Quality-

Appreciation of quality is one of the surest evidences of the developed individual. Merely "good enough" is no longer good enough for the man who is growing in his ability to take a constructive place in business or social affairs. The merchandise fostered by this store reflects that policy to the fullest degree. Value can be judged only in relation to quality—in material, in treatment, in form. We never skimp merchandise to fit a price, but build it to express a quality that corresponds to a human need. Our price is determined by the cost of production plus a fair profit—large enough to reward a worthy effort—small enough to win an ever-increasing patronage.

Fall In, Buddy!

In more than 11,000 communities the world over today your old Buddies are, through The American Legion, still in action, fighting at home for the land that was good enough to fight for abroad.

There are vacant places in the ranks that can never be filled—blank files dedicated to the memory of old shipmates and tentmates who went West when death rode in the air and sea.

But there's your old place in the line, Buddy, waiting for you, and the bugle of duty sounds "Fall in." There are no written orders or commands except those of your own conscience, and bunk-fatigue brings no excited top kicker.

Just the same, Soldier, The American Legion needs you and you need The American Legion. That's fifty-fifty. Hold up your end and become a member.

By midnight—Saturday—July 1 Adams Post No. 43 of Decatur, Indiana wants to have every eligible service man or woman enrolled as a member.

Your honorable discharge is your eligibility ticket. Your Legion button tells the world you have such a discharge.

LUTHERAN CHURCH HAS LARGE NUMBER OF SCHOOLS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

The Lutheran pioneers have mostly always first of all looked to the proper education of their children. For this purpose they erected and maintained schools, often before the state could and had made provisions for schools. Paramount in the work of education is the rearing of their children in the fear and admonition of the Lord. The problem of giving to children proper and ample religious instruction and training is one that is engaging the minds of the foremost Christian educators of non-Lutheran bodies. The Missouri Synod has solved the problem by its extensive week-day parish school system.

The Presbyterian in 1915 had this to say on the Christian education of the young: "The state, in its wisdom, requires for the adequate instruction of its young in English alone 93,500 minutes, and for their instruction in mathematics 128,000 minutes, through the public school system, the work being done through a corps of completely trained teachers. The church has been satisfied with about 1,000 minutes per year for the instruction of her young in spiritual things, these twenty-minute periods, once a week, being separated by intervals of seven days." And again: "According to our understanding of religious freedom and the separation of Church and State, religion cannot be taught by the State, but must be taught, if it is taught at all, by the home and the church. The church's educational goal: Christian Education seven days a week." Prominent men of various church bodies outside of the Lutherans have expressed themselves in similar terms.

While the members of the Lutheran Missouri synod believe that the state must establish and maintain the public school, they believe that the children of the church ought to be given what the public school cannot offer them, namely, daily religious training in the school. They hold with many others who are seeing the light, that Bible-schools, held for an hour on Sunday, are wholly inadequate to the need. At great expense the Missouri Synod maintains as its system of parish schools for this sole purpose. It gives full courses in all secular branches and strives to make of its children good and useful citizens. Its buildings are being replaced by new, modern and well equipped schools and its normal schools, which are accredited by the respective states, the Missouri Synod by a six year's course prepares its teachers, male and female, for the work in its church schools. At the present time over 73,000 children are being instructed in over 1200 schools. These are all full day schools, not Saturday and Summer-schools. It is an interesting fact that 1800 teachers are engaged on the teaching force of these schools.

A school is maintained by each one of the six Missouri Lutheran congregations in Adams county. The school enrollment for 1921 was 320 pupils and a teaching force of ten. The largest school in the Missouri Synod is the Trinity school, Sheboygan, Wisconsin, with an enrollment of 470 pupils.

BIGGEST BUILDING EVER MOVED IN U. S.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 26.—The Truax hotel of this city, the largest and heaviest building ever moved, is now in the process of being transported across the street from its present site at Harrison and Warren streets, in the heart of Syracuse's downtown section.

The Truax is being moved to make way for Syracuse's newest hotel, the Syracuse, which it is said, will be the largest building of its kind between New York and Chicago.

The old hotel weighs 12,400,000 pounds. The building is 134 feet by 41 feet and 4 inches. It is four stories high.

While the building is being moved across the street every room will be occupied, the water will run and all of the stores on the ground floor will continue to do business.

Although the firm which is moving the hotel have moved buildings all over the world, they state that the Truax is the heaviest and largest building ever moved in this country.

HURRICANE SERVICE READY TO FLASH PROMPT WARNINGS

"Be alert and ready to distribute warnings" is the list of the instructions sent by the weather Bureau, United States Department of Agriculture, to all its South Atlantic and Gulf coast stations, in preparation for the hurricane season, which is about to begin. Although August, September, and October are the critical times, hurricanes are a menace to shipping in these waters from June to November. The bureau exerts every effort to prevent destruction to life and property at sea and ashore by broadcasting warnings of the approaching storm.

MOTOR TRUCK INDUSTRY HAS LARGE PRODUCTION

The fact that the motor truck industry has just experienced the biggest production month in its history, is an indication of unusual prosperity for business generally in the near future, according to Mr. J. W. Stephenson, president of the Indiana Motor Truck corporation, Marion, Indiana.

"Because of its vital connection with the industrial life of the nation, the trend of the motor truck industry can be taken as a forerunner of general business conditions that are to follow," says Mr. Stephenson. "This May showed a larger production report than any preceding month during the industry's existence. And June, so far, gives every indication of equalling May."

"This increase is not a mere spasmodic fluctuation, nor is it temporary. The return of the industry to a sound and stable footing is permanent and has come to stay. Motor truck manufacturers are all building with an eye to the future and future prosperity."

"And all this is indicative of better business in general. The motor truck industry was the first to slump when the depression came, and it has been the first to come out of the slump and surpass previous production records. And closely in the wake of its prosperity there will soon be seen a remarkable advance in production and employment in all lines of industry. The business depression is behind us and the next few months will accentuate the upward trend."

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. Wm. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Delaware.

Mother and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mother—daughters, why not try it?

OPEN SERIES OF MEETINGS HERE

Hold First Service of Evangelists Meetings at the Christian Church

State evangelist, A. L. Martin, who held a successful meeting with the local Christian church six years ago, has returned for a meeting which began last night.

He is assisted by his daughter, Lois, who has just returned from Hiram College. She sings and plays a saxophone.

The meeting last night was very encouraging, the crowd being a fine one for Monday evening, first night of the meetings.

The Gibson sisters are playing on their violins each night in the orchestra.

Rev. Martin will deliver a lecture each evening, on the Bible, using a chart in addition to a short sermon. The services begin promptly at 7:30 and close at 8:45.

If you want to learn something of interest concerning the Bible from a man who believes it and is not ashamed nor afraid to tell it, attend the services and hear him from night to night.

If you believe the Bible you owe it to yourself as well as to the community to be able to tell why, if you attend these meetings and have a desire to become informed concerning facts about the Bible and the Christian life you will not be disappointed. There will be good music and instructive and interesting sermons each night. You are welcome.

I. A. KALVER AND FAMILY TO RETURN TO FORT WAYNE TO MAKE HOME NEXT WEEK

I. A. Kalver was here yesterday and informed friends that he had again arranged to make Fort Wayne his home. Mrs. Kalver and son, Roy, will arrive from New York Sunday noon and they will probably rent furnished apartments for the present. When they left there last fall they sold their residence and most of the furnishings and it will require a little time to reestablish. Mr. Kalver had charge of the eastern office for his company but they prefer to live in this section and Mr. Kalver was happy yesterday to have concluded such arrangements.
