RIVALS UNABLE TO REACH AGREEMENT

pend the rules for introduction of a resolution calling on both leading candidates to withdraw was howled down on a viva voce vote. There may be others. The delegates, however, had the point that they want the deadlock broken somehow and they don't care much how.

Desperate attempts to bring the leaders of the opposing factions in the democratic convention into some kind of a conference were being made this afternoon in the breaking of the deadlock.

Some peacemaker who can bring the warring factions together for a conference will be able to bring the convention to the nomination of a presidential candidate and ultimate adjournment.

Two attempts to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution which would provide for the elimination of the candidate getting the lowest vote on each ballot failed during the early session today.

The second attempt of the day was embodied in a resolution presented by Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska and provided that the rule of elimination of the low candidate should apply for today only.

But it failed as other similar motions have failed.

Alabama, with Underwood, and Virginia with Glass, voted solidly against it. The resolution would have permitted five to remain in the race, but the lines of the opposing factions are drawn so tight and the determination to fight the thing out along present lines has apparently taken such hold that there appears to be slight hope of any break on the floor.

William Jennings Bryan was asked when he thought the convention would adjourn and replied that it would remain in session "until the cows come home" if necessary to nominate McAdoo.

The religious bitterness that was stirred up in the Klan fight of last Saturday night is very much in evidence in the balloting both on candidates and on motions to suspend the rules that are presented. It is a deadlock such as might be reached in any community when neighbors start an argument between the Catholics and Protestants.

The vote on the Hitchcock resolution was: yes, 496; no, 589 1-2.

A. H. Ferguson, a delegate from Durant, Okla., introduced a resolution providing that if no nominations were made by the 75th ballot, the convention would adjourn to reconvene July 21 at Kansas City, Mo.

Feeling over the move to adjourn the convention ran very high among the delegates. Senator King of Utah, who has been keeping his delegation constantly in the McAdoo column, said: "I have been for McAdoo throughout, but if he favors this move I am against him from now on."

However, beginning with California, where 19 votes were cast against the motion, the McAdoo states were consistently voting "no."

It is generally understood that the McAdoo leaders passed out the word to pass the resolution would result unfavorably to Mr. McAdoo's interests.

When New York was reached, F. D. Roosevelt asked that the New York delegation be excused from voting. When objection was made by Chairman Dockweller of the California delegation to releasing New York from a vote, Roosevelt east New York's 90 votes no.

At 2 o'clock Tom Taggart appeared on the platform waving a bit of paper. National Chairman Cordell Hull, Taggart, Chairman Walsh, Homer Cummings and Ed Moore of Ohio, immediately left the hall and went into conference in a room just off the floor. Guards were posted outside the door.

Governor Smith left the Manhattan club hurriedly around 1 o'clock. Then Chairman Walsh, Cordell Hull, chairman of the national committee; Homer S. Cummings and others met in conference in the garden. Later they were joined by Judge Rockwell, McAdoo's manager, and Bruce Kramer, one of his lieutenants.

Tom Taggart of Indiana appeared to have brought the session in the summer and fall and it is hoped that the

Program Held At Three O'clock

Paid for by Congregation

It is estimated that the new and beautiful school, modern in every respect and fireproof throughout, will cost approximately $300,000 fully equipped. More than half of this amount, it is said, has been raised by subscriptions and funds donated to the building fund. Last February a campaign was launched to secure funds and pledges and approximately $80,000 was pledged by members of the congregation towards the building of the school. Work on the building will continue throughout the summer and fall and it is hoped that the construction of the building will be far enough along by winter to put on the roof and then finish the interior work.

The building will contain rooms for all the grades, the commercial department, domestic science, vocational and high school departments of the school. The building has a frontage of 175.4 feet on Fourth street and extends west 128 feet on Monroe street. It is a two story, ground floor basement design, giving the appearance of a three story building. The gymnasium will be located in the basement and the large auditorium, having a seating capacity of nearly 1,500 people will be directly above the gymnasium.

Society

Miss Cecile Miller delightfully entertained Thursday evening at her home on Marshall street, in honor of Mrs. Aloysius Schmitt, of Los Angeles, California, who is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kuebler. The home was decorated with a profusion of red roses and hydrangas. At six thirty o'clock a delectable two-course dinner was served at small tables. Small bud vases holding red roses were used as centerpieces and clever place cards and nut cups added to the attractiveness of the tables. The Misses Anna Murtaugh, Esther Biggs, and Dorothy Miller, dressed in clever crepe paper frocks of red and white, assisted the hostess in serving. A bride prize was won by Miss Anna Murtaugh, Mrs. Paul Briege, of Portland, and Mrs. Schmitt, of Los Angeles.

An important meeting of the Dramatic Section of the Woman's Club will be held in the Assembly room of the Old Adams County Bank at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Every member is urged to be present.

The Delta Theta Tau Sorority will meet Monday evening at the home of Miss Mildred Keller on Fourth street at eight o'clock.

The Misses Sue and Ruth Mayer and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Noble motored to Winona Lake yesterday.
