SEVERAL RECONSECRATED

Good Results Obtained At United Brethren Revival Here

A number of people reconsecrated themselves to the work of God in the U. B. revival last night. Rev. Mitchell emphasized the necessity of Christian virtues being manifested in the lives of Christians, saying in part: "True Christianity is the radiation of consecrated personality, displaying those Christian virtues that were manifested in Jesus, such as love, mercy, pity, compassion, truth, gentleness, kindness, meekness, humility, patience and brotherly love. This is necessary because Jesus transferred his light to us when he said: 'Ye are the light of the world.' To prove the reality of our experience these rays must radiate from our personality, so that the unsaved may see a repetition of Him (Jesus) in another personality." Tonight Rev. Mitchell will preach his concluding sermon on the Baptism of the Holy Spirit, which will be sane and orthodox. Saturday night there will be a song and praise service; Sunday morning a combined service for parents and children; Sunday at 2:30 a great mass meeting for men and boys only. The public is invited to any and all of these helpful services.

INTERESTING MEETING

Dress-Form Demonstration Yesterday
Was Well-Attended

Lady representatives from five townships of the county attended a home made dress-form demonstration held at the Decatur Library yesterday by Miss Nell Flanigan, of the Home Economics Department of Purdue. The meeting was in progress throughout the day and was in the nature of a school where those present learned the method of making the forms. It was decided that the township representatives who were present should plan meetings in their vicinities at which the work will be presented to other farm women. Several forms were made during the day.

If sufficient interest in this work is manifested by the farm women in general the Extension Department at Purdue plans to give demonstrations along other lines relating to Home Economics.

DON'T throw your money down the hole of useless expenditure. Every day is a thrifty day for the thoughtful autoist who purchases his supplies of us. Mr. Dollar Bill has had plenty of experience in dealing with us and is telling all of his friends, and he has many of them about our fair and above board methods of doing business.
