

Why You Should Use Burdsal's Paint

BURDSAL'S Homestead Paint may cost you a little more per gallon than some other paint—because it costs more to make—because it is better paint. But the actual cost of Burdsal's Homestead Paint cannot be measured by the price per gallon alone. Less of it is required to cover a given surface. It flows more evenly—cutting down the time required to apply it. And it outlasts two or three paintings with cheaply made paint—saving both on materials and labor for repainting. That is why Burdsal's Homestead Paint actually costs you less than paint that sells at a lower price per gallon.

Visiting In Willshire

John Straubinger and family of Eldorado, Kansas, arrived in Willshire Friday evening and are guests at the Willshire Hotel of Mrs. A. Straubinger and family. It has been several years since John has visited the old home town. They came east by auto, but before they got a good start they were marooned by the high water in their section of Kansas. John is now operating a meat market in Eldorado, one of the best county towns in the Sunflower state, and is meeting with success. George Straubinger and family, of Toledo, were also guests of the Willshire Straubinger family over Sunday, as were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Straubinger, of Rockford.—Willshire Herald.

According to word which has been received by attorneys in Decatur, the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Indiana State Bar Association will be held at West Baden Springs Hotel on Thursday and Friday, July 5 and 6, 1923.
