Says Secret Of Human Power Is In Play

Clinton, Sept. 19.—"The secret of human power is play," "older folks do not pursue our ideals and work with vigor except in the spirit of play—in the same vigor a child has while at play."

This was the message of Martha Stubbs of Indianapolis, to the teachers of the Vermillion county institutions. Play deserves study, she said.

"It is both possible and desirable to bring the play spirit into work," she said.

County Agent Is Re-Appointed

resident of Adams county, has served two years as county agent of this county, since his graduation from Purdue University. He has given excellent service to the farmers of the county, and the Adams County Federation of Farmers sent a written request to the county board of education for Mr. Busche's re-appointment.

Mr. Busche is vitally interested in the agricultural work of the county and is desirous of aiding the farmers in every way possible.

Mr. W. B. Arbaugh, of Detroit, Michigan, spoke to the board of education this morning, explaining the importance of reading in the public school system, and emphasized the good points in the Aldine series of readers. Mr. Arbaugh also spoke to the teachers of all grades in the city schools below the sixth grade, at the Central school building this afternoon.

It was decided by the board of education this morning, to dismiss the schools in the county on October 13 and 14, to permit the teachers to attend the meeting of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association, which will be held in Fort Wayne on those dates. The matter of excusing the teachers in the county for the county association was considered but no decision was reached. By a narrow margin, the board approved the system providing for the extension course in connection with the county institute work, devoting half of the day to institute work, and half to extension work.

To End Long Fight On Tariff Bill Late Today

(United Press Service.) Washington, Sept. 19.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—The long battle in congress over the administration tariff bill ends today.

Under a unanimous consent agreement the senate at 4 o'clock this afternoon will vote on the conference report on the bill already passed by the house.

As soon as the final roll call is completed the bill will be rushed to the white house the President being expected to sign it at once.

Democrats were preparing to center their attacks on the thirty-one cents a pound on wool and the $1.75 per hundred pound levy on Cuban sugar. Duties on these articles alone democrats charged will increase the cost of living by many millions of dollars.

Ossian Girl Returns Relieving Mother's Fears

Miss Dorothy Hoopengardner, 15, the Ossian girl whose disappearance was reported Saturday, returned home Sunday evening, and her absence was explained to the entire satisfaction of her mother, who learned that her fears for her daughter's safety were unfounded.

Miss Hoopengardner was brought home by Mrs. Robert Mercer and her son, of Fort Wayne, who explained that she had been with Mr. and Mrs. Mercer and their son at the summer home of the Mercers at Crooked Lake. Mrs. Mercer explained that Dorothy had been in her personal charge and that she had been in good surroundings all the time.

It developed that Miss Hoopengardner had mailed a registered letter to her mother, telling her of her purpose to go to the lake, but the letter was mis-sent and came to Bluffton, and from Bluffton was sent to Markle, and thence forwarded to Ossian, and Mrs. Wilson the girl's mother did not receive it until this morning. Had the letter gone direct to Ossian the mother would have been saved the worry.

After attending the Allen County fair at Huntertown last Thursday with Diston and Miss Sylvia Eley, an Ossian couple, Miss Hoopengardner, after leaving them, returned home about eleven o'clock with another party, and told her mother of plans to go to Angola next day. Miss Hoopengardner went along with friends nevertheless.

The Mercers expressed deep regret upon arriving at Ossian last evening and learning of the worry that had been caused Mrs. Wilson, who feared her daughter might have met with foul play.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Marker will move to Redlands, California sometime this month.

Felt—The Key To Roofing Strength

Knock out the keystone of an arch—and you have a ruin.

Break down, by time and exposure, the basic material in any asphalt shingle—and you have destroyed a roof.

Genuine Richardson Felt is the key material in Flex-a-Tile Giant Shingles. It "holds" the weather-proof qualities of this superior roofing because it is the perfected product of an organization that has specialized in the manufacture of fine felt since 1868.

This tough, durable fabric is thoroughly impregnated with scientifically tempered asphalt; then heavily coated with natural asphalt on both sides—the outer-coat to keep out heat, cold and moisture from above, the under-coat to give equally needed protection from beneath.

FLEX-A-TILE HOUSE TOPS

And Flex-a-Tile Giant Shingles look as well as they wear, because on their outer surface is an enameled coating of rich green slate (or red if you prefer) from the Richardson quarries in Georgia.

An important economy point is that this large-size, extra-weight shingle can be laid over an old roof as well as on new sheathing, thus saving the labor of tearing off old shingles, and affording the extra insulation of a double surface. In fact no other type of asphalt shingle gives such satisfactory results when used in this way.

Telephone for further information.

Flex-a-Tile Giant Shingles are 50% heavier and 100% stiffer than standard asphalt shingles and cost less than a third more. The extra thickness adds to the beauty of the roof as well as to its permanency. Flex-a-Tile House Tops are a product of The Richardson Company.
