Indiana Operator Is Mechanical Wizard, Sportsman and Radio Fan

By H. C. DOLPH
Grand Rapids Division Correspondent

With a striking resemblance to a foreign count or to Poland's great patriot, Paderewski, M. A. Kenworthy, first trick operator at Decatur, Ind., is, in fact, the most interesting character about the village, and is recognized as the mechanical wizard of his own home town, owing to his qualifications as jack of all trades and master of many.

One must pass a few hours with Mr. Kenworthy at his cozy home to fully appreciate the various crafts in which he is proficient. Upon entering the home, the first thing that greets the eye is a modern phonograph of the Victrola type, which is rapidly nearing completion, and on which the initials, M. K., are artistically etched on the scroll of the instrument.

Many other pieces of furniture, such as French glass doors and electric lamps, products of his workmanship, add to the pleasantness of the rooms, while adorning the walls of each room are enlarged tinted photos which include Mr. Kenworthy's children in unique poses, taken from life.

Has Garrison and Radio
A den complete with a stack of guns, and whose walls are decorated with fishing tackle of popular make, is typical of sportsmanship. In the wireless room is kept a single tube set enclosed in a beautifully constructed cabinet, made by the owner, with the exception of a few parts, including the vacuum tube and receivers.

Kenny tunes in to the broadcasting of WJW at Detroit, Mich., which is heard as clearly and distinctly as most phonograph records. The set is composed of the Rhinehart pattern "spider web coils," one twenty-one and one forty-three plate condenser, one soft detector tube, grid leak and grid condenser and one pair of 2,000 ohm resistors. The aerial is one of the single wire type, and about 100 feet in length, enabling the operator to tune in on Schenectady, N. Y., Pittsburg, Newark, Davenport and Havana, Ind., as well as many local stations.

the concert and musical numbers are finished, the children's bedtime stories are immensely enjoyed by the little ones.

The Kenworthy kennels are composed of four members of the dog family, one black-and-tan hound, one beagle hound, on bulldog, and a fox terrier, who never miss an opportunity to accompany their master on a hike, or hunt.

A casual glance around the garage, showed a Westcott touring car, used for pleasure trips, and a large Stutz roadster which shows evidence of being used for hunting and fishing trips, to say nothing of drives requiring more than the usual amount of speed.

Mr. Kenworthy entered service on the Grand Rapids Division in 1911, prior to which time he served as an operator on the Richmond Division for a period of eighteen years.

EVANGELICAL MEN'S CLUB

Held A Very Interesting Meeting In The Church Last Evening

The newly organized Evangelical Brotherhood held their regular monthly meeting last night in the Sunday School rooms of the church. Nine new members were favorably voted upon last evening and these added to the number that already belong makes a total of about forty. All men of the church are asked to join this organization and share in the good times that are being had each meeting night, which is the first Monday evening in each month. At the meeting last night the following subjects and questions were discussed by different members of the club: How I should feel if I were late to Sunday School? How can a man have the courage to face a cannon and yet be afraid of his wife? If I should feel like a three-cent piece how could you expect me to smile? What can I do to boost this men's organization? How can I be a Ladies Aid 'Alder'? What lessons can I learn from a Ford? If a dog bites me should I kick him? What I think of the Ladies Aid? Is it boyish to whistle? Should a preacher have a sense of humor? Is a pessimist any benefit to society? In burying a hatchet should we leave any part of the hatchet uncovered? In what manner can we blow a Sunday-school superintendent out of a rut? Should a married, bald-headed man have our sympathy or congratulations? Should we dare to take the risk of "puffing up a man" by congratulating him on his merits? Should we call attention to the faults of others? What should we do with Mr. Can't? When should men work "side by side"? If a Sunday School teacher goes to sleep on his job should the boys lasso him? My obligation as a teacher to the class? What special features of our Sunday School I like best. The men are now negotiating with Miss Lauretta Shinkle, of Bippus, Indiana, to come here in the near future and give her famous lecture on the Passion Play. This lecture will be open to the public, and further notice will be made in this paper as soon as the necessary arrangements are completed. At the close of the meeting last evening a bunch of doughnuts and coffee was served by the "cats" committee.

Don't use the whip
on tired nerves
— it means trouble

When the day's work is hard, you can't make it easier with stimulants.

Ask any doctor for the facts.

You can't over-draw energy without paying.

Coffee contains the nerve-stimulating drug, caffeine. When coffee is used to overcome fatigue, it means whipping the tired nerves into a run.

You may seem to get added strength—but there's a settlement coming for an over-drawn account.

Take care!

Rest is the cure for fatigue. Health is the equipment for hard tasks.

Rest and health are interfered with when nerves are over-stimulated.

You've seen plenty of proof. How many people do you know who say, "I have to go slow on coffee; it keeps me awake nights?"

How is it in your own case? Have you counted restless night hours after the evening cup of coffee?

Treat your health sensibly that you may meet your task capably.

Don't try to draw strength from over-driven nerves. That way lies weakness. Don't increase over-work by using stimulants. You are merely postponing and increasing the penalties.

Be fair to yourself!

For a hot, comforting beverage, drink Postum and let nerves have their natural rest.

There's charm without harm in Postum—a delightful, satisfying cereal beverage; rich, seal-brown in color, delicious in flavor and aroma, and containing nothing that can irritate nerves or disturb health. Postum is safe and enjoyable for every member of the family.

Thousands who formerly used coffee or tea, and began to pay the penalties of nerve-stimulation, now use Postum and praise its comforting goodness.

The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in time) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.
