Yanks Have A. L. Pennant Practically Cinched Now

(United Press Service)
New York, July 28.—(Special to the Daily Democrat)—After their second trip of the season, a rampage through enemy territory that swept everything before them, the New York Yankees are back home with the American league pennant virtually and practically cinched.

There are chances, of course, that the 14-game lead now held by the Yankees might be swept away, but the chances are very remote. The opposition is none too formidable and the Yankees are so strong that they have been sweeping everything away in front of them without their full strength.

Getting back more on their strike, the Giants are holding their own in the National League and are maintaining a slight advantage over the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The chances of the Reds depend entirely on Luque, Donhue and Rixey, and Moran admits if anything happens to his trio of star pitchers, the chances will be blown.

The Pirates are back on their feet and if the Reds falter or fail, McKeechie's team may take up the fight against the Giants.

BOY DOUBLES CORN PRODUCTION

A negro tenant boy on a large plantation in Faulkner County, Ark., has given the tenants on that plantation and other neighbors a new idea of corn yield from the soil of that community, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. The soil is naturally fertile, but under prevailing methods of cultivation only produces an average of about 45 bushels of corn per acre. With the consent of the landlord, this 15-year-old boy, Walter Flower, last year planted and cultivated under the supervision of the agricultural extension agent, paying all of his own expenses. He harvested 91 bushels, making a net profit of $53. Twelve tenants on this plantation, as well as a number of others in the community, are following the extension agent's instructions this year in growing corn as a result of the demonstration.

Prisoners At Penal Farm Are Poisoned

(United Press Service)
Greencastle, Ind., July 28.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—The 188 prisoners at the state penal farm at Putnamville, who were taken ill with ptomaine poisoning yesterday, are out of danger, Dr. A. A. Horn, penal farm physician, stated today.

Soon after breakfast, nearly one-third of the six hundred inmates of the institution became violently ill.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 28.—The illness of the Indiana state farm at Putnamville, yesterday, has been traced "unquestionably to skimmed milk from a separator which was 'deplorably dirty' and covered with swarming flies," a report of Dr. A. L. Oiler, field examiner for the state food and drug department, declared today.

Oiler brought samples of all food on the menu at the state farm at breakfast yesterday, to Indianapolis for examination.

Style Show At Fair Was Highly Successful

The style show given at the Northern Indiana Fair this week by the E. F. Gass & Son and the Vance & Linn stores, closed yesterday, and the models have departed for their homes. The proprietors of the two local stores are highly elated over the success of the style show, which was given each afternoon and evening of the fair. Large crowds attended the show. Beautiful garments which will be worn during the fall and winter were displayed by the living models on the large stage. All of the garments displayed in the style show were taken from the stock of the local stores, and they, together with many more, will be found in the stores for sale.

BOOSTERS HAVE TWO HARD GAMES AHEAD OF THEM

The Geneva Boosters have two real battles before them on their schedule the first one coming tomorrow afternoon when they cross bats with the fast traveling Dunkirk club on the Booster diamond, the game being called at 2:45. This team is headed by the famous VanSoyck who does their hurling and they have made an enviable record this season.

On the following Sunday the Boosters will be put to the acid test when they journey to Celina to meet the fast semi-pro team from that city. Both these games should be thrillers, since the Boosters themselves have been playing a fast game since they organized the first of the season. A large crowd is expected to attend the game tomorrow afternoon.

The Decatur West Ends will meet the Geneva Sluggers in the first game of the afternoon tomorrow, the game being called at 12 o'clock.
