This Furnace Radiates All The Heat

The Majestic Down-Draft furnace is especially designed to utilize all the heat of the smoke and gases. Thus the heating capacity of the furnace is increased without burning more coal.

The extra long distance the smoke travels—22 feet instead of 8 or 10 in the ordinary furnace—allows the furnace to radiate all the heat. The radiator, through which the smoke passes, has proved itself one of the most economical features in furnace construction.

Majestic Down-Draft Furnace

A light weight furnace is short lived. The Majestic Down Draft Furnace will give many years of service beyond the limit of the ordinary cast or steel furnace. Only the highest grade iron mixture is used. Each casting is proportioned for the service at that point. Weight is put where it is needed to give durability to the furnace as a whole.

The Majestic Down-Draft Furnace is made particularly for the discriminating buyer, who wants the highest and most efficient type of furnace construction.

Economical, Cleanly, Durable

The Majestic Down-Draft furnace embodies such features as economy, cleanliness, increased heating capacity and durability.

It has an unusually high and deep ash pit; grates which can be readily dropped and cleaned; heavily constructed fire bowl in two sections; large and roomy combustion chamber; gas and dust-proof joints.

The square casing is large. An inner lining prevents loss of heat by radiation.

Examine this super-furnace. You will save money if it is installed in your home.
