SHENANDOAH STARTS TRIP ACROSS U. S.

U. S. N. Dirigible Leaves Lakehurst, N. J. At 10 A. M. Today

TAXAS FIRST STOP

Eleven Officers, 24 Enlisted Men And Two Passengers Aboard

(United Press Service)
Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 7.—The giant naval dirigible Shenandoah took off on her long flight to the Pacific coast at 10 a. m. today.

Discovery of a twenty mile north-east wind at the 1,000 foot level shortly before the take-off to a change in route, the southern alternative first leg route being chosen. This will bring the airship over Wilmington, Baltimore, Washington, Fredericksburg, Va., Atlanta, Birmingham and across Louisiana to Fort Worth. The first stop will be at Fort Worth, Texas, where it is due Thursday morning.

The big silver air vessel headed northward and circled the naval air station field before pointing its nose toward the south.

Aboard U. S. N. Dirigible Shenandoah, Enroute to Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 7.—(By Wireless to United Press)—"On your way."

With this cheer ringing in our ears, above the roar of motors and noise of getting away from the landing mast, the Shenandoah cast off and headed for Fort Worth, Texas, on the first leg of her long journey to the Pacific coast today.

It was just 10 a. m. when Commander Zachary Lansdowne signalled and we were turned loose from the mooring past at the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., where we had been floating since shortly after daybreak.

The big dirigible seemed to shake her hand with joy at being free in her native element the air.

Commander Lansdowne had decided to take the southern route, after getting his weather reports so we headed south towards Baltimore and Washington.

The weather was ideal, officers said but there was a slight haze along the New Jersey coast.

There are 11 officers, 27 enlisted men and two passengers on the airship, including Rear Admiral W. A. Moffatt, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics, and known to thousands of "gobs" who served under him while he was commander of the Great Lakes naval training station during the world war.

Alexandria—Mrs. George Beatson, here, has a snowbush blooming for the second time this year.

SEARCH FOR BANK BANDITS

M'DONALD TALKS TO LABOR MEET

Probably Makes General Election Certain; Labor Promises Support

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, Oct. 7.—(Special to Daily Democrat)—Defying the opposition and exhorting liberal tactics Premier MacDonald probably made certain a general election by his speech to day before the first labor party conference since labor came into power. "I should not complain if a challenge came on vital issues," MacDonald said, "but the Liberal proposal to investigate Editor Campbell (a communist charged with sedition proceedings against whom were dropped by the government) is in the spirit of medieval crookedness and torture."

"The government is not to be censured," the premier continued. "It is only to be insulted. It is not to be executed. It is merely to put upon the rack."

"The opposition mistakes their men. We shall surrender nothing. If there is an election, the responsibility for it is not ours."

When MacDonald predicted a victory at the polls he was wildly cheered. The convention passed a resolution congratulating the premier on his achievement and promising utmost support in event of an election. Convention officials intimated that resolutions proposing affiliations between the laborites and communists would be ruled out of order.

This was made even more plain when MacDonald defended the Anglo-Russian treaty, but repudiated communism, denouncing it as "detestable."

"Communism is a mischievous stirring-up of strife," he said "whereas the laborites propose a democracy of freedom and progress. Communism is a product of czarism and war and we shall have nothing to do with it. Unless we are prepared to engage in a crusade against communism, we might as well put up our shutters."

LARGE NUMBER ARE ELIGIBLE TO CAST VOTE

Estimated That 10,000 Voters Are Registered In County

PRECINCTS REPORTING

Exact Number Of Registered Voters Not Available Yet Today

Although figures as to the number of registered voters in the different precincts were not available at press time today, County Auditor Martin Jabeag stated that he believed the total registered vote was the largest ever recorded in the county and estimated that between 9,500 and 10,000 voters had qualified to vote in November by registering up to last evening.

In some of the precincts the clerks stated that they believed every eligible voter had registered. A careful check was made by both parties of the voters previous to the registration. A poll of all voters was taken and from this "counting of noses," political workers checked the registration books and made an effort to get every eligible voter registered by Monday evening at nine o'clock, the final hour for registering.

All the voters in Berne had to register again for the reason that the boundary lines of the precincts were changed when a new precinct was established there last spring. It was stated that the registration there was excellent, several of the clerks reporting a complete registration of the voters in their precincts.

There will be some duplications in the registration this year for the reason that many voters, although registered two years ago, took no chances on having their blank lost and registered again yesterday. Mr. Jabeag will compile the list as soon as all the precinct clerks report to him and it was thought that complete figures would be available Wednesday or Thursday.
