

WOMEN VOTERS TO MEET

International Questions To Be Discussed At State Convention

The question of international relations will take precedence over all other topics of discussion at the fourth annual convention of the Indiana League of Women Voters, to be held at the Claypool hotel, Indianapolis, May 1, 2 and 3, according to the program which has been made public by the League. A mass meeting will be held on the opening evening, with Miss Ruth Morgan of New York, chairman of the national League's committee on international co-operation to present war, as the principal speaker. Miss Morgan has declared herself in favor of the entry of the United States into the world court of the League of Nations, and her address will be in support of her viewpoint. She will be followed by Professor Robert Phillips of Purdue University who will present an impartial review of the European and American situation. Within the ranks of the League are ardent supporters of opposite views on the world court situation so that it seems certain there will be spirited discussions during the sessions.

Mrs. George S. Gelhorn, of St. Louis, formerly vice president of the National League of Women Voters, and editor of the Missouri League publication, will be the speaker at the convention banquet Thursday evening. Mrs. William G. Hibbard of Winnetka, Ill., regional director of the national organization, will be an honor guest and speaker also. President of local leagues will make brief speeches at dinner Wednesday night. Activities of the approximately 100 local leagues will receive much attention through out the sessions. Dr. W. W. Black, head of the education department of Indiana University, will speak Wednesday afternoon on the county unit plan for schools.

The outstanding social affair will be a garden party Wednesday afternoon for the convention delegates at the country home of Senator-elect and Mrs. Samuel M. Ralston.

Officers of the League are as follows: Mrs. Walter S. Greenough, Indianapolis, president; Mrs. Harry McCullen, of Aurora, Mrs. Charles A. Carlisle, of South Bend and Mrs. Ella B. Kehler, of Anderson, vice presidents; Mrs. William T. Barnes, Indianapolis, recording secretary; Mrs. Chester A. Evans, Bloomington, treasurer.

POTENTIAL POLICE FORCE

Increasing at Rate of 100 Members a Month in Indiana

Indianapolis, April 28.—Indiana's potential police force, authorized by law, is increasing at the rate of 100 members a month, articles of incorporation in the office of Ed Jackson, secretary of state, indicate.

Pursuant to provisions of the Horse Thief Detective association law, revised in 1907, striking growth of the association has been noted in the first three months of 1923. Thirty-one companies, with a minimum membership of 10, are shown to have been incorporated in various counties of the state since Jan. 1.

Officers of the various companies, taking advantage of the elastic law, reports show, are submitting lists of their members of their respective county commissioners, who in turn are authorized to designate persons endowed with police powers.

Commissioners have the power to authorize them to appoint any or all applicants as police officers.

Attempts to make the police appointments required instead of optional failed at the last session of the legislature. G. F. Lowe, Covington, head organizer for the National Horse Thief Detective association, present when the bill was introduced, said its objects were to "force certain minions of the law to prosecute criminal violations committed by one of their own creed."

Peoples' Restaurant Raided by Mob Friday

At 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, scores of children were seen running across lots, lawns and streets, headed for the same goal. They had read an ad in the Daily Democrat that 500 Peoples' Special Fruit Cakes would be given away free at the Peoples' Restaurant at that hour. Five hundred of the bars, made especially for the Peoples' Restaurant from ice cream and fruits, were given away in fifteen minutes. Five hundred more were given away at 7:30 last night. One little fellow who got there early left the restaurant, quickly stuffed the bar in his mouth and went back for another one. With the ice cream running down from the corners of his mouth, he asked for another one, declaring that he had not had one yet. He received another one.

May Class Bootlegging As Insurrection in U. S.

(United Press Service) Washington, April 28.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Bootlegging and rum running may shortly be declared to constitute insurrection against the United States government and bootleggers and smugglers be classed as rebels against federal authority it was learned here today. Such a step would permit the president to throw into action against violators of the prohibition law the military strength of the government. It would in effect constitute a declaration of martial law against such violators.

HOT LUNCHES FOR RURAL SCHOOL CHILDREN

Many teachers in the small rural schools are serving hot lunches. Those who do it best find that it is well to have the interest and co-operation of both school board and parents before beginning to serve lunches. The equipment needed is inexpensive. A few cooking utensils, a two-burner oil stove and some towels are enough. Children usually furnish their own cups, bowls, and spoons. There are many ways of obtaining the necessary food supplies for the warm noon-day dish. Sometimes the food is bought by the school and the cost pro-rated among the children. It is important if only one hot dish is prepared, that milk be used freely in whatever is served, whether soup or some other food. By means of the hot school lunch, children may be taught the value of foods in the diet, how to prepare them and how to select a properly balanced diet. Children will learn to like milk and vegetables if the foods are well prepared and are popular with other children in the school. The United States Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., has recently published two pamphlets giving suggestions regarding the school lunch. These may be had upon request.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR PURDUE

Everything is in readiness for the fifteenth annual Purdue egg show which will be held at Purdue University, April 30 to May 3, and indications are now for upwards of 1,000 entries, even above the record established last year. Forty cups worth more than $500 and other prizes, which sends the value of all above $1,000, will be offered, a considerable increase over that of last year.

There are a total of 12 classes, including experiment stations and universities; Purdue students; Purdue faculty; members of state poultry association; commercial egg class, open to anyone not a student and especially for farmers, commercial egg producers and packers; fanciers' class especially for poultry fanciers and farmers; miscellaneous class open to anyone not listed; grade school class high school class, and a special class for branch houses of poultry buyers and packers.

Judging will be started Tuesday, May 1, and in order to assure that all eggs be received in time to be laid for the judges it is suggested that they reach Lafayette not later than April 28. The following directions are given for packing eggs for shipping:

The eggs should be packed in regulation shipping box, market basket or bushel basket. Ordinary shipping cartons with bran as filler placed in these baskets carry eggs very nicely. Every egg should be surrounded by excelsior or some other good packing material. Wrapping eggs in newspapers should be avoided as the egg is marked by the print. A cracked egg is a disqualification. Great care, therefore, should be exercised in packing. Eggs packed as recommended will stand shipment by express or mail with small risk of damage. An extra egg or two should be sent with each exhibit to cover any breakage in transit. Exhibitors need send no special trays for displaying eggs as these will be provided for the management.

Spanish Place

All the region acquired by the United States from Mexico, particularly southern California, keeps alive in its place-names the memory of its Spanish explorers and settlers. While there are Indian names on the Pacific coast, it is a curious fact that these are few, relatively speaking, in comparison with the rest of the country. North of the Spanish belt capes and towns often reflect the loyalty of early settlers to the older states of the Union.

Carrulous as Ever.

It may be, as that English writer says, that women don't talk love as much as they used to, but we all know that if he reversed the two words he'd be away off.

BRIGHTEN THE CORNERS

Who wasn't very wise; There was a man in our town, 'Till people did despise He scattered rubbish all around, To see him passing up and down, With laughter in his eyes.

To make the old town bright; But when he saw his neighbors start, He buckled in to do his part And worked from morn 'till night. And now his lawn is like a park And he has started right.

Little Jack Horner sat in a corner Throwing tin cans around. Out came his mother and said "Not another," But help to clean up the town.

Mary had a little lot, For which she had no use; The weeds grew up and then did rot, And the neighbors did abuse.

And now the children scamper there. A playground it is fine; The womans' club has done its share To make the old town shine.

MORAL: Clean up, paint up, brighten up the corner where you are.

GREEN SPROUT LATE POTATOES NOW SPREAD SEED IN WELL-LIGHTED PLACE

Many farmers are finding that their late potato seed is beginning to sprout badly. These long, white tender sprouts sap the vitality and vigor and consequently greatly reduce yields. Many boys are given the task of rubbing off the sprouts, a job which is unpleasant and unprofitable. "Greening" or "green sprouting" will help to remedy this condition. Purdue University horticulturists point out. Potatoes should be kept in a cool, dark place until they show signs of sprouting then bring them out and spread the tubers out not more than two deep in a well-lighted airy place. If they have already sprouted on them these should be rubbed off before spreading them

Notice to Farmers

I, the undersigned, will stand my stallion at my farm the coming season. I have a good, full-blooded, Pedigreed Belgian stallion, "Bob White," No. 12038. He is a sorrel roan, with light mane and tail.

Will be careful to avoid accidents, but will not be responsible should any occur.

Farmers should always call up before bringing their mares to be bred.

out. After they have been exposed for a couple of weeks, tough, short green sprouts will form which will grow about a quarter inch long and then remain dormant until planted. The tubers then retain all their original vigor and give much better yields.

Growers very often use a corn crib, barn floor or potato crates partly filled in which to green sprout the late seed.

NOBLE COUNTY WOMEN FOR NUTRITION PROJECT

One hundred women, representing the Home Division of the Noble County Farm Bureau, held an enthusiastic meeting recently in the interest of the Better Nutrition project of the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department. The meeting was the first of a series of four, and among the important business matters disposed of was the adoption of a program to be carried out during the next three months. A representative of the Albion Roller Mills, attended the meeting and explained in detail the co-operation of the Indiana millers in supporting the Nutrition project movements and their efforts being made to promote the use of flour made from home-grown wheat. He also outlined a bread-baking contest to be fostered by Albion mills. Each township leader will be given a five pound sack of flour, made from Indiana wheat, from which bread will be baked. The bread will be judged at the next meeting to be held June 26. For the best loaf of bread, a 45 pound sack of flour will be given, 24 pound sack for the second best and a 10 pound sack for the third best.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Editor Daily Democrat:—Dear Sir:—In connection with the "Do you remember when" column, I have the following to offer. I can remember when,

Steam was superceeded Gasoline sure in King, And a "Tin Lizzie" motor, Is quite the proper thing. We have wireless telegraphy, Both on land and sea, And we play machine pianos, And never touch a key. Stomach ache we used to have, That's appendicitis now And we are eating creamery butter That never seen a cow.

"Progression" that's our motto New things have come to stay But we can love our neighbors, In that same old fashioned way. "I thank you" L. E. Summers.

OBITUARY

Gertrude (Rugg) Cashen, daughter of Jay and Catherine Rugg, was born in Root township, Adams county, Ind. June 9 1878 and died at Chicago April 12, 1923 from cancer. She was reared to womanhood on a farm north of Decatur, Ind. and received her early education in the schools of Root township. Later she took the high school course in the Decatur schools graduating with the class of 1896. Later in life she took a nurse training in the Baptist hospital at St. Louis and followed her profession for a period of two years. She was married to Mr. Robert M. # WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

The St. Louis Browns scored only two runs off two homers, two triples and three doubles, and the Tigers beat them 5 to 2.

The Boston Braves gave a fine pounding to four Giant pitchers and the world's champions dropped their second game of the season 10 to 3.

Errors behind Fullerton and Quinn, the timely hitting of Witt and Dugan gave the Yanks a 4 to 2 victory over the Red Sox.

Willie Kamm cracked out a single and a double and drove in four runs, but the Cleveland Indians went ahead when Cveengrow weakened and the White Sox lost 8 to 6.

Tom Griffith hit a homer and a triple and cut off a run with a fine catch, the Robins winning from the Phils, 5 to 2.

Galloway's error on Judge and Goslin's single in the twelfth inning gave the Senators one run and a 10-1 tie with the Athletics.

Singles by Maranville, Carey and Bigbee and Russell's double scored two runs in the ninth inning that gave the Pirates a 2 to 1 victory over the Cubs.
