While plans for building a hundred houses are in the making you can help by building one yourself. It's a good time and there is no excuse not to do it if you can. Better have your money in property than in many other investments, in fact it's about the safest and best place you can have your savings.

There is a wet spot in or near Berne that needs mopping out. For all that, there are undoubtedly more than one such spots. When a fifteen-year-old boy is found "dead drunk" on the streets in broad daylight, it is sure that someone has violated the law in dispensing liquor. And that is what happened in Berne this week.—Berne Witness.

Too much law—too little respect for it. That seems to be one of the greatest problems with which officials are confronted today. Congress, state legislatures, city councils, village boards, all seem obsessed with a mania for passing laws—more laws—and still more laws.

The result is, there are so many laws in this country, of one kind or another, the people haven't even been absorbed by the colored folks of the conception of what the majority of them are.—Rushville Republican.

If Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, puts it over and settles the coal strike he will get a lot of credit and it may be a big boost towards his nomination for the presidency. The wise ones figure that President Coolidge passed the buck to him but if he wins, he may be the big figure in the country. He has a real opportunity to prove his worth and if he does, look out. The American people are hero worshippers and seldom lose an opportunity to boost a fellow who does things.

One man killed, one fatally hurt, several dozen injured is the toll of a klan fight at Pittsburgh Saturday night. We may be old-fashioned and behind the times, but we can't figure out the good of it or just what they are trying to establish. Many of those who participated on each side were armed, the others used bricks or clubs. It's a step towards revolution and unless these affairs are checked in some way or another, serious feuds will result which may continue several decades.

Of course if every one shakes his head and says it can't be done, we won't get any houses built. On the other hand if we say it can be done and is being done by other towns not as good as this, it can be. Do you know that big corporations, insurance companies and banks are backing those communities which show a little enterprise of their own. They are and we are not convinced that we could not get all the outside financial assistance we need if we would all pull for it and had a plan worked out that had some semblance of being definite.

A million or two negroes have come north this summer and the rest are planning to follow them. The news that common labor is bringing high wages in the north has finally been absorbed by the colored folks of the south and a grand rush is on. That means another big problem for the south and likewise some complications for the north. Most of them will not be as happy in the north as they were in the south but that doesn't make any difference. They like the bright lights and once here they remain and thus cause trouble for both the north and the south.

American school men who visited in Europe the past year and made an exhaustive study of systems in use in various parts of that continent, report that the schools of the United States are far ahead of those over there. Our schools are by no means perfect but you have only to compare them with those you attended twenty years ago to find many improvements. Some of them have too many frills, some are too far from the old style of three, some give too much attention to sports and some are not managed as economically as possible but on the whole they show advancements and we have not reached the end. The schools in another generation will be better and every child has now and will have then, a chance to educate himself.

Ever drive into a town or city and find they had no public rest room? What did you say? Just where would you direct any person inquiring of you on Sundays or in the evenings? we maintain that a city which doesn't provide that much hospitality for those people who visit it are not very progressive and that something should be done here and at once. The county could do it at a very slight expense and perhaps the authorities would if they were properly invited or urged and perhaps an arrangement could be made whereby the expense, which is slight, would be divided between the city and county. It's a good work for the business organization or the women's clubs or some one to take up.

Teachers from over the county are here this week for the annual institute.

She is an accomplished young lady of high qualities and she has a host of friends who showed their appreciation by their presence and mementoes, that they added to the already large number of presents of the happy couple. Power to Stop!
Buick Four-wheel Brakes

BUICK four-wheel brakes provide a factor of safety welcomed by every driver. No matter how careful he may be there are moments when the power to stop his car quickly and surely averts a serious accident.

Buick four-wheel brakes operate simply by light pressure on the foot pedal. There is no change in the method of operation over former Buick rear wheel brakes.

Buick rear brake construction has proved its dependability for many years. Identically the same principle, simple in its mechanism and effective in its braking control, now has been employed on the front wheels.

The adoption of four-wheel brakes by Buick on its 1924 cars is wholly in keeping with its policy of giving the owner everything that will increase his safety, comfort and satisfaction.

The 1924 Buick cars likewise are distinctive for their beauty, their increased power, ease of operation and comfort—giving features never before found on motor cars.
