles come thick and fast upon the two who, for a while, find life a very drab affair.

As the dancer in this colorful production, Mae Murray scored with the finest bit of characterization she has ever done. She is supported by a notable cast headed by Monte Blue as the youthful husband and this screen favorite brings to the part all that genius for which he is noted. Others in the cast were Edmund Lowe, W. J. Ferguson, Anders Randolph, William Tooker, Howard Lang, William Frederick, M. Durant and Jeffery Lewis. "Peacock Alley" presented by Robert Z. Leonard, is by Edmund Golding from a story by Ouida Bergere. It was directed by Robert Z. Leonard. Oliver T. Marsh was the photographer. It is released by Metro pictures for Tiffany productions, Inc.

Monroe Blossom, civil war veteran who has lived at the Marion and Dayton soldier homes for some years is fitting friend here.

HELD MEETING AT MILLER HOME

Members of Pig Club Received Instructions at Meeting This Morning

An interesting meeting of the members of the 1922 Adams County Dur-o-c Pig Club was held at the Ed. Miller home southeast of Decatur this morning. The meeting was called by County Agent Busche for the purpose of instructing the members of the club relative to the proper feeding and care of their pigs. Prof. John W. Schwab, of Purdue, was present and gave an excellent talk on this subject.

The instruction was given in such a way as to be interesting to the boys and girls and if the teachings which were given out at the meeting are properly carried out there is sure to be a fine bunch of pigs exhibited at the Northern Indiana Fair in August by the club members.

Twelve of the fourteen members in the club were present.

The National Trade-Mark

OLD silversmiths, in order to help people tell pure silver from cheaper imitations, marked the real thing sterling

In a like manner, manufacturers, who stand back of their wares, identify them with trade-marks that are your guarantee of quality. By advertising these trade-marks, they focus on their products the searchlight of attention.

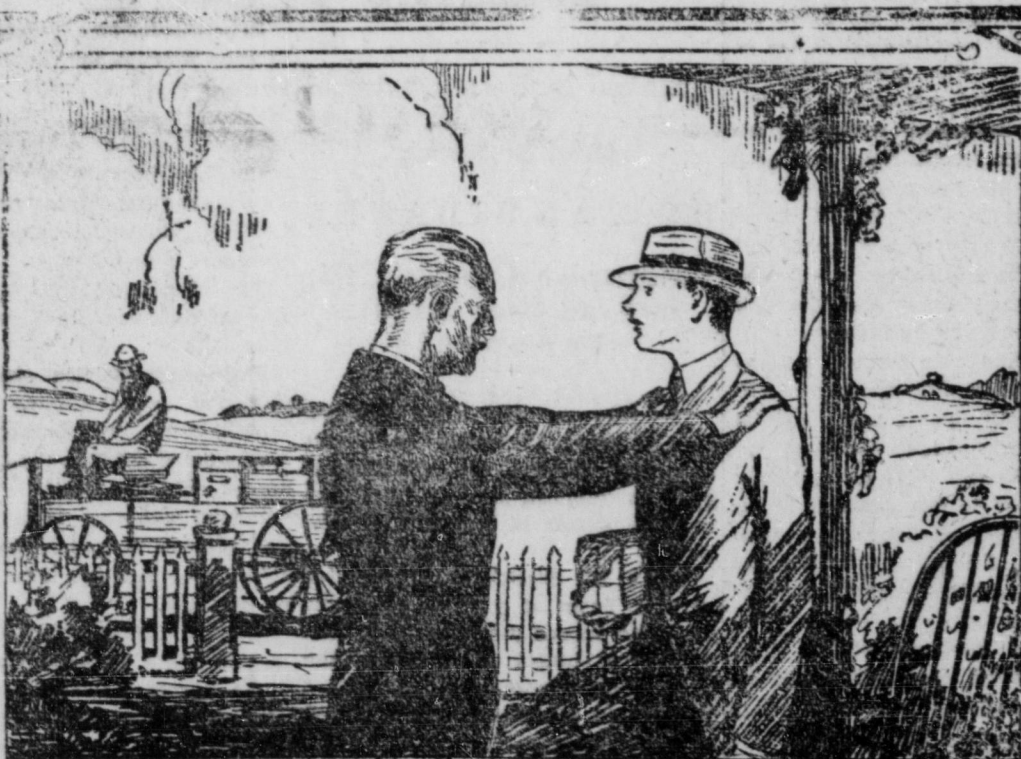

Only good goods, fairly priced, can flourish in this light of publicity. For no merchandise and no business can thrive under the weight of public condemnation.

That is why a manufacturer, or a merchant, places the whole reputation of his business at stake every time he advertises. His goods must be as advertised.

So, in looking through this paper remember this: the man who spends his money to invite your consideration of his wares, backs up his belief in his goods and leaves the final decision to you.

It pays you to read the advertisements. It pays you to buy advertised products.

Advertising is your protection.
