Officials Find Cold Trail Of "Hammer Murderess" In Lonely Cabin

(United Press Service)
Los Angeles, Jan. 2.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Officials today discovered the cold trail of Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess" of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, who escaped from the Los Angeles county jail nearly a month ago.

In a lonely cabin, hidden in the hills back of Sawtelle or Beverly Hills, traces of the woman fugitive were discovered.

Neighbors said that the cabin had been inhabited by a woman who resembled Clara shortly after the convicted murderess escaped. A message, addressed to Clara, was found under a rock. It was written on a bit of newspaper and read:

"Will meet you here Wednesday at 8 o'clock. For God's sake be careful. Your friend."

Police believe that Clara was sheltered in the cabin for four days following her escape. They believe she remained in hiding there until her transfer to Mexico could be arranged.

The cabin, officials later revealed, was within almost a stone's throw of the bungalow where J. Belton Kennedy was murdered while in company Madallayne Obenchain.

In the jail Clara Phillips and Mrs. Obenchain had been close friends.

Mrs. Obenchain denied rumors that she was directing Mrs. Phillips' defense while the latter was on trial.

Authorities declared they gave added weight to the theory that the cabin actually had been occupied by the "tiger woman" because of the ease with which she could have secured knowledge of the vicinity of Beverly Glen and its numerous shanties and quiet bungalows from Mrs. Obenchain.
