DIVORCE CASE HEARD TODAY

Cleo Mercer Gets Decree; Letters of Administration Are Issued

A divorce was granted in circuit court this morning by acting Judge C. J. Lutz to Cleo Mercer from Jesse L. Mercer. The plaintiff also received the care and custody of the two minor children and the defendant was ordered to pay the sum of $20 a month for the support for ten months and $15 a month thereafter until further order of the court. The defendant was given the right to visit the children during the first week of January and July of each year at his parents' home or any other suitable place. The state case against Jesse L. Mercer was dismissed today when Nol Pross by the prosecuting attorney.

Letters of administration were issued to James H. Dague in the estate of Maggie Richard. Mr. Dague filed bond in the sum of $800. The court authorized the administrator to sell personal property at public sale.

Letters of administration were issued today to Louis F. Miller in the estate of Wilhelmina Miller. The administrator was authorized to sell personal property at public sale.

In the case of William A. S. Parry against John A. Switzer, Attorney Dore B. Erwin has appeared for the defendant. Attorney L. C. DeVoss has appeared for the defendant in the case of Kitty M. Fought vs. Martha Burris. The defendant was ruled to answer.

Sorority Girls Hold Tag Day Here Today

Have you been tagged? The Delta Tau Sorority girls were selling tags today as a means of raising funds with which to furnish the sorority's hospital room in the new Adams County Memorial Hospital. Those who were tagged gave the girls a nickel, dime, quarter, and as high as a dollar.

Bought Her One Pair of Shoes in 11 Years

Warsaw, April 23—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Charging that her husband bought her but one pair of shoes and expended but $100 for her clothing in 11 years, Mrs. Anna E. Strieby has filed suit for a divorce from James M. Strieby, Syracuse. The complaint also recites that Strieby declared that his wife's son by a former marriage was not worth "hell room." Mrs. Strieby asked $8,000 alimony.

CHINCH BUGS SURVIVE COLD

Investigation by Co. Agent Sows Many of the Pests Still Here

Examination of grassy fence rows during the last few days by County Agent, L. M. Busche, shows that the chinch bugs have successfully passed the winter in considerable numbers and unless adverse conditions arise, which prevent their laying eggs in wheat and barley, Adams County will witness another invasion by the pest this summer. The extremely cold weather during the latter part of the winter when there was practically no snow on the ground, was thought by many to practically insure the destruction of the adult bugs which winter over. However, when they are able to take refuge in abundant dead grass, they can stand considerable cold. But very few farmers made any effort to burn their ditch banks and fence rows and accordingly, the last generation of mature bugs found good protection last fall.

Farmers should watch their wheat, rye and barley fields in order to determine the seriousness of the infestation, in order that plans may be made to protect corn if necessary. Many farmers in Adams county have been using creosote or gas tar during the last two years with success. This method has given best results in preventing the migration of the bugs from grain fields to small corn. Another method which has been used by some farmers which success has been the use of soybeans with the corn. Although it cannot be stated definitely just how effective this method is, farmers who have had soybeans in corn adjacent to grain fields infested with the insects state their corn has not been bothered. Chinch bugs absolutely will not eat soybeans, and it seems that the dampness caused by the beans prevents their bothering the corn, especially when the second brood appears in the fall.

According to the county agent, the growing of barley has been practically discontinued due to the seriousness of the bugs during the last two years.

OBITUARY

Hannah Jane Durbin, age 78 years, prominent resident of Monroe township departed this life April, 16, 1923. She was the widow of John Durbin who died 11 years ago. She was a member of the Pleasant Valley Friends church. She was a loving mother, kind wife and a devoted Christian. She was the mother of 13 children all of whom are living with the exception of one son who died in infancy. During all the six weeks of suffering, she never murmured nor complained, but seemed to realize that her time was near at hand, and just a few days before she died stated that she was ready and waiting to go whenever the Lord saw fit to call her home. She also called her children to her bedside asking them to meet her in Heaven. She also quoted different passages of Scripture. One was as follows: "Be ye also ready, for in the hour when ye think not, the Son of man cometh." She was patient to the last when she closed her eyes to open no more in this world but in Heaven.

Dearest mother thou hast left us
Here thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that hast bereft us.
He can all our sorrow heal.
Peaceful be thy slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low.
Though no more shall join our number,
Though no more our song shall know;
Lonely the house and sad the hour—
Since dear mother she is gone.
But of a better home than this in Heaven
Shall be her own.

DO YOU REMEMBER WAY BACK WHEN--

The city "cow pound" was fenced in where waterworks park now stands, in a grove of "acorn" trees and hedges of wild roses; and when family feuds sometimes started when one had another's mauling cow "put in the cow pound?"

When you had to have your hair shingled after a hard fever, you cried and kept your hood on when you went back to school until the monitor came around for your wraps? Bobbed hair wasn't "in" then.

When you thought everybody was good?

When you thought Jacob Martin was Santa Claus and his restaurant window at Christmas time was a fairy palace?

When people with children were given preference over children with dogs, in renting houses?

When you got the biggest bag of candy in town for a penny at "Donovan & Coffee's" and you thought they were kings "or something?"

INSURE FOR SAFETY

When you place your Fire, Automobile or Casualty Insurance, you naturally want to feel that your interests are fully safeguarded, and when the loss comes, you want to know that you have an insurance system behind you that never has failed.

Stock Insurance Alone Assures Safety --- Absolutely

Stock insurance companies have built up the insurance business in the United States to its present large proportions and high standards of service.

They write eighty per cent of the business in America in the fire and casualty field.

Is it reasonable to suppose that other systems, such as mutual and reciprocal with twenty per cent of the business have eighty per cent of the business brains and technical skill required to run it?

If you want safety and security in insurance, buy only Stock Insurance backed by ample resources, charging a definite rate, supplying an understandable contract and guaranteeing Safety.
