a new and fresh joy.

Dance An Important Factor.

"The dance has played an important part in the history of the world as the school or church. In former years people expressed their love for nature and adoration to God in dances and danced with dramatic force all emotions of life. The dance has slowly degenerated during the years. The two-step and waltz came and now we have tango. Our young are taught the modern dances and nature never intended that boys and girls should begin at the last stage, but that they should follow down the path of evolution.

"The chivalric dances of colonial days would be far more in keeping for high school children than the dances that are now danced. Modern dances do not teach grace, do not cause boys to hold girls in reverence as they should, but excite emotions which cause them to become blasé and ripened at a too early age.

"All these things that are causing our boys and girls to become mentally adult long before their time.

Ramsey Gives Talk.

E. E. Ramsey, state school inspector spoke concerning the new curriculum. Music was given at the meeting by the Central high school orchestra. Miss Eloise Harris, of the Auburn high school gave a delightful rendition of the deadening, "How Billy O'gde Did His Duty."

Scores One Room Schools.

"As long as Indiana hangs onto the ancient, obsolete, dead and ought-to-be-buried one-teacher school," in rural districts, she can never hope to improve in the least bit the present deplorable conditions which still exist, in spite of the excellent work which has been done in the near past." Ernest Long, president of Tri-State college, Angola, Ind., declared before the meeting in the First Presbyterian church of those teachers interested in rural school problems.

G. R. Hall, of Albion, presided at the meeting which was held in the First Presbyterian church as part of the program of the teachers' convention now going on in the city. C. O. Lehman, Berne, Ind., gave two vocal selections at the opening of the meeting which were well received.

Dr. Winger Speaks.

"Teaching is the noblest profession in the world. It is a fine art, but it is such only when it is followed as an art with the development of the human soul as its end and not when it is pursued as a trade or a mere science," declared Dr. Otto Winger, president of North Manchester college, addressing an intermediate meeting of the Northern Indiana Teachers' association yesterday morning at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, on the subject, "Teaching as an Art."

"Teachers should bear in mind that they are not merely teaching facts but that they are making the souls of boys and girls; that their purpose is to make men and women who can go out in the world to meet their fellow man and to live in a relation of harmony with him," Dr. Winger said.

Mrs. U. S. A. Bridge entertained the Mary and Martha Class of the Methodist Sunday school last evening, at her home on Monroe street. The affair was called a "bridge party" because of the fact that the Bridges gave the program, which consisted of talks and music. Mrs. Maggie Teeple gave a vocal selection. The teacher of the class, Mrs. Frank Downs, was presented with a beautiful cameo ring, as a birthday gift from the class. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, Mesdames Lulu Swearing, McIntosh, Dan Beery, Frank Smith, Grimm and Jack Meibers. Besides the fifty members present were, Mrs. DeVilbiss, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Frank Downs.

Energy set free by the transmutation of the hydrogen atoms contained in a tumblerful of water would be sufficient to drive the most powerful steamship afloat from America to Europe and back.

Col. Johnson Returns From Circuit of Cattle Sales

Roy Johnson returned today from a circuit of cattle sales. He assisted Col. Fred Reppert at Versailles, Ky., where they sold 250 head with a top price of $1,750 for a bull, and top of $750 for females. They sold 27 bulls with an average of $500 per head. At Chicago Union Stock Yards they sold 160 head of calves in two hours and ten minutes. Yesterday they sold two thousand head of feeder calves for the Highland Hereford breeders' association with an average of $35 per head. Roy says that Fred sure popped them through the ring and kept him pawing the straw at a rapid pace.

This Boy Was a Girl

Greencastle, Oct. 12.—After all there is nothing in a name, as the rather disconcerted "rushing committee" of a DePauw fraternity is willing to admit after having its initiation to a girl to join the frat turned down with a polar attitude.

Looking over a prospective list of freshmen the committee sent an invitation to Nesbit Manson, Indianapolis, to "come early and meet the boys."

The invitation was refused with thanks. The name of Miss Nesbit Manson, in the authority pledge list a week later, explained the chilly reply the boys received.

Lloyd George In U. S. To Learn, Not to Teach

By Lawrence Martin
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Aboard Lloyd George's special, en route to Winnipeg, Oct. 13.—Lloyd George hopes he will not be regarded in the United States either as a propagandist or a politician seeking to serve his own ambitions.
As the former prime minister's train approached Winnipeg, the farthest point west in his present journey and the end of his Canadian visit, he was awaiting with keen interest receipt of the American newspaper reaction to his ideas on world peace through a working union of the American and British democracies.
"I am here to learn, not to teach," said Lloyd George.

If it appears that what he has already said has been received as British propaganda or is regarded as an impertinence on the part of a visitor, the Welsh statesman undoubtedly will modify his projected American speeches.

Lloyd George is an old politician and particularly by reason of, the American rejection of the treaty of Versailles is thoroughly aware he might injure seriously or delay greatly any cause he advocated in America if the nation got the idea he was propagandizing.

Were he to speak his mind, openly to American audiences Lloyd George would tell them that two influences today unite to prevent a world settlement—French obstinacy and American aloofness. If the American point of view is little understood or appreciated in Europe there is, on this side of the Atlantic, similar ignorance regarding some phases of European intention.

Bluffton Boys' Band Gives Concert Up Town

The Bluffton Boys Band, which furnished the music for the races this afternoon, gave a concert up town before going to Belmont Park. The band has forty-five members and is in charge of Prof. Bailey who is proud of his youngsters. He had thirty-five here today. They play well and are a lot of fine looking boys. They wear sailor suits and their services are in great demand. They sernaded this office just before going to the grounds and we acknowledge our appreciation.
