Condition Still Serious

Dr. L. L. Mattax of Geneva, who has been spending practically all of his time in Hartford City the past week at the bedside of his sick daughter, Mrs. Harry Lynch, spent a short time in Geneva Tuesday be hoped for under the circumstances.

He stated, however, that her condition was as serious as could possibly be, and that not a great deal of hope was extended for her recovery.

lone, formerly of this city. Miss

Friends in this city have received announcements of the marriage of Miss Helen W. Cotton, of Shelbyville, Ind., to Mr. George Newton, of this city. The bride is well known here having visited several times at the J. H. Heller home. The Indianapolis Star gives the following account of the wedding.
The marriage of Miss Helen W.
Cotton, daughter of Mr. and Edgar B. Cotton, and George Dallas Newton which took place at the home of the brides' parents was one of the notable wedding events of the month.
The bride was attired in the wedding gown worn by her mother, the gown being of ivory satin with an overlace effect. Her veil was in coronet effect fashioned with lace. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses with a center of pink and lavender sweet peas, carrying on the bridal colors.

Miss Helen Steel of Anderson, Ind., was maid of honor and wore a dress of orchid-colored organdie, with a shower bouquet of pink and lavender sweet peas. Harold Varling of this city was best man. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Lucile Cage, pianist, and W. Eden Thurston, violinist, gave a concert of "Berceuse" from "Jocelyn" and "Souvenir" and Miss Carol Meiks sang "At Dawning," "I Love You Truly," and "Until." The Lohengrin Wedding March was played for the entrance of the bridal party. A two course luncheon was served for the bridal party and guests following the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Newton departed for their home at 3607 Balsam avenue, the Marathon apartments, Indianapolis. Mrs. Newton is a graduate of Shelbyville high school, '18, and attended Illinois woman's college and Mrs. Blakers' Teachers college at Indianapolis. She for several years and is a prominent young woman in local society, and a member of the Tri Kappa Sorority here. Mr. Newton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Newton of this city, and also graduated from the Shelbyville high school, '17. He was graduated in journalism from Indiana university in 1921, and is engaged in newspaper work in Indianapolis. He is a Phi Gamma Delta.

The Delightful Daughters class of the Evangelical church gave a shower last evening at the home of Mrs.
Harry Staley, honoring Miss Mel-vena Butler, bride-elect, whose marriage to Mr. Francis Eady will take place Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.
The Staley home was beautifully decorated in pink and blue cut flowers.
Little Miss Ellen Uhrick, sister of the hostess, ascended the stairs dressed in white with bridal veil and corsage of pink roses and led Miss Butler to the dining room where she was given a chair. The little bride then gave her a large her the beautiful gifts which were in a large pink and blue basket. In a contest Miss Bea-
