A community working as one is the only way in which to secure big results. We may not all agree on everything that is done but we will certainly all work as hard as we can to accomplish the one big purpose—doing our bit for the children, helping in the big ideal—give the children a chance. If we keep that in mind and make that our goal we will have the biggest day on August 22nd in all the history of northeastern Indiana.

One dead and another fatally injured is the result of a collision of automobiles near Warren last evening. The view was shut off by a large barn and the cars running no doubt at high speed could not be controlled in time to avoid the accident.

Fast driving is dangerous and the reports each day prove it. Drivers should take warning and there should not be need for speed laws which are always violated any way.

Today we will have as our guests a half dozen managers of Indiana districts of Yeomanry who come here upon invitation to look at our proposed sites and to catch the spirit here to assist in the great effort to bring the proposed school and home for children to Indiana. They will be entertained while here and will be shown the advantages of our community as well as our honest desire to help in the great ideal of Mr. McKee, Mr. Farmer and the others who are devoting their lives to the work. Tonight a reception will be given at Yeoman hall following the chautauqua meeting and you are invited to meet the visitors and to say "howdy." Be sure to be there.

According to Secretary of Labor Davis, peace in the rail strike is up to the federal labor board who can secure a settlement by restoring seniority rights. We don't know much about the rules and regulations of the board but we can't see just where it would make a lot of difference who comes first in promotion. What the public wants is the trouble smoothed out and if its simply changing some rule of that kind, in Heaven's name what are they fooling around for? The worst thing about government control it seems, is the everlasting and always prevalent delay in the red tape methods used. Investigations, discussions, objections to silly little matters, causes much of our difficulty. Settle the strikes and do it as quickly as possible and then take your time to agree on rules of procedure.

Just as Congressman Vestal and District Chairman Cartwright had it all framed up for Cartwright to walk into the Portland postoffice along the early part of September, now comes a bunch of into-republicans, headed by the Portland Republican, an earnest admirer and friend of Albert J. Beveridge, and demands that an election be held, and that the man—or woman—getting the greater number of votes be declared the successful candidate. This would put Mr. Cartwright on the shelf, as Portland is decidedly Beveridgeque, but what would it do to the blessed civil service? Here comes the civil service and says the candidate receiving the highest percentage shall be declared the successful party, but Billy says put another meaning to the law and declared that any of the three highest taking the examination could be appointed. Now, with an election, the fellow with the highest vote, whether he could read or write, would go to Mr. Harding's hired hands and demand the job, because he was the choice of the people. Wouldn't be any worse, at that, than the proposed deal at Ossian. There's E. Spencer standing fifth among the eight candidates, and in the face of the protests of the people of that community Vestal is going to have him appointed postmaster. Ed is all right, understand, but how about the civil service law?—Bluffton Banner.

RESUME WORK ON NEW GYMNASIUM

Steel Beams Have Arrived; City Schools to Open on Tuesday, Sept., 5

After a suspension of construction for a period of three weeks on account of a delay in shipment of the large steel beams, a full force of workmen was put to work this morning on the new high school gymnasium and auditorium annex. The steel work arrived last Wednesday and was transported to the building site last week.

BIG STADIUM IN JERSEY CITY READY FOR LEONARD-TENDLER FIGHT THURSDAY

New York, July 24.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—With the testing of the new lighting system and the erection of the ring tomorrow the big stadium in Jersey City will be ready for the Leonard-Tendler fight Thursday night, Tex Richard said today.

Advance seat sale indicates a total attendance of 90,000 and receipts of close to $500,000, Richard said. Both fighters have reached the finishing stages of their training and both were reported to be under the 135 pounds that they will have to scale before the public eight hours before they go into the ring.

Regardless of outcome of the preliminary bouts, The New Jersey Commission has announced that it will have the two principals in the ring at 9:30 o'clock and that they will be fighting before 10 o'clock. They want to have the battle finished by the latest at 10:50 to avoid late congestion in leaving the arena.

Leonard is a 3 to 1 favorite in the betting to win the popular decision, while 1 to 5 is being asked that Tendler will be knocked out.

Harry Ertle, the referee, is to visit the Leonard camp at Budd Lake today to explain recent changes in the Jersey rules to the champion and tomorrow he will go to the Tendler camp at Delancey.

Mrs. Omar Butler of northwest of Decatur was a shopper in this city this morning.

THE PEOPLE'S VOICE

The Fort Wayne Journal Gazette Saturday morning featured a cartoon in which Uncle Sam is shown trying to extricate himself from a huge pair of pinchers, one flange of which is represented as the coal strike, and the other the railroad strike, and at the same time in a fit of desperation he is calling, "Oh! Warren." From what we know of the seriousness of the situation and of Mr. Harding, we suggest that it would be much more life like, were Uncle Sam and Mr. Harding to exchange places in the cartoon.—Newspaper Reader.

CITY EMPLOYEE TELLS ABOUT HIS TROUBLES

Evansville Man Says Tanlac is Only Thing That Ever Did Him Any Good—Stomach Troubles Overcome and He Now Feels Fine.

"Tanlac seemed to hit my case at once and four bottles have made a new man of me," said Ivan Smith, 702 Walnut St., Evansville, Ind., well-known city employee.

"My kidneys were terribly disordered and it was all I could do to stay on the job. The hurting and aching would keep me awake for hours at night and my nerves got so unstrung it seemed they would go all to pieces. After eating anything my stomach would ache and cramp me terribly and I would become so dizzy I could hardly sit in a chair.

"But now I don't have an ache or pain, can eat just anything, my kidneys never trouble me and I feel fine. Tanlac has sure done the work for me and I am mighty glad I got hold of it."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

A Full Measure of Service

THE First Quarterly Summary of Refinery Statistics issued by the Bureau of Mines (1922) states that 25% more gasoline was purchased by consumers in January, February and March, 1922, than in the corresponding period of 1921. Many well-informed marketers are predicting that there will be an insufficient supply of gasoline this summer in the Middle West.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has increased its facilities so largely that it feels safe in stating that it will be able to render to the people of the 10 states it serves that degree of service which the public has come to expect from this organization.

The manufacturing facilities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have a capacity of more than one billion gallons of gasoline per year. These facilities are being operated 24 hours every day that patrons may be certain of securing their requirements of petroleum products as they need them.

When the flood tide of demand occurs, car owners will realize that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has anticipated their needs fully and completely.

When a motorist fills his tank at a convenient service station in some remote corner of the Middle West, he may never stop to consider the vast and complicated machinery needful to put that gasoline where he wants it at the moment he needs it most. But he will appreciate that it is there.

He may never know that serving him involves experienced executives of trained initiative and resourcefulness; enormous expenditures for labor and raw material; great, modern refineries continuously operated; immense storage facilities; a magnificent distribution system; and the uniform effort of an organization of 25,000 men and women. All this is back of that small quantity of Red Crown gasoline which every summer tourist confidently expects to purchase and surely finds at all points in the territory served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

This the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) considers genuine service.
